Seismologist Contradicts Fault Worry

Few Temblors Recorded; No Tidal Wave In 1906

By ROBERT STREBEIGH

A portion of the San Andreas fault traversing Marin County is its least active section and the fault itself is far from being the world's most active earthquake zone, a University of California seismologist said yesterday.

That opinion of Dr. Cinna Lomnitz of the U.C. seismographic station at Berkeley was given shortly after the Marin County Planning Department issued a 34-page report condemning the Bolinas Harbor District's plan for the Bolinas Lagoon.

BUSY FAULT?

In opposing the plan, prepared by Mill Valley architect Norman T. Gilroy, Planning Director Paul Zucker's department described the San Andreas fault as "the most conspiciously active earthquake zone in the world."

Not so, said Dr. Lomnitz. "There is more earthquake activity on the California-Nevada border and along the Hayward fault," he said—as well as in many other places.

He expressed surprise at concern about building in the Bolinas area on account of the San Andreas fault and said, "The Hayward fault runs through the (U.C.) campus, but the university goes on building here. It doesn't seem concerned."

MARIN QUIET

As a matter of fact, Dr. Lomnitz said, "We record very few earthquakes in Marin. Most of the activity along the San Andreas fault is south of San Francisco. It drops off in Marin and only picks up again farther to the north, off the Mendocino coast."

Even if Marin were to have another earthquake like the huge one in 1906 whose epicenter was at Olema, proximity to the fault is not a hazard in itself, Dr. Lomnitz said.

"If there is another big earthquake, it really doesn't matter if you are 50 feet, 500 feet, or 50 miles from the fault. What matters is to have a good sound structure," said the seismologist. He noted that there are buildings still standing in the Bolinas - Stinson Beach area which survived the 1906 temblor. And at 8.3 on the Richter scale, he said, "that is about as big an earthquake as they come."

BUILDING PROBLEM

He cited two recent earthquakes where building practices, rather than magnitude of the earth or proximity to faults, were the prime cause of huge death tolls: The 1963 temblor in Skopje, Yugoslavia, in which hundreds died, and the 1960 earthquake in Agadir, Morrocco, which killed a third of the population, more than 12,000 persons.

More active faults than the San Andreas mentioned by Dr. Lomnitz included the Mino-

Harbor Plan Creator Says He'll Reply

A county planning staff report on development proposed for Bolinas Lagoon came under immediate attack today by the author of the Bolinas Harbor plan.

Norman T. Gilroy, who prepared the plan for marina and recreation development for the Bolinas Harbor District, declared that the county staff's 34-page analysis was limited and biased.

"I believe it is the county staff's function to present an unbiased analysis of the facts to the commission," Gilroy said. "I don't believe that the staff report objectively covers the entire spectrum of salient points to be considered on the lagoon and its future."

Gilroy said he would put his observations in writing before the day was over.

The planning department's report, citing the threat of earthquake and questioning siltation as a problem, recommended that a marina island not be developed in the lagoon and that extensive studies be made before any action is taken.

Coast Guard Continues Its Body Search

HARBOR BEACH, Mich. (AP) — With 20 bodies found, the Coast Guard today pressed its search for eight missing but almost certainly dead crewmen of the Daniel J. Morrell as a board of inquiry planned an investigation of some puzzling aspects of the tragedy.

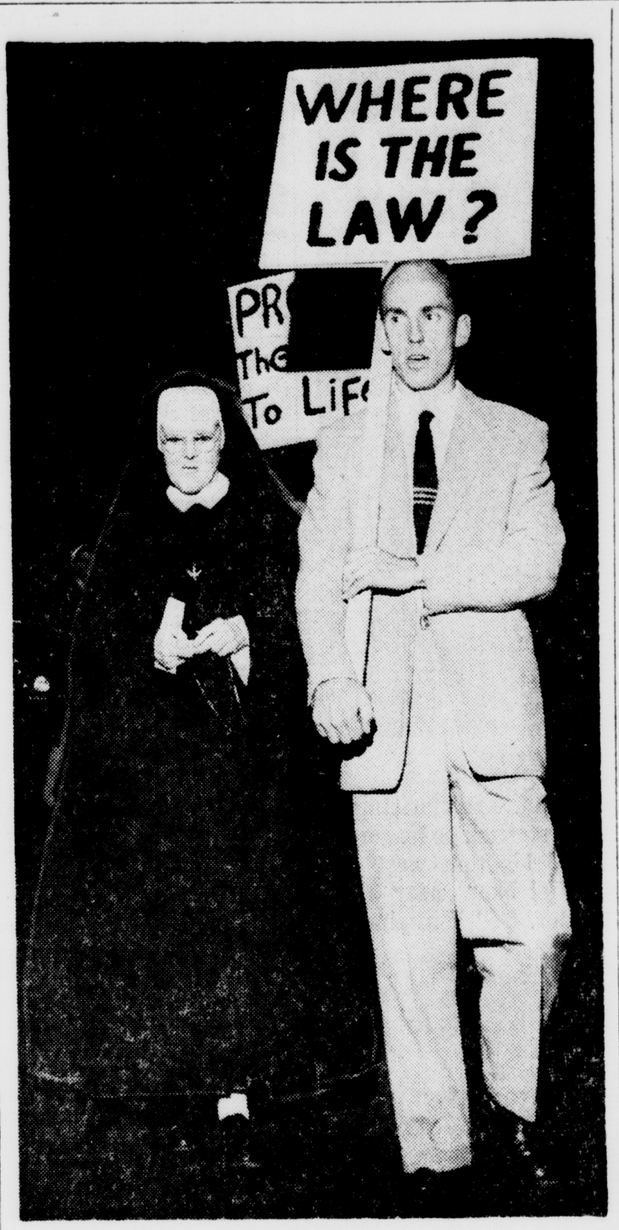

In the worst Great Lakes disaster in eight years, the 603-foot ore carrier split apart and went to the bottom of Lake Huron early Tuesday during a gale that concealed her fate for 34 hours.

There was one survivor, Dennis Hale, 26, a deck watchman from Ashtabula, Ohio.

Rear Adm. Charles Tighe, commander of the Coast Guard 9th District with headquarters in Cleveland, Ohio, recommended the inquiry and was appointed to head the five-man board.

Pickets, Prayers And How To Abort

By PAT PERRY

Led by a praying nun, nine protesting pickets paraded in front of Star Hall in San Anselmo last night as 125 men and women walked in, undeterred, to Marin's first public abortion lecture.

Organizer Patricia Maginnis of San Francisco rated the class "tremendously successful" and predicted two more in Marin, scheduled for next Thursday and Dec. 15, will go as well.

Sister Claire, a teacher at Marin Catholic High School, led the pickets, a group called MOMI (Mothers Outraged at the Murder of Innocents) headed by Mrs. Fred Baumsteiger of San Anselmo. Carrying signs, the pickets recited Hail Marys and prayed while people arrived.

Tempers flew briefly when a tall man got into a shouting match with the angry little nun, accusing her of "enforcing archaic laws on the community" while she condemned "advocating murder."

Undersheriff Sidney Stinson and Sheriff's Inspector Harold Sleezer stood outside for more than three hours in the cold, damp night, but said they were there as observers only, and no arrest was contemplated.

Miss Maginnis, a medical laboratory technologist and longtime opponent of existing abortion laws, gave the attentive audience a comprehensive lecture—nearly three hours long.

It was an extremely frank lecture. She detailed her own attempts at aborting herself, gave

Grand Jurors Ask Easier Abortion Law

The Marin County Grand Jury today called for liberalized abortion laws.

The grand jury, in a resolution adopted Wednesday and filed today with County Clerk George H. Gnoss, declared "existing laws pertaining to abortions are anachronistic and contrary to well-established modern medical, psychological and sociological concepts."

Its resolution urged that the California Legislature "adopt modern and progressive legislation which will:

"1. Provide a sensible and reasonable basis upon which the need for abortions may be determined.

"2. Modify the law to reflect the enormous advances which have been made in the fields of medicine and psychiatry since 1879.

"3. Provide recognition of the needs of women who, after appropriate evaluation, are determined to require this medical procedure."

Copies of the resolution are to be sent to Marin's two legislators, State Sen. John F. McCarthy and Assemblyman William T. Bagley.

Vote for adoption of the resolution was unanimous, with four jurors absent, reported foreman James S. Goodale.

Union Murder Case Due Jury

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The case of Max Ward, accused slayer of Painters Union official Dow Wilson, goes to a Superior Court jury of seven men and five women today.

Ward, Sacramento area painting contractor, is accused of being the trigger man in the April 5 slaying of Wilson near the San Francisco Labor Temple. Ward says he was at his home in Carmichael with his 11-year-old daughter at the time of the shooting.

Norman Call, another Sacramento painting contractor, was convicted in September of taking part in the murder and appeared for the prosecution against Ward.

Rebel Students Parade At Cal In Rainstorm

Pickets At Gates; 9,000 Join Strike

BERKELEY (UPI) — Rebellious University of California students today paraded before campus gates during a rainstorm in a classroom strike on the second anniversary of the turbulent Free Speech Movement.

It was exactly two years to the day that the sprawling campus burst into an uproar with nearly 800 students arrested for sit-in demonstrations at Sproul Hall, one of the main administration buildings.

As leaden skies drenched the area, pickets clad in raingear and protected by umbrellas formed at the campus gates to exhort the university's 27,500 students to remain away from classes. They passed out leaflets for a noon rally billed "as commemoration in song and story of the Great Sproul Sit-in of 1964."

University officials, who held conferences to seek a solution to the strike, described the initial classroom boycott as "minimal." Rebel leaders said nearly 9,000 students were participating in the strike.

The number of students boycotting classes was not available today. The university does not keep attendance records.

The leaflets also announced support from the university's eight other campuses. Student spokesmen at Stanford University and several state colleges also reported endorsement of the strike.

Thousands of students boycotted classes yesterday following the arrest of nine sit-in demonstrators protesting the presence of Navy recruiters on campus. An estimated 6,000 showed up in the rain for a noon rally on the steps of Sproul Hall, the university's administration building.

The campus newspaper, The Daily Californian, issued an editorial supporting the strike while a union representing teaching assistants had members join the picket lines.

Previously, the newspaper had described Wednesday's clash between sit-in demonstrators and police in the student union building as "stupid."

The Associated Students of University of California's Senate, governing body for the students, voted 13 to 7 to continue the strike. Members called for establishment of a committee to work with university officials on judicial review of student disciplinary hearings.

The Daily Californian reported an ad hoc meeting of 400 faculty members was held during the night. The newspaper said no formal action was taken but "their sentiment was for the students."

Re-Election Guaranteed For Thant

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., (AP) — The re-election of U.N. Secretary-General U Thant for a new five-year term was assured today when the Security Council gave its unanimous approval and sent its recommendation to the General Assembly for ratification later in the day.

The 15-nation council acted in a closed meeting after the 57-year-old Burmese diplomat had bowed to continued pressure and reversed his announced intention to retire.

One factor which influenced Thant's decision to take another term, diplomats said, was the assurances given by the big powers that he would have full authority to use his initiative in peace making. The council adopted a declaration reaffirming a charter provision stating that the secretary-general may call the council into session whenever he believes peace is threatened.

A meeting of the 121-nation assembly was to be held at 2 p.m. PST to formalize Thant's election and to fix the date for the expiration of his new term as Dec. 31, 1971. Approval was expected to be unanimous.

Young Stanford Leader Backs Strike At Cal

BERKELEY (UPI) —The student body president of Stanford has called the student strike at the University of California "a courageous defense of the rights of free speech and equality under the law."

David Harris arrived on the troubled UC campus late Wednesday and remained there until after midnight.

Of the dissident students, Harris said he supported them "as wholeheartedly as an individual 50 miles away can."

"If the officers of the University of California and the state cared as much for freedom and education as those students sitting-in, none of this would have happened," he said.

February Draft Call Seeks Only 10,900

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Defense Department today ordered a February draft of 10,900 men, the lowest monthly total in nearly two years.

The February quota compared with drafts of 15,600 scheduled for January, and 12,100 in progress for December. The draft rose to a high of 49,200 in October, and was 37,600 in November.

Americans Plead Guilty To Russian Currency Violations

MOSCOW (AP) —Two young Americans have pleaded guilty to charges lodged against them in Leningrad, the official Soviet news agency Tass said today.

One of the two, Craddock M. Gilmour Jr., of Salt Lake City, Utah, was released earlier in the day from Leningrad jail on $11,111 bail on a charge of currency violation, Tass said.

He was arrested Oct. 1 with Ray Buel Wortham Jr. of North Little Rock, Ark. who remained in custody in Leningrad. Wortham is charged both with currency violation and a second charge of theft of an antique bear from a Leningrad hotel. The Soviets so far have refused to release him on bail.

A Tass dispatch from Leningrad implied, but did not clearly state, that the two had pleaded guilty to all the charges. It said they would "go on trial in a few days time."

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the Soviets agreed to turn Gilmour over to a consular officer, Harlan G. Moen, in Leningrad.

Moen and Gilmour were expected to arrive in Moscow tomorrow morning. Gilmour will remain in the embassy here while awaiting trial. Bail was furnished by Gilmour's father, a Salt Lake City attorney.

The embassy spokesman said Gilmour had been instructed to make no public statements before his trial in order to avoid prejudicing his case.

Moen saw Wortham in Leningrad yesterday and reported he seems to be well, the embassy spokesman said.

Soviet authorities have refused to grant bail to Wortham on the ground that what they call the more serious nature of his case prevents such action until the court begins to review the case.

Gilmour and Wortham, each 25, and former Army lieutenants, each face jail sentences of three to eight years on conviction of the currency violation charges.

In addition, Wortham faces a possible sentence of up to three years on conviction of the theft charge.

Jailbreakers Slay Chief In Gun Fight

IRONTON, Ohio (UPI)—Four prisoners escaped from the Lawrence County Jail today after a gunfight in which the chief of police was killed and a patrolman wounded seriously.

Three escapees—two of them wounded—were recaptured a short time later during an exchange of shots on a side street. A fourth prisoner fled on foot.

Ironton Police Chief W. E. (Gene) Markel was cut down at point-blank range about noon EST after he and Patrolman Charles Giles had gone to the jail on business.

Giles was shot twice and reported in critical condition in a Huntington, W. Va., hospital about 20 miles away.

The escape attempt began when a deputy started to take William Bailey back to his cell after Bailey had made a telephone call.

Bailey grabbed Chapman's

Pennsylvania Quint Dies

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Roni Sue, the sole surviving Aranson quintuplet, died today despite around-the-clock medical care.

The fragile infant joined her four sisters in death at 2:00 p.m., unable to overcome the numerous problems that menace all premature babies.

Dr. Lee Bass, chief pediatrician in attendance, attributed Roni Sue's death to "probable brain damage and pulmonary immaturity."

The quintuplets were born last Saturday.

LBJ Aide Optimistic Over 1967 Economy

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson received from his chief economic adviser today a prediction of continued prosperity in 1967 and an easing in inflationary pressures.

Johnson and Gardner Ackley, chairman of the Council of economic advisers, interrupted a day-long conference on various economic and budget messages to conduct a joint news conference.

Johnson said he and Ackley went over the latest economic reports and estimates of various kinds, and employment figures released today by the Labor Department in Washington.

The President also announced that 150,000 tons of copper will be released from government stocks in the first two quarters of 1967 for use in defense and defense-supporting industries.

He said, in replay to a question, this could affect current high prices for copper but that was not the purpose.

Both Johnson and Joseph A. Califano Jr. stressed that the copper is being released in view of the present tight supply situation.

There still will be 259,000 tons of copper remaining in the stockpile.

Reminded that Ackley has recommended that Johnson announce his tax decision by Dec. 10, Johnson remarked: "He makes a lot of recommendations."

Johnson estimated income for the ordinary operations of the government at around $117 billion in the fiscal year which ends June 30. Some government experts have estimated spending in the area of $127 billion to 130 billion. That would leave a deficit of around $13 billion.

Ackley said it would be impossible to say there will be no recession next year.

Legislator To Ask Firing Of Professors

BERKELEY (AP)—A Republican Assembly leader said today he'll ask the University of California regents to fire every professor and teaching assistant participating in demonstrations at the Berkeley campus this week.

The statement was made by Assemblyman Don Mulford, R-Oakland, in an address to the Berkeley Breakfast Club, a businessmen's group.

BOMBERS ATTACK HANOI OUTSKIRTS

Raid Closest To Capital Since June 29; Saigon Port Dynamite Plot Uncovered

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Waves of U.S. Navy and Air Force bombers pounded an oil depot and truck park near Hanoi today, within five miles of the city.

U.S. headquarters said a damage assessment of the raids had not been compiled from the pilots' reports.

The raids were the closest to Hanoi since June 29, when American planes struck an oil depot three miles from the center of the city as well as an oil depot on the outskirts of Haiphong, North Viet Nam's chief port.

In the ground war in South Viet Nam, U.S. air cavalrymen battled Red troops for nine hours yesterday in the Central Lowlands 280 miles northeast of Saigon and killed 9 of them, U.S. military spokesmen reported. The troops of the 1st Cavalry Division (Airmobile) suffered light casualties, the spokesman said.

A unit of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division ambushed a group of North Vietnamese regulars 20 miles northwest of the coastal city of Tuy Hoa today and killed nine of them. U.S. forces reported only small patrol skirmishes elsewhere.

Vietnamese military headquarters reported that government militiamen moved into a hamlet on the outskirts of Saigon and seized two cases of Chinese Communist TNT which local residents said the Viet Cong planned to use against ships at Saigon's new $50-million Newport docking area.

Resentment is growing between U.S. and South Korean servicemen in South Viet Nam as a result of rivalry for such highly valued post exchange items as TV sets.

The Americans complain that Koreans are organized systematically to snatch up such items, and suspect the Koreans are selling the goods on the black market.

A South Korean spokesman replied that some of his country's servicemen have complained that certain American PX managers keep desirable merchandise out of sight until U.S. servicemen have had a crack at it.

Truces Won't Permit Red Buildup, U.S. Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials say the Christmas and New Year's truces in the war in Viet Nam will not allow the Communists sufficient time to regroup and resupply their forces.

The officials, addressing editors and broadcasters yesterday at a State Department foreign policy conference, also denied reports that the United States pressured South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky into accepting the cease-fires.

The officials, who could not be quoted by name, also reported the power struggle in Communist China still is under way.

These officials said the struggle-produced tension had much to do with the decision of the U.N. General Assembly this week to reject Red China's admission to the United Nations by a larger vote than last year.

Officials expressed belief that the outlook for victory in Viet Nam through military action must now look exceedingly dim to the Communist leaders.

Officials pointed to reports of 5,700 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed during October, compared with 900 South Vietnamese and 340 Americans. They also pointed to the increasing number of Communist fighters captured — 2,416 during October compared with 2,200 in the July-September period.

Airlines Warned To Solve Airport-Reaching Delays

BOSTON (AP) — A transportation expert warned today that U.S. airlines may lose 70 per cent of their passengers unless something is done soon to reduce the time needed to get to and from airports.

Benton H. Elliott of the General Electric Co. said a survey of routes between New York and six of the nation's largest cities showed that air travel time had decreased an average of 50 per cent since 1948.

But, he said, the passenger hasn't saved much time because the ground travel time between airport and downtown has increased by the same percentage due to congested roads.

The cities are Los Angeles, Chicago, Detroit, Boston, Washington and Miami.

"The airlines," he said, "stand to lose a major market (trips of 800 miles or less) to competing modes of intercity transportation unless prompt action is taken to solve the problem.

He said that next year the Pennsylvania Railroad expects to begin service between Boston, New York and Washington with trains reaching speeds up to 160 miles an hour. Assuming an average speed of 120 miles an hour, he said, a New York-Washington round trip would take 3 hours and 44 minutes — seven minutes shorter than an air round-trip and much more convenient.

Catholic Fish Regime Ends; Dealers Wait

NEW YORK (AP) — Roman Catholics throughout the country began a meat-on-Friday era today and the prevailing mood among fish dealers ranged between apprehension and gloom.

Along the Fulton Street Fish Market most dealers preferred to play wait-and-see rather than try to prognosticate.

The Market Research Corp. predicted the end of meat abstinence might cause a drop of 8 to 10 per cent in fish sales and said, "Retailers should plan merchandising programs which would promote fish as a week-around dish."

In Chicago, Booth Fisheries announced it had increased its advertising budget 50 per cent — to $1,250,000 a year.

However, at the State Fish Co. of San Pedro, one of California's biggest fish dealers, a spokesman insisted that "after all those years, people will still eat fish on Friday."

And Warren Enos, sales coordinator for a large Boston waterfront wholesaler, declared: "We haven't seen any effect yet. We don't expect any slump."

"After all," he reasoned, "many Catholics like fish so much they eat it twice a week."

Koysgin Strikes At West Germany

PARIS (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, in France on a state visit, made a biting attack on West Germany today and sounded a warning against the resurrection of "the forces of fascism."

Kosygin turned what was expected to have been a ceremonial visit to the Paris City Hall into a denunciation of what he said were West German ambitions for territory and nuclear arms.

"The present situation in Europe is far from reassuring," the 62-year-old Kremlin leader said.

"Demands for revision of postwar frontiers, coupled with pretentions for nuclear armament, carry the threat of upsetting the equilibrium and the peace of Europe," he said.

GOP Leader Sees Draft-Reagan Try

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of a conservative Republican organization predicted today that a nationwide move will be launched soon to draft Ronald Reagan for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination.

D. Bruce Evans, chairman of United Republicans of America, said, "I think an effort will be launched by several of the conservative organizations in the near future to draft him."

In an interview, Evans compared it with the draft-Goldwater campaign launched months before former Sen. Barry Goldwater announced his candidacy for the 1964 Republican nomination.

Reagan, elected governor of California last month, has said he expects to serve out his four-year term but might be a "favorite son" candidate at the 1968 GOP convention.

Evans, who told a news conference yesterday his group would work to keep Michigan Gov. George Romney from getting the 1968 GOP nomination, said it would take no part in the draft-Reagan effort until a convention scheduled for February 1968 in Dallas.

If Reagan does not enter the presidential race, Evans said URA could support former vice President Richard M. Nixon against Romney.

Rhodesian Peace Talk On Warship

LONDON (AP) — On a British warship steaming through heavy seas in the Strait of Gibraltar, Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson and Rhodesia's Ian Smith met today for a last desperate attempt to agree on ending the white Rhodesians' rebellion against eventual African rule.

Associates of Wilson reported that he was pessimistic about the outcome.

The two leading antagonists in the 13-month-old rebellion that threatens to tear the commonwealth apart went aboard the cruiser Tiger during the night as she lay at anchor in the rain-lashed Bay of Algeciras west of Gibraltar.

This morning the Tiger moved out into the rain-swept strait between Africa and Europe, reportedly bound either toward the Mediterranean island of Malta, 990 miles to the east, or toward Madeira, in the Atlantic 600 miles from Gibraltar.

Wilson and a team of top advisers flew to Gibralter last night after promising he would never surrender British principles.

PUC Reviewing New Wire Plan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The state Public Utilities Commission is reviewing a Pacific Gas & Electric Co. proposal for underground wiring in future residential subdivisions in Northern California.

PG&E made the proposal yesterday. A condition is that developers would pay the costs of trenching, backfill and any ducts necessary.

PG&E said it was able to make the proposal because of a new low cost technique in undergrounding electrical facilities.

The company refused to confirm reports that its proposal would cut lot costs to a developer by $350 to $50.

MACY'S SAN RAFAEL, FOURTH AND COURT, 456-3333: OPEN MONDAY THROUGH SATURDAY 9:30 TO 9 'TIL CHRISTMAS

Fraternity Claimed To Have Tradition Of Stealing Bells

By ROBERT STREBEIGH

Were the historic bells of Mission San Rafael—stolen and recovered within a few hours Nov. 19—intended to disappear forever behind a locked door at University of the Pacific's Phi Kappa Tau fraternity at Stockton?

Or were they to have been buried in a levee in the Stockton area, where rumor has it that countless bells over the years have found their last resting place?

These questions have been raised by Muriel Thebaut of Volcano, Amador County, who read reports of the attempted theft in San Rafael and remembered her experience with the fraternity in 1961.

"This goes back for years and years," Mrs. Thebaut said yesterday. "That fraternity is known as 'the bell fraternity' and has stolen hundreds of bells. Many of them are kept in a room they call the 'bell room' and the surplus is buried in levees around Stockton."

One of the three fraternity men arrested for taking the mission bells, Walter H. Jensen, 20, of Stockton, told San Rafael police the 150-year-old bells were to have been placed in Phi Kappa Tau's "bell room."

Arrested with Jensen were Steven J. Wechsler, 20, of 62 Manderly Road, San Rafael, and John D. Mills, 22, of Belmont. They were caught when Patrolmen Donal Merkley and Martin J. Conlin, saw a car southbound on C Street, became suspicious of a half-open trunk, and decided to investigate. In the trunk was Mills, his arms wrapped around one of the bells. The other bell was recovered when Wechsler later admitted having it and returned it.

The three were booked first on charges of grand theft and conspiracy, but these were reduced to a charge of malicious mischief to which they will enter pleas Thursday in Marin Municipal Court.

Mrs. Thebaut cited the case of Volcano's historic bell, stolen from the Methodist churchyard in 1956, and the Pine Grove School bell three miles away, taken the same night.

"Five years after they were stolen, I was tipped off by a student from another college that he knew where the Pine Grove bell was. This was the first time I'd heard of this "bell fraternity," she said. Accompanied by Dean Edward Betts of University of the Pacific, Mrs. Thebaut gained access to Phi Kappa Tau's "bell room" and identified the Volcano and Pine Grove bells from their inscriptions.

"Even then," Mrs. Thebaut said, "they didn't want to return them and had to be made to by the university."

Dean Betts acknowledged that thefts of bells by the fraternity was an activity going back a great many years. He said the university had taken strong disciplinary action in the past and believed the practice had been stamped out.

"This is the first case I've heard of in 10 years. I'm sure the last time, until now, was the Volcano incident," she said.

The university will take every step to see that this doesn't recur, the dean said. He charged the courts, however, with making it "extremely difficult to prevent."

He said: "The courts treat it lightly as an escapade. It's most unfortunate."

He disagreed with Mrs. Thebaut's contention that "hundreds of bells have been stolen and a great many are in the bell room." He was unable to say how many bells were in the fraternity's locked room, but said, "There are very few."

"Naturally, the dean wouldn't know," Mrs. Thebaut said. "The bells are hidden when he arrives."

Bishop Donald Tippett, of the Northern California and Nevada Conference of the Methodist Church, which founded the university, said he had visited the fraternity and "never seen any bells."

Bishop Tibbett, a regent of the university said, "If they have any, they must be awfully good at hiding them."

Stockton Police Capt. Frank C. Gregory said he had no official reports of bell thefts by the fraternity but had "heard rumors."

The three fraternity men are free on their own recognizances and San Rafael Mission bells are locked up at the police station—as evidence.

Cal Students Parade In Driving Rainstorm

granting of the same privilege to non-students as to government agencies in appearing on campus, a ban on police interference without consultation with the student governing body, and negotiations with the administration for student participation in establishing campus rules.

Rebel leaders, meantime, vowed the strike would continue as long as university officials ignored the demands triggered by the campus demonstration.

The huge throng that turned out for yesterday's rally cheered when Mario Savio, 23, a former UC student and 1964 Sproul Hall sit-in leader, shouted it was "necessary to coerce the administration to seriously consider our demands."

He explained that the demands were:

That police should never be called to solve campus political problems. —That no disciplinary action be taken against persons involved in the student Union building brawl.

That the university revise its disciplinary hearing rules "to conform with the U.S. constitution."

That leaders of the current protest pick the majority of students represented on any committee set up to mediate the current dispute.

—And that off-campus individuals and noncommercial enterprises get the same treatment from the university as governmental agencies in setting up and manning tables.

QUAKE

Owari fault in Japan, named for the two counties on Honshu through which it runs, and the Alpine fault in New Zealand.

The Alpine fault, he said, is like the San Andreas fault in that its displacement is "lateral rather than vertical, like most faults." That is to say, the west side of the San Andreas tends to move north, the east side moving south. In most faults, he said, the movement is up and down. He pointed out that in the case of the Alpine fault, the heaviest shocks are felt far from the fault itself.

Other earthquake zones more active than the San Andreas mentioned by Dr. Lomnitz are in southern Mexico, Chile and the South Pacific. The entire rim of the Pacific Ocean, he indicated, is one vast earthquake zone.

The planning department's report said that in another large earthquake "primary fault movement will rupture all structures that straddle the fault displacement lines."

Dr. Lomnitz agreed, but said that the "odds are very much against" being able to place a building astride "the precise point where a fault would rupture." To insure accomplishing this, he noted, it would be necessary to develop the Bolinas area to an extraordinarily high degree.

The Taylor Winery south of Hollister—which is astride such a rupture and being slowly torn apart—is a tourist attraction, he said, because of its rarity.

The planning department also reported on the water-wracked havoc that might result from a major earthquake, with the lagoon being "thrown well over the banks, while accompanying tsunamis or tidal waves could . . . wipe out ocean front development."

Dr. Lomnitz said this could happen — indeed, anything one might imagine could happen. He pointed out that tidal waves from any part of the Pacific might reach the area, but he said: "For some reason that area doesn't seem to get them. Crescent City is in the worst position."

Dr. Lomnitz could recall no report of water splashing around in the lagoon during the 1906 earthquake, whose epicenter was so short a distance away.

That the earthquake had little effect on the lagoon would appear substantiated by a report dated 1868 and cited by Rear Adm. Harold E. Branston-Cook of the Marin Conservation League on a panel discussion of the Bolinas Lagoon plan last month. The report, the admiral said, described the lagoon very much as it is today and "could have been dated 1966."

Dr. Lomnitz repeated his opinion that "it doesn't matter where you build. It's how you build." He added, "I think people are worrying about 1906."

Berg Slashes Own Chest In Jail Cell

Ronald Harold Berg, 21, who escaped county jail briefly last week and was convicted yesterday of an armed robbery, late yesterday slashed himself across the chest while in a county jail isolation cell.

He was treated at Marin General Hospital, then returned to jail. Jailers said the effort was not a serious attempt at suicide, but might have been an attempt to gain a commitment to Napa State Hospital for mental observation.

Chief Jailer Newall Synder said Berg and Lewis Barton Pettijohn Jr., his companion in last week's break, were in the cell about 5:30 p.m. when Pettijohn told deputies that Berg was hitting his head against a wall.

When officers reached the cell, Berg also had cut his chest with a torn tin cup.

Pettijohn was transferred later last night to Sonoma County Jail. Berg remained in the cell alone today.

Property Owners Nominate Board

Nine new directors have been nominated to serve on the board of the Marin Property Owners Assn., Charles Parmelee of San Rafael, chairman of the nominating committee, announced today.

They are Dr. Charles W. Aby, Albert Bianchi, Charles I. Daniels Jr., Elias S. Day, Steele Holman, William J. Keener, John D. LaNoue, N. Udell, and Harold Valceschini.

New officers and directors will be elected at the annual luncheon next Wednesday at Nero's Restaurant in Ignacio.

The association will also present a panel discussion on "How Marin Can Halt the Ever-Increasing Property Tax" by Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, attorney Bryan McCarthy and Olema rancher Boyd Stewart.

Tomales High Complaints Retracted

Mrs. Missy Patterson of Inverness apologized to the Tomales High School District Board last night for charges she made at the Nov. 13 board meeting, saying she had been misinformed.

After hearing her apology, the board went into closed session to discuss charges aired at the Nov. 13 meeting against Supt. Anthony Matulich and shop-physical education teacher Carl R. Anaclerio. After two and one-half hours behind closed doors, it emerged to instruct Matulich to take steps to tighten disciplinary control. Board members voiced neither criticism nor praise for Anaclerio.

At the November meeting, Mrs. Patterson said physical education teachers grabbed students and threw them from one side of the room to the other. Similar charges against Anaclerio were made by Mrs Stella Phillipscheck of Inverness.

After its closed session last night, the board instructed Matulich to:

1. Develop a disciplinary policy which would be all inclusive for both students and teachers.

2. Restate the policy of deficiency notices which will be sent to all parents whose children are not doing satisfactory work in school, and,

3. Renew the activity of the Tomales High School improvement program committee, which is a sub-committee of the coordinating committee, with Matulich as acting chairman. This committee has been inactive since spring.

ESCAPE

pistol and held it on him and Deputy Sheriffs Roy Mullins and Robert Henry, who had walked into the room.

Bailey took Chapman into the jail area and forced him to open the cell door to release Ronald R. Browning, 20, Donald Jenkins, 26, and Carl E. Halleck, 29, all of Ironton.

The prisoners then ordered Chapman, Henry and Mullins into the office as Robert Sites, a policeman from nearby Coal Grove, arrived at the jail.

The prisoners grabbed Sites and took his gun. Within a minute, Markel and Giles walked into the jail.

Markel grabbed Jenkins, but before he could draw his gun, police said, Halleck and Bailey opened fire. Markel fell, mortally wounded, and Giles was hit twice.

Jenkins, Halleck and Bailey, using Mullins and Sites as hostages, headed into an alley while Browning stayed to guard Chapman and Henry in an office.

Police closed in on the escapees running for the alley and a gunbattle broke out. Mullins and Sites were able to break away from their captors, but Mullins was wounded in the shoulder.

Jenkins and Bailey also were hit, but Halleck escaped. Bailey was hospitalized in critical condition.

U.S. Employment Rate Falls Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate dropped baek to its 1966 low of 3.7 per cent last month and total employment hit an all-time November high of 75 million, the Labor Department reported today.

The jobless rate declined from 3.9 per cent in October to 3.7 per cent in November. It was the third time this year the rate had hit that level, the lowest in 13 years.

The number of unemployed last month was 2,650,000.

Portable Radio Taken

Theft of a portable radio worth $50 was reported today to Mill Valley police by Karel Bauer, 290 Cascade Drive. The radio was taken from his house yesterday, Bauer said.

ABORTION

case histories of Bay Area women's abortions, and gave specific instructions on do-it-yourself methods.

Members of the audience were handed mimeographed sheets on self-induced abortions, but reminded that it is not considered an ideal manner, and can be extremely dangerous.

Miss Maginnis also distributed a list of names, addresses and telephone numbers of doctors in Mexico and Japan who will perform abortions.

Cautioning her listeners "never, never go to Tijuana," the 38-year-old lecturer asked women to report their own abortion experiences to her so that her list of competent abortion doctors can be augmented.

She said she never gives names of United States doctors who will perform abortions. "If American women want abortions in America it's their duty to get up and get the existing laws changed."

Prices quoted for Mexican abortions ranged from $250 in Nogales to around $800 for a four-month operation in Juarez.

Attacking the California "committee-system" format for legal abortions, Miss Maginnis said that legal abortions through committees in the Bay Area cost a woman $500 to $1,000, while an abortion should cost less than $300 including hospital fees and surgery.

Urging repeal of California's abortion laws through an initiative, Miss Maginnis was given a prolonged ovation when she said the ideal alternative is "when a woman can go to her physician, tell him she's pregnant and doesn't want to be, and the doctor picks up the phone and makes arrangements for an abortion in hosptial immediately."

In the audience of 125 were around 30 men, including a Kentfield physician. Many women asked quite specific questions on self-induced abortions, and one declared she had been successful in the attempt three times.

Mrs. Polly Strand of Corte Madera, who arranged the Marin lecture, said the location for next Thursday's class had not yet been arranged and will be announced later.

Union Postpones PanAm Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — The Transport Workers Union (TWU) agreed today to an hour-to-hour postponement of a strike that would ground Pan American World Airways, the nation's largest international airline.

A union leader said at 11:50 a.m. that the noon strike deadline was being extended because of progress in contract negotiations with the airline.

The union's 13,000 members had been poised to strike at noon if contract terms had not been reached by then.

In Fair Condition

Stephen F. Christian, 19, of 587 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, continued in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital where he was admitted yesterday with injuries suffered when his car hit a culvert on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Lagunitas Road. He received multiple cuts and bruises.

Reports Purse Taken

Mrs. Lydia B. Montalbo, 44, of 215 Baban Drive, San Rafael, told sheriff's officers two youths grabbed her purse, containing about $40 in cash and identification papers, and ran with it as she was leaving a Greyhound bus at the Marin City stop yesterday.

Hall Meeting Off

A special meeting scheduled last night by Homestead Valley Improvement club directors to discuss management of Brown's Hall was canceled. Next meeting of the board will be Dec. 13 at 8 p.m. at Brown's Hall.

Ross Wife Says Spouse Disinterested

An amended divorce complaint by a socially prominent Ross woman yesterday charged in Marin Superior Court that her husband has been sexually disinterested in her for the past 10 years.

Charmaine Wright Harrington, 34, a member of the Junior League, made the allegations against Michael Gene Harrington, 35, a vice-president and legal counsel of Honig-Cooper and Harrington advertising agency in San Francisco.

Mrs. Harrington originally filed suit for divorce Aug. 8 on grounds of cruelty. He filed a cross-complaint Sept. 23, also charging cruelty and alleging she belittled him in the presence of friends.

He also charged she "refused to engage in sexual activities" with him.

Her amended complaint yesterday said there had been no willing acts of intimacy by Harrington "since the birth of their child over 10 years ago."

Her attorney, Czar Winters, declared that once following the May 9 separation Harrington entered their home on Spring Road by using a "dog-door," and that Ross police had to remove him from the house.

The couple wed Aug. 28, 1954, and have one daughter, Kimberly.

City Hall Fire Station Opposed

The San Rafael Fire Commission last night opposed locating a new headquarters fire station on the C Street end of the new city hall property.

The location was called for in the master plan, but commissioners felt not enough space was available.

Commissioner Harry A. Barbier was delegated to discuss the matter with the city council, of which he is a member, and ask permission to seek a new location.

The commissioners also voted unanimously to reduce firemen's work week from 70.5 to 67.3 hours a week. They now work three 24-hour shifts a week and after five such shifts have 24 hours off. Under the new schedule, effective in January, they will have 24 hours off after four such shifts.

Soviet Vessels Seen Off Coast

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—Russian trawlers sighted off Ano Nuevo Island the past week probably are on an exploratory mission for the main Soviet fishing fleet, Coast Guard officials said today.

The ships, as many as three, were reported sighted by Frank and Homer McCrary whose Big Creek Lumber Co. mill is on the coast south of Pescadero.

A Coast Guard spokesman said the vessels, of the 2,600-ton Tropik class, are keeping well outside the 12-mile limit in international waters, and "It appears they are engaged exclusively in fishing."

Voting Is Big For Yell Team

Eighty-five per cent of the Redwood High School student body voted in an election of basketball season song and yell leaders last week — the largest vote turnout in the schools' history.

It was the first election held under the school's new "home room" unit organization.

Elected song leaders, from a field of 14 candidates, were Susie Clark, Sue Bungen, Pam Eubanks, Kathy Piro, Marty Slivka, Phyllis Stolz, and Susie Villasenor.

The Giant Steps composed of Herm Kamai, Tanya Golz, Luvretta Elder, Debbie Yeats, and Mike York, won election as yell leaders in a three-way contest.

OBITUARIES

Bradley Kushins Dies At 17

Bradley Keith Kushins, 17, of San Rafael, son of Jerome M. Kushins, president of the Santa Rosa Shoe Co. and former mayor of Santa Rosa, died yesterday in a San Francisco hospital after a long illness.

Bradley, of 15 Manderly Road, was a senior at San Rafael High School, where he was an honor student. He was a graduate of San Pedro School and Davidson Junior High School.

Born in Oakland, Bradley lived in Santa Rosa before moving to San Rafael in 1952.

SYMPHONY REVIEW

Beethoven Provides A Beautiful Opener

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Josef Krips and the near 100-man San Francisco Symphony have launched the symphony's 55th season in a manner worthy of its reputation as "one of the elite 11" orchestras in the United States.

This was evident yesterday afternoon in the War Memorial Opera House in a program that not only all Beethoven but all great Beethoven, for it was composed of the magnificent Symphony No. 5 in C Minor, Opus 67, the overture to Leonore No. 3 Opus 72 and the exquisite Symphony No. 6 in F Major (Pastoral) Opus 68.

Since Krips is a Beethoven interpreter par excellence, this was fine program planning for the important opening of the season, which has started at such a high level that there remains only that fine honing of an infinite number of infinitesimal details to make the orchestra comparable with the very best.

So amazingly fast has been its development since Krips took over the baton in 1963 that this goal should not be too far off.

The outstanding performance yesterday was in tthe Symphony No. 5, though the tempo in its so-called "knocking of fate" motif did not establish a mood of ominous portent. The symphony was played with wonderful rhythmic drive and such fine dynamic balance that even in fortissimos the strings were the clarion brasses.

The string choirs were good, especially the brilliant first violins played with near-perfect synchronized bowing, but in the other numbers the violins were a shade predominant at times. The lower strings need to be brought up to this level.

The overture to Leonore was performed with great elan, but also with extraordinary attention to slow, soft and sustained passages and beautifully controlled and smooth crescendos and diminuendos. A solo trumpet theme played over faintly heard strings was the most delicate pianissmo we have ever heard on that instrument.

The Pastoral symphony, which comes as near painting a picture in music as it is possible to do without sacrificing musical values, was given a reading clearly depicting the intended images and moods. There were some particulary lovely individual passages by the woodwinds, and the country dances had delightful ebullience.

We were, however, disappointed in the storm, which can be one of the most prodigious and electrifying in all symphonic music. This was all the more surprising in view of the resources revealed in the Symphony No. 5.

Complaint On Insurance Costs Filed

A representative of Travelers Insurance Co., which lost the group life and extended hospital coverage policy on county employees last week, has filed formal complaint with the county board of supervisors.

Carl J. Van Heuit, manager of Travelers' group department, challenged the claim of a $13,000 annual saving in premiums, and claimed that the new carrier's charges are actually higher.

Harry C. Duncan, a retired insurance man with 38 years in Travelers' group department, persuaded the county administrator's office to recommend the change Nov. 22, saying it would save $13,000 in the county's 80 per cent share of cost. Employees make up the balance out of their pay.

In a letter to supervisors, Van Heuit said the net cost for Travelers' coverage, after retroactive credit based on claim history, has run from 10 to 15.5 cents per $1,000 or coverage in the past three years.

Duncan's offer of 40 cents per $1.000 was a gross figure.

Duncan said today that after retroactive credits, his offer is still better.

County Administrative Analyst John L. Gibb was to meet with Duncan today to find if a net cost for his policy with West Coast Life Insurance Co. could be determined. Gibb said the matter will probably be discussed by supervisors Tuesday.

Pilot Training To Be Boosted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, moving to ease a shortage of combat pilots, has given the Navy and Air Force the go-ahead to sharply boost their pilot training next year.

This was revealed yesterday by well-qualified sources who also said the secretary will sign an order within the next few days granting the Army additional funds to nearly double its pilot training output.

McNamara's decision to increase pilot training comes amid repeated reports that the armed services are facing severe shortages of young fliers due to the increasing demands of the Viet Nam war. The defense chief, however, has consistently denied that such shortages exist.

Next Steps To Play For Benefit Dance

The Next Step will furnish music for a dance from 8 p.m. to midnight tomorrow at the Novato Community House with proceeds to go to the Novato Boys' Club building fund.

Theme of the dance will be "Psychedelic Reaction" and there will be additional entertainment, according to Frank Bonomolo, who organized the dance.

Pay Raises Sought For State Employees

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State Personnel Board today recommended a five per cent pay boost for nearly all state employees that would add $56 million to Gov.-elect Ronald Reagan's budgetary woes.

The board's proposals, agreed to at an executive session this morning, also called for higher pay boosts for some employees "in classes in which salary problems are particularly severe."

SPECIAL AIDS

The board emphasized its recommendations did not specify additional funds needed for special salary adjustments for state employed nurses and state mental hospital psychiatric technicians.

Both nurses and the technicians have demanded hefty wage hikes in the wake of nurse's strikes of private institutions that have generally resulted in increased pay.

Most state employees received a four per cent pay boost in July.

OTHER ITEMS

The board also recommended:

Giving time-and-one half overtime pay and differentials for night work to those state employees whose counterparts in private industry receive such benefits.

Support for a plan to increase the state's contribution to basic health plans to cover the entire cost of the plan to each employee.

An amendment of the Government Code to provide state workers with Fridays off when holidays fall on Saturdays.

MORE ASKED

The proposed five per cent hike fell one per cent short of demands by the 109,000-member California State Employees Assn.

Earlier this week, Reagan said he faced a "dire" budgetary picture next year. He predicted a deficit of anywhere from $300 million to $400 million.

Photographer Claims Powell Gun Threat

NEW YORK (UPI) — Life Magazine said today Rep. Adam Clayton Powell threatened the life of one of its photographers last weekend at the Congressman's retreat on Bimini in the Bahamas.

A magazine spokesman said photographer Lynwood (Lynn) Pelham of Miami was attempting to photograph the Harlem Democrat last Sunday when the incident allegedly occurred.

Pelham said he was standing on a road outside Powell's Bimini home when a car with Washington, D.C. license plates sped into the Powell driveway, narrowly missing him. He said the barrel of a gun was protruding from the car window.

"Powell got out of the car, carrying a shotgun," Pelham was quoted as saying. He stood in front of his house and pointed the shotgun right at me and said:

" 'This is private property. If you set one foot on my property, I'll kill you.' "

Pelham said he put his hands over his head and tried to talk to Powell, who is under sentence in New York for criminal contempt in a long-standing defamation suit.

Pelham said Powell then turned and walked into the house. However, Pelham said he got a picture of Powell before he entered the house.

The picture, and an accompanying story, will be carried in the issue of Life which comes out Monday.

Downed Pilot Lifted To Safety

A Navy helicopter lifted Arnold H. Martin, 39, of Clovis from his wrecked light airplane, 11 miles east-northeast of Castle Air Force Base.

He was reported in generally good condition despite fractured ribs suffered in a crash landing yesterday.

Western Air Rescue Service officials at Hamilton Air Force Base said Martin radioed to Castle Air Base that he was in trouble and would attempt a forced landing. After an all-night hunt, the single-engine craft was spotted this morning on a muddy knoll.

Eagle Scout Awards Tonight

The boys are: John Lund, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kjell Lund, 94 Longfellow Drive, Mill Valley; Michael Magill, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry T. Magill, 450 Ridge Road, Novato, and Anthony Symmes, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence M. Symmes Jr., 309 Tamalpais Avenue, Mill Valley.

Mill Valley City Councilman Michael Wornum will give the challenge and present the awards.

Weather Probe Up On Tuesday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Looking like a monster spider, a busy spacecraft named ATS aims toward a lofty Pacific outpost next Tuesday to keep a weather eye on one-third of the earth and pioneer advancements in satellite communications.

Space agency scientists plan to follow up eight days later, on Dec. 14, by orbiting a "biosatellite" capsule packed with fruit flies, wasps, flour beetles and other living specimens on a three-day "bring-'em-back-alive" trip around the world.

The biosatellite launching — first in an intensive program conceived to determine the effect of space radiation and weightlessness on genetics, growth and development of living things — would pave the way for future long-duration flights by monkeys and rats.

Year's Probation For Joy-Riding

Mrs. Helen Galick of 55 Park Road, Fairfax, was placed on a year's probation yesterday by Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin Municipal Court for joy-riding in the truck of Michael McGinn in Fairfax between last Dec. 25 and Jan. 2.

Her son, Leonard Frank Galick, 26, originally had been charged with vehicle theft in the incident, but Mrs. Galick informed the court that he only moved the truck upon her instructions. She pleaded guilty Nov. 4.

Woman Official Says LSD Fought By Liquor Industry

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Sacramento County Assessor Irene Hickman, who took an LSD trip three years ago, says the alcoholic beverage industry backed legislation to outlaw the dream drug because it offers an effective treatment for alcoholism.

She admitted she had no evidence to back up her charges but she said she was convinced that "liquor interests are behind the withdrawal of LSD."

In a speech to about 250 students in a Sacramento State College classroom, Mrs. Hickman complained, "You can buy it on any street corner as most of you know . . . but to get it for scientific research is almost impossible."

Mrs. Hickman becamse a center of controversy earlier this year when she announced plans to assess property for taxation at its full market value, more than four times the ratio used in other counties.

She did not mention her taxation theories in her college speech.

Instead, she described her reaction to LSD, a drug which she said she took Oct. 14, 1963, in a carefully regulated clinical setting.

"That day was so big that all of my other 51 years are like a tiny speck of dust in the universe compared with that day," she said.

But she added, "In three years, I've never had the slightest urge to repeat. I can't conceive of anything that I haven't already experienced."

Since Mrs. Hickman had her experience with the hallucination causing drug, it has been outlawed by both the state and federal governments. Under state law, possession of the drug is a crime.

Mrs. Hickman, an osteopathic physician, said she did not believe LSD could cause physical damage to a human body. But she warned it could be dangerous mentally for some persons.

"The kind of experience that is opened by this drug is so vast that there are a lot of us that aren't equipped to experience it," she said.

She also warned the students against using "street corner LSD" which she said was almost always impure.

Kuwait Will Help Finance Big Bank

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Wealthy little Kuwait has agreed to help finance the reopening of Lebanon's giant Intra Bank, the bank announced today. It said it had agreed to resume operations "according to safe banking and commercial principle."

Intra, the biggest commercial bank in the Middle East, closed in October for lack of cash to meet withdrawal demands. The closure set off a financial crisis in Lebanon, the banking capital of the Middle East.

BATMAN FAN TRIES TO FLY THE HARD WAY

Four-year-old Dennis Davenport's favorite hero is Batman — or at least it was until yesterday.

He told his playmates at his home at 35 Scenic Avenue, San Anselmo he could fly just like the Caped Crusader.

But Dennis came to earth with a bang, and landed with his left hand through a plate glass window in the bedroom.

Today he was listed in good condition at Marin General Hospital, a casualty of the bad guys in Gotham City. His wrist was in a plaster cast.

His mother, Mrs. Robert E. Davenport, commented: "I was told by the doctor he has treated a lot of youngsters since the Batman craze began. They appear to think they can fly."

Jury Deadlocks In Kesey Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The jury deliberating the Ken Kesey marijuana case was discharged last night after its foreman reported it hopelessly deadlocked.

Foreman Alfred Papapietro told Superior Court Judge Francis J. McCarty that, after more than six hours of deliberation, the jury was split 8-4.

Salary Talks Reset

Directors of Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District, with Director John E. Duckett absent, agreed last night to put over discussion of Mgr. Gregory Hobbs' salary until an adjourned session at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 15. Hobbs now receives $1,000 a month.

Stolen Ketch Found On San Mateo Coast

Fear that a $25,000 ketch stolen last weekend from Sausalito Yacht Harbor was on its way to Australia was dispelled yesterday when it was found at Coyote Point Yacht Harbor in San Mateo County.

Boaters at the harbor told Sausalito police that the 35-foot ketch, the Tee-Hi, was sailed into the harbor Saturday afternoon by an unidentified man. The man berthed it at an empty space at the seaward entrance to the harbor, secured it and left, they said.

"Apparently someone took it for a joy ride," Sausalito Officer Kevin Sharp said. He and Detective Thomas J. Cain watched the sailboat for four to five hours, but no one returned to it. The harbor is about 20 miles from Sausalito.

Owner of the ketch, Charley E. Petersen of Sacramento, was "quite elated," Sharp said, and will check it today to determine if anything was left aboard by the thief.

A Sausalito boater told police that an "Australian" teen-ager who identified himself as James A. Donavan lived aboard the boat for two days before it vanished. The youth told the owner of a boat in an adjacent berth that he had just sailed it from Australia, and was waiting for two men to help him sail back home.

Father Says Son's Toughness Helped

THOUSAND OAKS (AP) — Actor Mickey Hargitay says his 6-year-old son Zoltan survived a lion's mauling because he had been trained to be tough.

Hargitay and his former wife, actress Jayne Mansfield, said yesterday their son is recovering satisfactorily from two operations since the attack last Saturday. The boy's skull was fractured and his spleen ruptured.

Hospital To Join Medicare Study

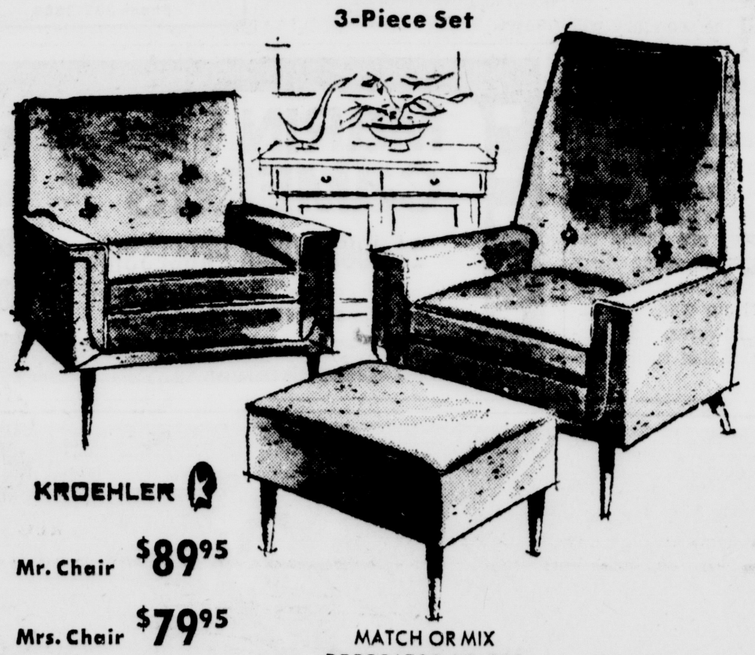

Marin General Hospital will be one of 50 hospitals participating in an American Hospital Assn. two-week study comparing nursing care costs of Medicare patients with care of adult patients under 65, starting Monday.

Hospital administrator Ray K. Bolinger said the study was necessitated by a provision in the Medicare law that "all payments to providers of services must be based on the reasonable cost of services."

Phillip Fleishman will coordinate the study at Marin General and Mrs. Mary Haas will serve as co-ordinator for nursing.

Tamalpais Services District Is Approved

By FRANK FARRARA

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission last night approved creation of a Tamalpais Community Services District, somewhat reduced from the original proposal.

The proposed district would replace the existing Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District and expand the services to include parks, recreation and garbage collection as well as sewage service.

It also would expand more than 1,000 acres beyond the sanitary district boundaries to serve both Tamalpais and Tennessee valleys.

When the commission first approved formation of the district in August, the proposed boundaries extended along Tennessee Valley watershed to the Pacific Ocean. County supervisors referred that proposal back to the commission for review of the boundaries.

Under the revamped boundaries approved last night, the commission excluded 1,286 acres, northwest of Fort Cronkhite and Tennessee Cove, owned by Dean Witter, as well as Army properties and Ranch C from the district.

As proposed now the district would extend southwestward to a midpoint between Richardson Bay and the Pacific Ocean, reported John F. Barrows, executive officer of the LAFC.

The exclusion of this land would not endanger the potential for a sewage treatment plant at Tennessee Cove, Barrows said.

Attorney Robert D. Huber, representing Mrs. Edna G. Smith, owner of 126 acres, asked that the Smith land, which is not in the Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District, be excluded.

Huber challenged the legality of including an area outside the present district in the proposed new district.

Rex S. Williams of 787 Marin owners in the Tamalpais Woods area, asked that their area be excluded from paying for recreational services. He previously had submitted a petition signed by 66 property owners opposing inclusion in the proposed new district.

"As far as sanitation, all are in favor, but we feel, as far as recreation, it wouldn't benefit anyone on the hill," Williams said. "To be taxed for recreation and receive no benefits seems like an unjust burden."

Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker, a commissioner, said residents would have representation on the CSD board and could take their recommendations on recreation to that board.

The commission's resolution will be sent to the board of supervisors, who will set a hearing.

The County's Tuberculosis Count Is Up

Tuberculosis in Marin County has increased nine per cent over last year, while the TB-fighting Christmas seal campaign has increased four per cent, Edward W. Bullard Jr., chairman of the Marin Tuberculosis and Health Assn.'s Christmas Seal sale, reported today.

With five new cases reported to the county health department during November, TB has climbed to 50 cases in Marin so far this year. The Dec. 1 total last year was 46, the year's total 53.

To date, $23,609.15 has been contributed to the Christmas Seal campaign, an increase of $1,002.54 over the same period last year.

"We are grateful to the Marin residents who have already joined the fight against TB by sending contributions and are hopeful we will hear from a great many others during December," Bullard said. "Continuation of the tuberculin skin testing program in Marin schools depends on the campaign, and we are counting on our community to keep it going."

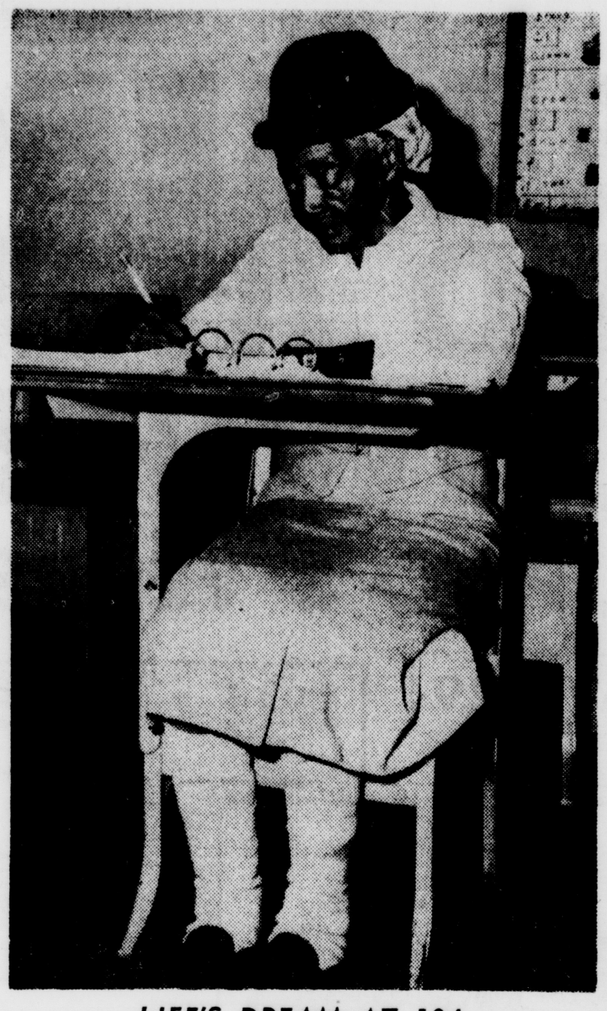

Roof, Floors Of Motel 'Drop'

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The roof and all five floors of the Governor House Motor Hotel on Canal Street dropped about 14 inches today, sending guests fleeing into the street in their nightclothes.

Only one minor injury was reported.

The collapse was described "as apparent fatigue of material" by the two-year-old building's chief engineer, William K. Williams.

LIFE'S DREAM AT 104

Lillie Lester, at 104 years old, is achieving her lifelong dream in learning to read and write. After five months of perfect attendance in the State-Federal Adult basic education program, she can not only write her name but also can read and do elementary arithmetic. Officials will honor her today in Athens, Tex., for her accomplishments.

Hannahs Named To Tiburon Fire Board Vacancy

Fred C. Hannahs was appointed last night to fill the unexpired term, to April, 1968, of James P. Jenkins on the Tiburon Fire District board.

Jenkins resigned from the board in September.

Fire Chief Franklin Buscher was authorized to call for bids on construction of an asphalt berm around firehouse property as a protection against flooding. The board will ask the city of Tiburon to correct deficiencies in the drainage ditch along Tiburon Boulevard from the firehouse to the railroad tracks.

New board officers will be elected at the Jan. 5 meeting of the board.

Yell Leaders Named At Sir Francis Drake

Eight Sir Francis Drake High School girls have been elected by the Sophomore Pep Club to be yell leaders and song leaders for the school's junior varsity basketball team games.

Yell leaders, headed by Mary Staley, are Tina Lawson, Judy Lundgren and Patty Daly. Song leaders, headed by Tori Thompson, are Wendy Thornton, Terri Rudee and Jill Schepps.

ABC Accepts Check For July Violation

SACRAMENTO (CNS — The State Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control announced it has accepted payment of $250 from Karl E. Mattheas, in lieu of a suspension of his on-sale general liquor license at Karl's Klub, 877 Grant Avenue, Novato.

The licensee was charged on July 8 with sale to a minor and permitting a minor to remain on public premises and consume.

LAFC Sets Hearing To Decide Which District Will Get Land

More than 7,000 acres of West Marin land, once proposed for annexation to the Marin Municipal Water District, may be annexed instead to the North Marin County Water District.

The Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission last night called for a public hearing on a proposal to annex the territory running from Samuel P. Taylor State Park to Tomales Bay State Park to the North Marin District. The hearing will be at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 5 in the supervisors' chamber at the Civic Center.

John Barrows, executive officer of the LAFC, said the area proposed for annexation includes the communities of Inverness, Inverness Park, Olema and Point Reyes. It is not contiguous to either district, and had been expected to join the Marin Municipal Water District, Barrows said.

Ironically, the map exhibited to the commission has the name "Marin Municipal Water District" on it. Barrows said the petitioners switched to the North Marin district to get "faster action and a lower initial price."

Commissioners also approved annexation of Rivers Brother Ranch property, northwest of Fairfax, to the City of Fairfax, after a report that the apartment developments on Olema Road would be included. The area is about 195 acres.

Also approved were two annexations to the Richardson Bay Sanitary District. The first consists of Reedland Woods Unit II, 68.5 acres north of Tiburon and Trestle Glen boulevards. This was made subject to extension of the Alto-Richardson Bay Fire District boundaries to conform to the sanitary district boundary.

The second annexation consists of 15 parcels along Bay Vista Drive, covering 5.6 acres. Dr. Arthur Jampolsky of 7 Sky Road asked that a swimming pool, owned by a corporation of adjoining property owners, be excluded, but commissioners denied his request.

The Local Agency Formation Commission Also:

1. Approved switching several parcels along the Bret Harte ridge from the San Rafael Sanitation District to the Ross Valley Sanitary District to avoid pumping over the ridge and to have the flow downhill in each district.

2. Continued until Jan. 5 consideration of Miwok Corp.'s request for detachment from the Muir Beach Community Services District.

3. Received word that a petition by Theodore Rosenberg for annexation to the City of San Rafael of a lot on the north side of San Pedro Road and four lots east of Montecito Road had been withdrawn.

4. Approved annexation of a parcel at Hill Avenue and Arroyo Aviche Road to Novato Sanitary District.

Commissioners H. G. Marchant and J. Wayne Womack and Barrows reported that they plan to attend the state meeting of local agency formation commissions in San Diego, Dec. 15 and 16. Chairman Jan Paul Dyk said he "tentatively" plans to attend.

The commission adjourned until next Thursday for a special meeting with representatives of Mill Valley and other cities to discuss guidelines for evalution of proposals. The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. at the Civic Center.

MARIN FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

1:40 p.m., Fairfax—Fire gutted apartment of Mrs. Ann Courtz at 1902 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard; apparently started in kitchen; damage unestimated; three attached apartments suffered smoke damage.

2:49 p.m., Novato — Leak in fuel line set fire to car belonging to Elmo Dugan of 175 Los Robles Road, Novato, while on Diablo Avenue in front of Safeway store; wiring damaged.

New Income Tax Form Considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service is considering the use of a new income tax form that it hopes will be easier to understand.

Sheldon S. Cohen, IRS commissioner, said yesterday the form will be tested next year by 60,000 taxpayers in eight states — Arkansas, Colorado, Kansas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas and Wyoming.

If the test is successful, the form will be provided in several years for all taxpayers wanting it. The present long and short forms — 1040 and 1040A — will remain available.

Cohen says the new form, seven pages compared with the two-page 1040, is written in simpler English and has space for more entries. He said most people using it should have no need to refer to a separate instruction sheet since instructions are interlaced throughout the proposed form.

Bolinas Lagoon, 17 On Planning Agenda

Bolinas Lagoon, Highway 17 and Marincello are up for discussion by the Marin County Planning Commission Monday.

The meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at Civic Center, with the Bolinas Harbor District Master Plan for development of the lagoon as the first item on the agenda.

Commissioners will consider a 34-page staff report on the harbor district plan. The staff report urges more study and recommends strongly against development of a marina on Kent Island.

Highway 17 is to be taken up soon after the afternoon session starts at 2 p.m. The commission will consider a recommendation for more study by the State Division of Highways on several suggestions brought out before the commission and board of supervisors in public hearings.

The commission's action on the resolution will be relayed to supervisors for their consideration Tuesday. The resolution, or one similar to it, may be presented to the highways division when it holds its first hearing on route studies for the freeway at 10 a.m. Thursday in Rafael Theater, San Rafael.

Soon after the highway discussion, a development plan for the second phase of the access road to Marincello will be discussed. The commission some time ago recommended approval of the first phase of the road. Approval of that by supervisors is currently being contested in Superior Court.

Other items on the agenda include the application of Equity Co. for permission for a 72-bed convalescent hospital at 1111-1115 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Kentfield. This is listed as number nine on the agenda and should come up in the morning session.

Listed as 16 and probably not up for discussion until late in the day is Marconi Marina Inc.'s application for approvel of plans for a small store at Marconi Marina near Marshall on Tomales Bay.

Battle Of The Band Ends; Soundproofing Does Job

The San Anselmo battle of the band ended last night when the San Anselmo City Council dropped all abatement proceedings against the two-piece band at MacArthur's Restaurant.

At a short meeting, with the audience padded by about 25 Redwood High School students there on a civics class assignment, the council decided no legal reason remained for describing the band at MacArthur's, 218 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, as a nuisance, since owner Donald MacArthur has soundproofed the place.

Residents of Lincoln Avenue, who lodged the original complaints against the band more than a month ago, said the soundproofing has cut the noise down to their satisfaction.

Three councilmen voted to drop the abatement which had forced MacArthur's to stop using the band three weeks ago. Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro, who was accused at the last meeting of voting in MacArthur's favor because Capurro's brother-in-law is part-owner of the building in which the restaurant-bar is located, abstained from voting "for personal reasons." Councilman Duane C. Ragan was absent.

Costly Space Gadget Found In Oakdale

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A potentially dangerous space instrument, designed to measure radiation that might harm moon-bound astronauts, has been recovered in Oakdale, about 80 miles from San Francisco International Airport where it disappeared Wednesday night.

The instrument, valued at $15,000, contained argon gas at a pressure of 100 pounds per square inch. It could have exploded if tampered with.

Officers said Ray Phillips, an Oakdale lumber yard owner, and Quinnan Sisco, Phillips' employee, found the device in the airport garage and took it to Oakdale.

They told police they heard a newscast warning of the potential danger and notified police.

Prime Minister Of Lebanon Out

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)— Prime Minister Abdullah Yaffi today submitted the resignation of his seven-months-old Cabinet to President Charles Helou.

A communique said Helou accepted the resignation and asked Yaffi and his ministers to stay on as caretakers until a new government is formed.

The communique said Helou will start parliamentary consultations tomorrow prior to designating a new premier.

Yaffi has been plagued with disputes within his Cabinet and a series of events which have jarred the country, including the assassination of a right-wing newspaper editor, labor strikes, political and family feuds in the mountains which resulted in bloodshed, and most recently the assassination of the mayor of Baalbeck.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Lodge Entree Choice Satisfying; New Eatery Called The Restaurant

Diners living in Tiburon or going there will find a satisfying choice of entrees at Tiburon Lodge, where chef Ralph Lund prepares a different set of six complete dinner specials each night.

These are in addition to the regular menu and are generally priced from $3.25 to $3.75. Dishes may vary from East India lamb curry to crab legs or cannelloni. Dining room is open daily for breakfast, lunch and dinner from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. On Saturday and Sunday nights to 11.

Tiburon Lodge, now settled comfortably in its distinctive position as a major Southern Marin hostelry, became an attraction for travelers from distant places almost from the start. Within the first six weeks, owner Ben Farlatti reported that registrations showed guests from 41 different states and 14 foreign countries. Latest tally has increased that to every state except North Carolina—and 21 foreign countries.

I don't know what happened to North Carolina. Maybe in that famous conversation between the two governors the chief executive of South Carolina couldn't get a word in edgeways about Tiburon Lodge. Anyway, someone there knew about it.

JOHN SNIDER, who has had Shakey's Pizza Parlor and Public House at 4150 Redwood Parkway, San Rafael for more than five years, is looking to Novato to provide him with a good location for his second restaurant.

He hasn't signed anything yet, but has an eye on one site where there is plenty of activity. His idea is to have the same type of divided arrangement he has now—an ale room for adults on one side and a section for the under-21 crowd on the other, with a glass-lined pizza kitchen in the middle. And of course serving his 20 or so different varieties of pizzas and special sauces, herbs, oils and spices.

Probably nothing will happen until after the first of the year. Hours continue at the San Rafael house as they have been since last May: Open from noon seven days a week; until midnight most of the time but extended to 2 a.m. Friday and Saturday nights and shortened to 11 p.m. Sundays.

ONE NEW RESTAURANT on the Marin scene is small, but it's doing a nice trade at the offset—and it serves breakfast, lunch and dinner.

This one is known simply as The Restaurant and is located at 633 Del Ganado Road in the Terra Linda Shopping Center. For the uninformed, that's at the west end of the Manuel T. Freitas Parkway. Owners are Patrick and Eva Marrie of San Rafael, who took over the premises formerly occupied by Ralph's Coffee Shop.

They have established a menu of popular dishes, stay open from 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. seven days a week and also do outside catering. Both counter and table service. New tables should be coming in soon and will accommodate about 40. There is an on-sale beer license.

Pat was formerly employed at the Los Angeles International Airport; Eva has been a nurse and also in the restaurant business in Colorado.

CONSUMERS COOPERATIVE in Corte Madera will have a restaurant in its complex at 68 Tamal Vista Boulevard, but this is to be located in the second phase of the project, on which construction has not yet started. While the market and some other facilities should be open shortly after the first of the year, don't look for the restaurant to be ready until sometime in the spring.

This will be the fifth in the chain of Miz Brown's restaurants owned by Harry L. Meharry and headquartered in Oakland. There are two others in San Francisco and one more now in the process of opening there. Miz Brown's will serve breakfast, lunch and dinner and will also operate a separate snack bar in the co-op.

REPORTS continue to come in about other restaurants intending to open next year. By the time our 1967 Marin Dining and Wining Guide comes out in mid-February we should be able to list many of these for you.

And there have already been a number of other openings since our last guide—along with restaurant sales, some closings and several changes of operation. It appears that next year's edition should have more listings than ever.

THERE HAS BEEN no closing of the doors at Ramona's in San Rafael, as a few people seem to think. Some remodeling has gotten under way but most of the work has been delayed.

Nothing has been done that will inconvenience visitors and dinners are proceeding as usual. Some of the take-home business has been shifted to the Captain's Curries on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile.

LUNCHES ARE NOW BEING SERVED at Two Bells and these have been going over very well. There are a couple of flavor-

Marin Dining And Wining

some specials each day and also the regular menu from which to choose.

Two Bells, of course, is that new place opened by Ronnie and Toni Bell at 1 Vivian Way, San Rafael. That's just around the corner from Francisco Boulevard and where Di Pietro's used to be. But Di Pietro's did not serve food—just cocktails, maybe hors d'oeuvres and music for dancing.

Two Bells is doing all of that, plus lunches from 11 to 2 Mondays through Fridays and dinners from 5:30 to 11 p.m. seven days a week. The whole place has been attractively remodeled. Dancing is on Friday and Saturday nights from 9—when Bob Olney and his orchestra — always popular—come in to play.

Special dinner feature is the roving prime rib cart—most of the time handled by Ronnie himself. Gus Persson is the man in charge of the kitchen.

THERE WILL BE a special luncheon fashion show at Tiburon Tommie's Mai Tai next Wednesday. It gets under way at noon and reservations are a good idea.

As far as I know this is the first fashion show Tiburon Tommie has ever held—though I seem to recall that there have been appropriate displays of South Seas fashions on special occasions. No grass skirts this time—strictly the latest in chic western dresses, furs and some of the necessary accessories.

THE DOCK in Tiburon is now closed Tuesdays—for the winter season only.

THE REGIONAL gourmets and enophiles (North Bay Wine and Food Society) have picked Bill and Adolph's West End Villa in San Rafael for their annual Christmas dinner treat and food appraisal. Time will be next week.

If I might suggest it, chef Camille Bamatter — that way you have of fixing scampi ought to wow them.

Materials For Reactor Tested

HARWELL, Eng. (SS) — A new variable energy cyclotron will be able to tell scientists in a matter of hours how reactor materials — steel, concrete, graphite — will be altered after 30 years of use in the intense radiation of a nuclear power plant.

The machine, located at England's Harwell nuclear complex, bombards materials with charged particles or ions.

In the past, the only way to test radiation resistance has been to expose samples in research reactors for years.

Clinics Expanded

Because of a large turnout at family planning clinics in San Rafael, two more clinics, at 7 p.m. on the first and third Mondays of the month, have been scheduled at 920 Grand Avenue, according to Dr. Marilyn Hicks, assistant health officer of the Marin County Health Department. The extra clinics begin this month, she said.

Drake Grad Arrested In Berkeley Sit-In

One of the non-students arrested at the University of California sit-in Wednesday night was Michael J. Smith Jr., 25, former Marin resident and graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School.

Smith was still living in Corte Madera when, two years ago, he was one of the leaders of the Berkeley Free Speech Movement. He was expelled from the university last April for violating campus rules on political activity.

Smith, who was arrested during the FSM's Sproul Hall sit-in in 1964, was expelled in his senior year for manning a promotional table for the Peace Rights Organization Committee on campus.

His other activities have included registering of voters for the Freedom Democratic Party in Mississippi and Viet Nam war protests.

In March, 1965, he was arrested with 13 others in Hinds County, Miss., while working on a voter registration drive, and charged with disorderly conduct after refusing police orders to disperse outside the county courthouse.

Arrested in the University of California Student Union Building Wednesday on a warrant charging trespassing and creating a public nuisance, Smith gave his address as 2512 Regent Avenue, Berkeley.

Total enrollment in U.S. public and private schools and colleges will be about 56 million persons this fall.

Child Radios May Be Illegal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission has warned parents that use of the two-way radios they may buy their children for Christmas may be illegal.

The commission said yesterday walkie-talkies purchased for youngsters should have certificates saying that no operator's license is needed.

Such certificates are found only on extremely low-power sets. These are radios with less than 100 milliwatts-power capable of transmitting signals as much as a mile. Higher power sets require licenses.

A 'Little Secrecy' Is A Dangerous Beginning

Why do we keep insisting that public agencies strictly adhere to open meeting laws?

Are we being picayunish in taking up the cudgel each time a city council or a school board tries to bend the law for a little backroom "bull session" or an informal chat to "evaluate" employees?

Close friends and acquaintances of the officials who pull these stunts tend to defend these occasional closed door sessions. They take this tolerant attitude:

"We know them as upright and honest individuals. They have the best interest of the citizens (or school children) at heart. If they feel the need to meet in secret, why not let them."

This is the type of attitude that can eventually lead to news blackouts and government by star chamber methods.

Our critics would say, "Impossible. We'd stop them before they go that far."

But when? And how? A government based on elected representatives responsive to the people cannot operate half in the open and half under cover. Little secrets in government beget bigger secrets. And whenever secrecy becomes accepted practice, that seat of government will begin drawing the undesirables, the dishonest, and the wheelers and dealers with greedy hands extended into the secret back room where our "honest and upright" representatives are engaging in some innocent and informal "evaluation."

"It can't happen here!" we assure ourselves. But can't it?

Take the case of a city council, whose mayor calls a secret meeting with the simple explanation that "we want to discuss some personnel matters."

That's an all-inclusive phrase that can be stretched to cover anything from investing the public's money to rebuilding a street.

For example, the treasurer might complain that he doesn't have enough leeway in handling the city's cash and in the investing of funds. Since this involves a disgruntled employee, the mayor could use that as an excuse to close the doors on a "personnel" session.

The town's biggest landowner might want a city street paved in such a way that his new subdivision would be enhanced. This too could be lumped under "personnel" since it involves the town's most influential personality.

Any and all items on the agenda of a public meeting could be whisked aside into the secret backroom at the whim of the mayor or council or board. And securely locked in the back room, the council and its chosen few could thrash out everything from the city charter to payoffs by a secret gambling joint in town without the public's knowledge.

The anti-secrecy laws are in the books to prevent just this type of encroachment on the public's right to know how its money is being spent and how its officials are performing. And the laws are written specifically so that even a wavering official who might otherwise bend to sinister pressure will be able to point to the law and say, "The public must be informed."

The only closed meetings allowed by law are to hire and fire employees or to hear charges against them. Nothing else—"personnel matters" or "evaluation sessions"—are given the privilege of secrecy.

Even charges made against an employee must be heard in the open if the accused employee requests an open hearing.

Several public agencies in Marin have recently tried, some successfully, to invoke the secrecy privilege on discussions that are legitimately public business. Those that have may wear a self-satisfied smirk in having outwitted the public.

But it won't be for long. Any public official who closes the doors for any purpose other than to hire, fire, or hear charges is defying the law and cheating the public.

An honest official with public interest at heart has nothing to hide. Those who persist in closing the doors for "personnel" or "evaluation" sessions must have something sinister to hide or must be embarking on some conspiracy for self gain.

Such sessions cannot continue for long under our form of government because either one of two things must occur:

1. A community that tolerates such secret meetings is asking for corruption. It will turn government and public funds over to the select few to dispense with as they please. Representative government will cease to exist.

2. A community that will not tolerate such shenanigans will see that the offending official or officials will be kicked out.

A clear line must be drawn between secret government and open government. There can be no gray area. Allow that gray area to expand, and we'll end up with a government as black as Hitler's or Tojo's.

No, we're not being picayunish. The very foundation of representative self government is at stake.

Anything they can do, Marin should do better.

Houde Hospital Stay Creates Questions

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Robert Strebeigh's article on Mr. Leo Houde (Curiosity Saves His Life, etc.) published Friday, Nov. 25, confuses me.

It also raises these questions:

I assume Mr. Houde had an X-ray on the TB Society's mobile unit, hence tuberculosis was suspected when a shadow was noted.

But, from the article, I conclude — though it never so states—that he did not have tuberculosis. Why, then, was he put in the TB hospital?

And what about the 63 cents total cost business? Does the author imply we may ALL look forward to such generous medical care? Under what circumstances?

If this man is getting welfare assistance, then why the "he has paid his own way, etc"? Certainly it is no disgrace to receive assistance, but it should be made clear how we can go about getting this medical bounty.

Finally, if this man was on assistance and his hospitalization was being paid by the county, do we conclude this is the reason he was put in the TB section of the hospital — whether or not he had this very contagious disease?

Couple Counts Their Blessings

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Today, (Sunday, Nov. 27), we lost our 3-month-old German Shepherd puppy. A victim of a hit-and-run driver.

Although a loss of this nature is a bitter tragedy for our little 6-year-old daughter playing with the puppy and unfortunately witnessing the accident, I can only thank God that we did not experience a greater tragedy.

It is difficult to understand the lack of maturity or lack of intelligence that is possessed by a person driving without due caution through a residential district. I can only pray that the driver of the car, (I believe it was a blue Mustang) will profit by this experience and realize that as a small puppy can dart out into a street to be crushed to death, so can a small child.

Speaker Speaks Up On Sex Experience

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Quite a surprise—Leave the county for a few days after some community free-work for Planned Parenthood and find a minor controversy stirring.

. . . I was one of four on a panel appearing Tuesday, Nov. 12, from 12 to 2, at College of Marin, by invitation. In the two-hour session I probably spoke about 10-15 minutes. My main theme was that I disliked the "permissive" attitude toward sex, characteristic of Playboy philosophy, on the basis that this was detrimental to the best atmosphere for raising children. As clinical evidence I cited examples of the fragmentation of children where a mother or father has outside involvements, generally reacted to as disloyalty.

The aim of my comments was to increase rather than decrease youth feelings of responsibility toward sex and parenthood. And this is the theme of Planned Parenthood—other interpretations to the contrary.

In response to a question about pre-marital sex experiences, I cited an example of a couple I know, married 34 years, happily, who maintain that innocence had happy consequences in their case, and that they felt this "the only way to fly." I also mentioned that for some boys, pre-marital success in heterosexual relationships increased their confidence in cases where they were vulnerable to angry women (mothers) in their history. I also stated that some couples allege their belief that pre-marital experience by both boys and girls has led to their happiness; and have had this opinion backed by some psychiatrist friends of mine.

I never encouraged, recommended, nor condoned either alternative, simply cited cases and some professional viewpoints; suggesting that it is a pretty personal decision for young people.

All that appeared in Carol Marsh's article was a short piece of this response to a question. It was not far off as a sentence, but as an only reading of my view and intent, missed the mark a good bit.

Carol called later and I requoted my recollection of the veiwpoint which she wrote up for Nov. 24—and later called again showing concern that the amended article had deleted the explanatory note! (And who knows how much, or if this letter will appear in print.)

Personally I am not too alarmed at being slightly misquoted, since, as an old hand in semantics (this, my 18th year at the College of Marin) some distortions between "sender" and "receiver" are unavoidable. And when it goes to print, further distortions are to be expected.

The mischievous part is where someone takes the distortion as the "real scoop" and then makes further bad translations and accusations without so much as checking the original message-sender's intent or meaning. (A characteristic example appeared in the Nov. 24 letter column.)

One of the prime sources of human insult is where the "receiver" believes his or her translation to be the true meaning or real intent of the message sender. Evidence of these tragedies come up in my office in the vast majority of domestic family crises.

And the sad part is that very few people have the skill or philosophical sophistication to avoid compounding these simple fractures in human communication.

As a semanticist and birthright Quaker I have spent much of my life seeking reconciliation of diverse views, and have sought to improve communication and understanding. And I believe virtue and honesty yield the greatest dividends. The evening of the same day I was at the College of Marin, I also talked by invitation at one of our theological seminaries on Improving Communication.

I hope this serves to clarify the situation.

MARIN POLITICAL VIEWS

GOP Committee Of Five Will Screen Marin Job Applicants

By WAT TAKESHITA

GERALD E. MISNER, chairman of the Marin County Republican Central Committee and member of the Northern California screening committee for the Reagan Administration, has announced the members of the Marin County screening committee.

Takeshita

They are Assemblyman William T. Bagley, legislative representative; Paul R. Haerle, who was Marin County chairman for Ronald Reagan; Edwin Grunstrom, county chairman for Robert Finch; and Charles Daniels Jr., San Rafael businessman.

Misner and his Marin screening committee will have a big voice in any Marin County appointments to state jobs. And their work will continue for several years because all appointments won't come at once.

Immediate attention will go to such jobs as the inheritance tax appraisers (held by two Democrats), state consumer counsel (Helen Nelson of Mill Valley), and Roger Garety's $14,000 per year job on the Alcoholic Beverage Control Appeals Board.

THE RETIREMENT of San Francisco Judge Lenore Underwood is getting widespread attention in Marin because one of the candidates for the post has Marin connections. Janet Aitken, an attorney in the San Francisco DA's office, is mentioned as a possible successor to Judge Underwood.

Miss Aitken is a member of the Belvedere Sailing Society, and her mother, Mrs. Ralph Curtis, lives in Belvedere. In Marin sailing circles, Miss Aitken is described as a "good sailor and a good skipper." They figure she'll be able to dispense justice on an even keel.

POSTMASTER WARREN Williams of San Rafael is reported ready to retire, and several are seeking the post.

Among them: Hugh Cassidy, Williams' assistant; and the postmaster at Hamilton Field.

Marin's Republican and Democratic Central Committees will hold their first post-election meetings next week. Should be quite a contrast.

The GOP will have a gala "victory" dinner at Sabella's Monday night.

The Democrats will meet in the San Rafael courthouse on Tuesday night to assess the damage wrought on Nov. 8.

BENNETT CERF

GOOD EDITORS are difficult to find these days, but one publisher I know finally got fed up with a brilliant but temperamental aide and summoned him to his inner sanctum. "Young man," he declaimed, "I no longer care how good an editor you are. You've mislaid three manuscripts, fallen asleep twice, and last week you didn't come in at all. I've had just about all from you I can take."

The editor listened with a condescending smile, then patted the publisher on the arm. "Boss," he declared magnanimously, "I'm going to give you one more chance!"

ON HIS NINETIETH birthday, philosopher John Dewey was asked: "What good has all your thinking done for you?" Dewey replied, It's taught me to climb mountains." "So you climb mountains," mocked the reporter. "What has THAT gotten you?" "I saw other mountains," smiled John Dewey. "And when you're no longer interested in climbing mountains to see other mountains, you might as well give up."

Russia Casts Cloud Over New Moscow-New York Air Service

WASHINGTON— The Soviets are casting a nasty cloud over the arrangements for Russian and U.S. commercial planes to fly a non-stop service between Moscow and New York.

When U.S. and Soviet officials began talking about it, and, indeed, until a few days ago, it certainly looked like a worth-while idea—good for the Soviet Union, good for the United States, and capable of doing nobody any harm.

Capable of doing nobody any harm?

Now, we can't be so sure. In fact, the Soviets have committed an act which puts a pall over the whole project and, if they do not do something to remove doubts they have now created, the American government should, reluctantly but firmly, say no—no reciprocal Moscow-to-New York Air service.

THIS IS THE regrettable consequence of what happened a few days ago:

On Oct. 31 an American citizen of Czech birth, Vladimir Kazan-Komarek, boarded a Soviet Aeroflot air plane in Moscow for a scheduled and announced direct non-stop flight to Paris. Kazan-Komarek, who runs the Harvard Travel Service in Cambridge, Mass., had been attending an international conference of travel agents in Moscow and his Aeroflot ticket stipulated that his next stop would be Paris.

His next stop was a Communist jail in Prague. The Soviet air craft found it had a little mechanical trouble at just the right time in just the right place to drop down and turn Kazan-Komarek, an American, over to the Czech police who arrested him while the Soviet plane was being "repaired," seized his luggage and has kept him in prison ever since.

AND HOW DOES this incident bear upon the projected U.S.-Soviet, Moscow-to-New York non-stop commercial air service? Not at all if it could be counted upon to be a non-stop service.

But in light of the convenient "trouble" and the convenient stop which the non-stop Soviet plane made to deliver an American into the outstretched hands of the Czech police, what assurance is there that the newly planned non-stop Soviet planes, supposed to go direct from Moscow to New York, won't make unscheduled stops to service other Communist police?

Bearing in mind that behind the Iron Curtain a man is guilty until proved innocent and that a foreign passport or a bundle of newspapers are evidence you're a spy, how can Americans or other westerners board a Moscow-to-New York Soviet plane with any assurance that New York will be the next stop?

IF, IN VIEW of what happened to Mr. Kazan-Komarek, we still go ahead with this Moscow-to-New York-to Moscow deal, what protection have American citizens that it won't happen over and over again? In self-protection will the U.S. be compelled to see if it can arrange for a non-stop Pan-American flight from Moscow to New York stop for "repairs" in, say, West Berlin, to deliver an East German Commnist?

If this is the kind of thing we are going to get into, would it not be better to call off the whole thing? I am not suggesting that the Czech police may not have reasons which seem very good to them to be displeased with Kazan-Komerek when he was an anti-Communist Czech.

I am saying that for the Soviet Union to collaborate with the Czech police in abusing the rules of international air travel to help another country capture and jail an American citizen raises the gravest doubt whether the U.S. should put itself further into the hands of such a device by extending it to the projected Moscow-New York service.

This is another example of how the Soviets think they can push the U.S. around and we should not be pushed. The best way the Soviets can show they do not intend to use this ugly and intolerable device again is to find a way to remove Kazan-Komarek from the hands of the Czech police.

Romney And Nixon In Senate Test

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — A possible early test of strength between the two leading Republican presidential hopefuls is shaping up in the Senate.

Gov. George Romney and former Vice President Richard Nixon are privately supporting separate candidates for the influential chairmanship of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee.

Sen. Hugh Scott, Pa., one-time GOP National Chairman, is being backed by Romney to replace Sen. Thruston Morton, Ky., when he steps down in January. Sen. George Murphy, Calif., has the support of Nixon.

FULLY RECOVERED from a throat operation, Murphy is seeking the post so he can be influential in the 1968 presidential convention. Sen. Scott, with the help of Romney partisans, is appealing to senators for whom he campaigned in the recent election. These include Sens.-elect Edward Brooke, Mass., and Charles Percy, Ill.

Two other aspirants are in the field for the chairmanship —Sens. John Tower, Tex., and Jack Miller, Iowa, both re-elected for second terms early this month.

POPULAR GOVERNORS and senators already are letting it be known they are thinking of running in their state primaries as "favorite son" candidates.

That would virtually torpedo any blitz strategy by Nixon and Romney. It would be far too risky to challenge a "favorite son" in his own bailiwick.

A number of such aspirants already are in the field, as follows:

Sen. Norris Cotton, of New Hampshire—where the first of these primaries takes place. He has no chance for the No. 1 spot, but would like a whirl at the vice presidency.

Sen. Jacob Javits of New York—whose chances for the top place are remote, but who strongly fancies himself as a vice presidential hopeful. The New York and California delegations will be the largest at the GOP convention, and their support could be crucial.

GOV. JAMES RHODES of Ohio—recently overwhelmingly re-elected, he is eyeing bigger political prizes. His partisans are talking of Rhodes as a presidential prospect, and he is certain to go to the convention as his state's "favorite son" candidate.

Newly-elected Sen. Charles Percy—young, wealthy, photogenic and energetically ambitious, who also is being talked of as his party's standard-bearer. He too is sure to come to the convention as Illinois' "favorite son."

Gov. Warren Knowles of Wisconsin—who won sweeping re-election and for whom plans already are underway to run as his state's "favorite son" hopeful. In the past Wisconsin has been an important pre-convention battleground. But with Knowles actively in the field, that would virtually preclude Romney and Nixon from entering that primary.

Recently-elected Sen. Mark Hatfield of Oregon — another young, popular state leader who is sure to pre-empt his state's delegation.

Way To Meet School Growth, Just 'Shrink' The District

A majority of the trustees appear to favor shrinking the district by 968 acres by giving the and on the west side of Tennessee Valley to the Sausalito School District, thus disposing of the 100 students expected to live there someday.

Without a trace of regret, trustees also look to the day, under unification, when Strawberry and East Alto may become part of the Reed District. This would lop off 480 pupils from the maximum enrollment expected.

CITY OFFICIALS have objected, however, that the district should retain the Tennessee Valley property, which now pays more in property taxes than it costs to educate the four pupils there. The district should not shed pieces of its tax base, officials insist.

Sausalito District trustees proposed the deal to avoid duplication of school facilities in the valley, now neatly split almost down the middle by the two districts. Sausalito also wants the rest of the valley to improve the racial mix of students in the district. This reason concedes that housing in Tennessee Valley will be segregated. Sausalito also wants to broaden its tax base.

Mill Valley trustees have offered no reason for giving up the land, except to note that the reduction in maximum student population would allow a smaller "middle school" on Camino Alto at Project 17. Trustees are to decide the issue Dec. 12.

THE QUESTION of future student enrollment is critical now as trustees plan the "middle school" for sixth, seventh and eighth grade students. If Tennessee Valley, Strawberry and East Alto were excluded, the district could plan a middle school for about 1,200 students, according to the district's estimates of maximum enrollment. That's a big "if."

Guidelines adopted by the trustees and city council for joint development of Project 17 for the school and recreation facilities stipulate that the district "has prepared and adopted as a statement of policy, a master plan of schools showing ultimate size and function."

This has not been done.

EVERY TIME the council reminds the trustees of this condition, the trustees point to the July 25 progress report by the Professional Council on the district's educational program. "That's our master plan," they say. But city officials see no master plan.

Citing informal suggestions by some trustees that additions could be made to the "middle school" later, or that a second "middle school" may be necessary someday, or that all district schools could be grouped in a "campus" at project 17 someday, Mayor Albert E. White conceded to trustees this week that he as "a little bit concerned."

"We need to know where the school is going," he said. "Before we hire an architect we have to know the program to feed into him. We can't talk to him without telling him what to build.

"I NEED TO be assured — my hand has to be held — I need to be assured that you won't come back in four years and ask for another school there."

The trustees, of course, pointed again to their "master plan."

Sausalito's People-to-People committee has launched a drive to raise $1,200 for the coming year to finance a second exchange of students between Tamalpais High School and a public school in the city's sister city, Vina Del Mar, Chile.

In February, the committee will start selecting a student for the exchange. Chairman of the fund drive is Loren L. Jay, 88 Central Avenue, Sausalito.

20 YEARS AGO

Tamalpais High School District purchased 13 acres of property adjoining Sir Francis Drake High School for $38,000 for a new high school site.

ART BUCHWALD

'Vot? I Vas True Nazi During The Entire Var—Heil Hitler!'

WASHINGTON — There was a spate of so-called neo-Nazi activity in last week's Bavarian elections in Germany and naturally everyone who lived through World War II is slightly nervous.

What the emergence of a new right wing in Germany means is hard to say, but it's quite possible that after denying for 20 years that they were Nazis, many former members of the party might feel it politically wise to insist they were.

"Herr Schmidt, you're very kind to see me in your Bavarian Schloss. There are rumors that you were a member of the Nazi Party."

"VAT DO YOU mean rumors? I was a loyal Nazi till the very end."

"But in your testimony at the Nuremberg trials you denied it."

"Lies, all lies. Ask anyone. Ven you thought of Schmidt, you thought of Nazis, and ven you thought of Nazis, you thought of Schmidt."

"But surely, sir, you were a minor functionary, a victim of circumstances."

"Are you trying to ruin my political career? I was Gauleiter in charge of an entire district. Would you like to see my black boots?"

"But even so you said at your trial that you didn't know Eichmann."

"Vat do you mean I didn't know Eichmann? I vas his best friend. Ve vorked side by side in the same office. Ve shared the same locker."

"BUT ISN'T IT true that you only followed orders?"

"Vat kind of question is that? I gave the orders. Vas I some sort of robot who just did what people told me to do?"

"I guess what has confused me was your testimony at Nuremberg."

"I vas in a daze at Nuremberg. I couldn't remember anything. But it's all come back to me now. If you don't believe me, read the record."

"You said you had become disillusioned with Adolph Hitler in 1933 and you only stayed in the party because you were afraid of being put into prison."

"That's ridiculous. I luffed Hitler like a brother. He gave me the Iron Cross and I still have an autographed photo taken with him and Eva Braun. Here it is in my campaign literature."

"THEN YOU WERE not in on the plot to kill Hitler in 1944?"

"I vas the one who discovered the plot and saved his life."

"You also said at Nuremberg that you never knew there were any concentration camps in Germany."

"How could I say such a thing ven I built them? I vas the father of the concentration camps."

"You certainly seem to be a different man than you were in 1946."

"I VAS CAUGHT up in the emotions of the time. I hope people will judge me now, not by what I said in 1946, but by what I did in 1939."

"Well, thank you, sir."

"It vas my pleasure, and by the way, Heil Hitler!"

Moon Landing Timetable Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. space scientist says relatively safe landings on the moon probably can be made during a four-day period each month.

According to messages from Explorer 33, there are four days each month that the moon passes through the earth's magnetosphere shielding earth from high energy particles emitted by solar flares.

Dr. Norman F. Ness of the Goddard Space Flight Center at Greenbelt, Md., says in a paper prepared for a Boston space conference this week that these periods might be a safe time to land men on the moon. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration released the paper yesterday.

Senator Urges Nike Speed Up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Richard B. Russell stepped into the burgeoning Nike-X controversy today by declaring that the Pentagon should move ahead at once with all phases of the costly missile defense system.

"I think it's time to make a determination that we're going to defend our people," said the Georgia Democrat, the powerful chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee and the military appropriations subcommittee.

Despite intense pressure from Congress, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara has been delaying a decision on whether the United States should go all-out to build Nike-X, a multi-billion-dollar defense against Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles (ICBMs).

Fusselman

Yes indeed we have them all. We have Route 17. We have Project 17. And we have a Civic Center for Novato and we have "The" Civic Center. Route 17 is a pain in the neck—Project 17 (for a middle school and recreation area) is joyously being promoted by the Mill Valley folks.

Novato's Civic Center, perforce, will be in keeping with that city's ability to finance.

"THE" CIVIC CENTER financing is in a tough spot and no mistake.

There is something mighty strange about the appraisal figures now being discussed for the courthouse property.

In 1952, when we were considering construction of a two- or three-story building with two basements on the Fourth Street side of the square to tie in with the courthouse, we were offered around $1 million for the property. They even said that they didn't want the building—just the land.

Now, since the beginning of 1958, there have been two or more appraisals made of all San Rafael properties—one by the reappraisal commission and the others by the assessor's office. These have shown sizable increases in values, as the property owners along Fourth Street can attest to.

Yet, after spending several thousand dollars for consulting fees, they have been talking about $800,000 or even less. This includes the $600,000 four-floor annex on Fifth Avenue. It looks like this is a panic situation.

HAD THE PRESENT board of supervisors had courage enough to put the real amount needed for the Hall of Justice in the bond issue, with assurance that in due course the courthouse property would be sold and the proceeds plus interest would be used for payments on the bonds, it would have carried. One of the last things I voted on as a supervisor was for the submission of the proposition to the voters. Then I supported the bond election in this column.

I thought then that they were cutting it pretty close, but knew that if I had said anything in that regard the cry would have gone up that I was trying to defeat the offer.

If the property is sold for less than its value in 1952, you, the taxpayers will be called upon to make up the difference by a direct tax. I sincerely believe it would be better to cut out the elaborate, costly operation in our county government—tax for the amount that is needed and then in an unhurried manner, without the panic pressure, sell the property for what it is really worth, and then apply that to the retirement of the bonds. This can be done. Let's hope it will be.

WHEN CHAIRMAN Leydecker makes the statement that "the board (has) asked the Division of Highways to come in and make freeway studies for two consecutive years and then asked delays," he is a little off target. In 1962, our late chairman, Walter Castro, and I together with other officials attended a meeting set up by the state in San Rafael High School, where they showed us large room-wide aerial maps with projections of possible routes they were considering for a freeway to the coast. In 1964, when some division engineers appeared before the board with State Chamber of Commerce officials, I asked them what progress they were making in the studies, as folks were asking us about it. This was not asking them to come and make studies but rather what studies they were making on the project they had initiated themselves.

'Human Growth Laboratory' Group Planned

A group, who will meet to share problems and emotions with each other and to learn more about themselves, is planned for Marin County.

Called a "Human Growth Laboratory," the group is the idea of Rev. G. R. Oaks, pastor of the Mill Valley Methodist Church, and Maurice A. Lupini of San Rafael.

Oaks, a family and youth counselor at his church and a former volunteer teacher at San Quentin Prison, said yesterday:

"This process of sharing and interpersonal relating often helps individuals to cope with life's problems and crises much more effectively and realistically."

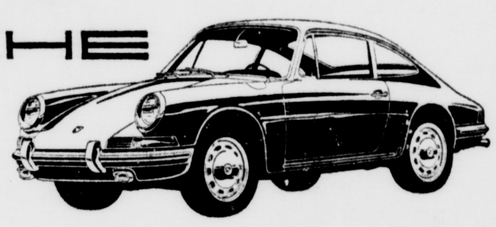

The first meeting will be held at the Rancho Rafael Garden Motel in Ignacio, Dec. 11 at 7:30 p.m.

Oaks said the group meeting will be open to men and women over 18. There will be 20 sessions of three hours each, one session a week.

Marin Held Key To Need Of New Span

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Developers in Marin hold the key to whether a second crossing of the San Francisco Bay is needed immediately, according to James H. Hickey, planning director of the Assn. of Bay Area Governments.

He was presenting ABAG's preliminary plan to a meeting of the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission here yesterday. Originally announced Nov. 4, the plan will go before the general assembly of ABAG Dec. 16.

Emphasizing transportation aspects of the plan, Hickey explained high-speed ferryboats from Sausalito to San Francisco could eliminate the immediate need for a second crossing.

It all depended on whether land development in Marin followed the proposed land use plan as envisaged by the "city centered" concept favored by ABAG's preliminary proposals.

This concept saw the building of compact cities and the discouraging of scattered development.

"If scattered low density residential development is permitted to continue (in Marin)," he said, "a second crossing will be clearly required at an early date."

On the other hand, Hickey said that if cities such as San Rafael and Novato drew the greatest development, greater use could be made of the San Rafael-Richmond Bridge. The Golden Gate Bridge could, in the meantime, continue to cope with future traffic if it had a second deck.

Marin Jurors Quickly Declare Berg Guilty

A Marin Superior Court jury had lunch, then took less than two hours yesterday to convict Ronald Harold Berg, 21, of the Aug. 17 armed robbery of Edgewater Inn Motel in Corte Madera.

Judge Thomas F. Keating scheduled a probation report and judgment for 9:30 a.m. Dec. 23.

Berg and a companion entered the motel office, tied up clerk Milo Johnson, and looted the office safe of about $1,000.

They also took $100 from the wallet of a motel patron who entered the office to confirm reservations.

A palm print identified as Berg's and found on the safe inner door lent heavily to the prosecution's case. Too, Berg signed a confession while being held in San Francisco City Jail for questioning in another armed robbery. He testified in the trial, however, that he confessed only to get out of a cell he described as miserable.

Berg still faces felony charges of concealing stolen property and being a felon in possession of weapons. He was also indicted by Marin County Grand Jury Wednesday for escape from county jail Nov. 23, and on two counts of robbery and two counts of kidnaping in his following six hours of freedom.

The armed robbery trial was prosecuted by Michael Anthony, deputy district attorney. Berg was defended by Harold J. Truett, assistant public defender.

Association Plans Officer Election

Marin County Retired Officers Assn. members will elect a slate of new officers during a meeting at the Hamilton Air Force Base Officers' Club at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 17.

Retired Marine Col. Robert C. Hiatt has been nominated for president. Others nominated include: Navy CWO Glen A. Thayer, first vice president; Air Force CWO Harold H. Warriner, second vice president; Army Capt. Alfred T. Little, third vice president; Army Lt. Col. Glyn W. Pohl, chaplain; Army Col. Fred C. Prebil, sergeant-at-arms; Army Capt. Edward F. Springer, secretary-treasurer, and Army Col. Arthur A. Watson, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Heart Attacks At Grid Games

CHICAGO (SS) — Injuries at football games are not confined to players.

At the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, for example, heart attacks endanger one and sometimes two spectators during the home games, which bring 65,000 cheering fans to the stadium.

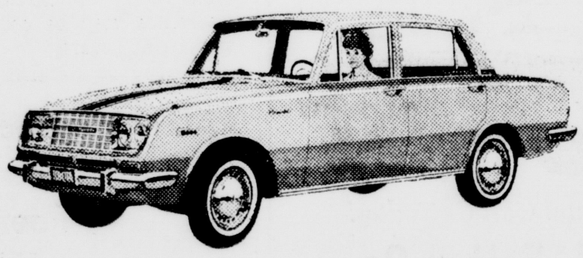

So far in 1966, three fatalities have been prevented by the quick action of physicians, nurses, technicians and volunteers manning a specially set-up room.

The resuscitation unit, equipped with an electrocardiograph, defibrillator and oscilloscope, is believed to be the only one of its kind in the U. S., Dr. Kenneth D. Rose, chief, medical research, University Health Services, reports in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Greens Sale Will Feature Hundreds Of Holiday Wreaths

Hundreds of Christmas wreaths, traditional, as well as those made of dried materials: decorated Yule logs, jeweled Christmas trees and shelves of unusual holiday decorations go on sale Dec. 9, beginning at 10 a.m. at the Decoration Guild's annual Christmas Green's sale at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

Opening Friday morning the sale runs through Sunday. On Friday night the salesroom will stay open until 10 p.m. and on Saturday and Sunday until 5 p.m.

On hand also will be bundles of do-it-yourself greenery which can be taken home by those who wish to do their own creating. As usual, the Pixie Parents, another Center organization, will have their special Christmas cupboard filled with homemade pies, cakes, cookies and other holiday goodies.

For months now, Guild members have been converting most of their year-long decorative efforts toward preparing things for this annual sale. Guild president and general chairman is Mrs. William Millen.

"The holiday hostess can find unusual and original decorations for her holiday table, her tree, her front door or just for holiday use in general. Besides green wreaths, she can find fruit wreaths, modern Christmas ball wreaths and even cone wreaths, and probably find them in a shade to match her own decor, as well as in the more traditional Christmas shades," Mrs. Millen indicated.

Novelty things like angels, sugar plum trees, kissing balls and Christmas bears have been turned out in great numbers for the seasonal sale.

On the Green's Sale committee are Mesdames R. L. Hibbett, assisted by John Corson Smith and E. L. Dial, dried material plaques and wreathmaking; Irving Randall, assisted by Charles Guilder, green wreaths and swags; Theodore McCarthy and Jerome Flax, greens collecting; Robert J. Barnecut, greens processing, R. M. Hohlt and Harold E. Bickerdike, sugar plum trees; Fred Sloat and Richard Murphy, yule logs; William Andrews, staffing; John C. Smith, pricing; Dion Ramsey-Raisan and J. Perke Stone, decorating.

Humane Society Group To Hold Yule Party

The Auxiliary of the Marin County Humane Society will hold its annual Christmas Party on Dec. 15 at Peacock Gap Country Club.

Mesdames E. S. Bodine and G. H. Hamilton are chairmen for the event which will begin at 11:30 a.m. with luncheon at 12:30 p.m.

New members will be welcomed at the party.

Miss Rhodes Is Bride Of Lance Becker

For her wedding the bride wore a royal blue suit with natural mink hat.

The bride was graduated from Terra Linda High School and is attending the La Salle University extension for stenotype. Janice and Jack H. Rhodes III of San Rafael are her sister and brother. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Florence Rhodes of Novato.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Becker of San Rafael, was graduated from Terra Linda High and attended College of Marin and Texas Western University. He is serving with the U.S. Army in Fort Bliss, Tex. He is the brother of Michael Becker of Petaluma and Leslie, Gregory and Antoinette Becker of San Rafael.

Following a wedding trip to the Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico, the couple will reside in Fort Bliss.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

A Weekend For Gala Festivities—

By MOLLY MARIN

Tonight's Hunt Ball will highlight a weekend of festivities for the Los Altos Hunt Club. Planning to attend the dinner at the Burlingame Country Club which will precede the ball at The Carolands in Hillsborough are the William McDevitts of San Rafael and the Niels Schultzes Jr. of Greenbrae. The Carolands is Countess Lillian Dandini's Napoleonic chateau. On Saturday the two Marin families will participate in the races to be held in Gurnsey Field at the northeast corner of Whiskey Hill and Sand Hill Roads in Woodside.

MARIN YACHTSMEN have received invitations to a cocktail party and fashion showing of the spring 1967 collection of Vincent Monte-Sano and Pruzan from 6 to 8 p.m. Dec. 15 at the St. Francis Yacht Club. The affair will benefit the newly formed San Francisco Bay Sailing Assn., which was organized to assist in the training of amateur yachtsmen for participation in international, national and intersectional competition including the Olympic and Pan American games. Famed fashion designer Monte-Sano will come from New York to present the showing. Vincent Monte-Sano is himself a fine yachtsman who sails on the East Coast and was a member of the crew of the Columbia, America's cup contender. He has been on several of the St. Francis Yacht Club's stag cruises to Tinsley Island, and, enthused with the work being done to encourage potential sailing champions in the bay area, offered to preview his spring collection locally in support of the plan.

He and his wife Peggy are friends of Mr. and Mrs. James Michael of Belvedere. Jim is president and director of the new association. Other Marinites on the board are William L. Stewart III of San Rafael, vice president and director; T. L. Schoonmaker of San Rafael, vice president and director; Douglas Boswell of San Rafael, director; Patrick Kirrane of Belvedere, director; and Dr. Emmet Rixford of Sausalito, director.

MRS. MICHAEL and her daughter Janetta have just returned from a two week trip to Texas, where they visited colleges in Beaumont, Austin, Dallas, Corpus Christi and Houston. Janetta, a senior at San Domenico, wants to attend college in her mother's native state. Lu Michael grew up in Beaumont. During their stay mother and daughter visited relatives who own a ranch at Junction, Tex.

NANCY ELIZABETH Pompei, daughter of the Frank Pompeis of Mill Valley, who will became the bride of Gayne George Conyers of Mill Valley on Sunday, entertained her attendants last Sunday at a luncheon at Tiburon Tommie's. Also attending were her mother and aunt, Mrs. Victor Udaloff of Novato, who gave a bridal shower for Nancy recently. Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Harry Campbell of Mill Valley, with whom the bridegroom lives, will be hosts at a rehearsal dinner for the wedding party at the Buckeye restaurant, Mill Valley.

THE MEADOW CLUB members and guests will gather Dec. 13 at the club for the annual Christmas party. Cocktails will be served at noon before the luncheon and the program will feature Christmas music. The co-chairmen are Mrs. Einar Blak and Mrs. Frank Paganini.

The Women's Golf Section of the Meadow Club will have its Christmas luncheon two days later, on Dec. 15.

"COME FOR jazz and juice on Dec. 17 read invitations from the Charles Eberles of Belvedere. Dixieland jazz and holiday hospitality will be shared by 150 friends of the couple.

THE ROBERT D. HAYESES of the Reedlands, Tiburon, have been enjoying a vacation in Jamaica and visited New Orleans also on their return.

THE HAROLD T. Rogerses, sailing enthusiasts who live on the Sausalito waterfront, have returned from the Hawaiian Islands, where they sailed at Honolulu, Lahaina and Maunakea. Betty believes the new Maunakea Beach resort hotel must be one of the most beautiful places of the kind in the world.

The Rogerses spent four days on each of the islands of Maui and Kauai and a week in Honolulu, where they visited the George Furuyas and their son Clarence and daughter Dorothy, each of whom has a home in a different part of Honolulu. The Furuyas spend about eight months of the year in the islands and four months at their home in Sausalito.

MR. AND MRS. John K. Welch, of Mill Valley, longtime Marin residents, returned recently from a week's vacation in Palm Springs. Accompanying them was John K. Jr., their son, who recently completed his Army training at Ft. Ord, and will be living at home again.

ALL ABOARD FOR SYMPHONY!

The first of a series of Thursday programs of the San Francisco Symphony brought out a busload of Marinites who have season reservations for the charter buses to take them from Greenbrae Shopping Center, here, or Strawberry Shopping Center to Union Square for lunch and on to the Opera House for the concert. Enjoying the new symphony set-up from Marin are, from left, Mesdames James Tufts II, Joseph Christopher, William Ecker, George McKenna and Stanley Kane, assisted by driver Keith L. Grimm of the bus charter service. (Independent-Journal photo)

WOMEN'S NEWS PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A new guide for press chairmen who are interested in getting news into the Marin Women's Society Section of the Independent-Journal is now available in the San Rafael, Mill Valley, Tiburon and Novato offices of the newspaper.

The booklet "Getting News Into Your Newspaper" is to assist press chairmen for Marin women's organizations.

Features in the guide tell how to handle stories and picture requests.

AAUW Speaker To Be Noted Bay Area Poet

Dr. James Schevill, noted Bay Area poet, will be the guest speaker for the Creative Writing Workshop of the American Assn. of University Women, Marin Branch. The workshop will meet at the home of Mrs. Warren Marcus in San Rafael on Monday.

Dr. Schevill is the director of the Poetry Center and associate professor of English at San Francisco State College.

Paris Designers Stressing Fluidity

PARIS (AP) — Winter hasn't begun, but Paris ready-to-wear designers have already shown spring collections of lovely sunshine colors, dazzling new prints and a floating, mobile silhouette with hemlines two to three inches above the knees.

All 25 of the designers, who have just held their shows, are stressing fluidity. Their fullness swirls, their pleats twirl, and their shifts softly skim the figure.

Cut-in necklines, bare shoulders, and unexpected cutouts show plenty of bare body to take care of the sex appeal. Plunging backlines are criss-crossed with harnessings and apron straps studded with gold, silver or jeweled buttons.

Coats swing. A new back suppleness goes into the coat below the hips, cut on the bias and joined by a stitched welted seam to a straight top, or cut higher at a short empire waistline. When bias cut entirely, it swings softly.

Jersey knits have taken hold to meet the needs of speed, travel and comfort. Molyneux-Maille models for after dark are treated to touches of glitter, or knights' chain armor. Tricosa's are pretty, carefully detailed and well made.

Colors are all the sunshine shades, orange in several tones, lemons from bitter to the ripest, soft Bengal rose and hot pink, all the lavenders, pansy mauves and bluebell, several clear reds, and raw salad green — all shown alone or daringly mixed.

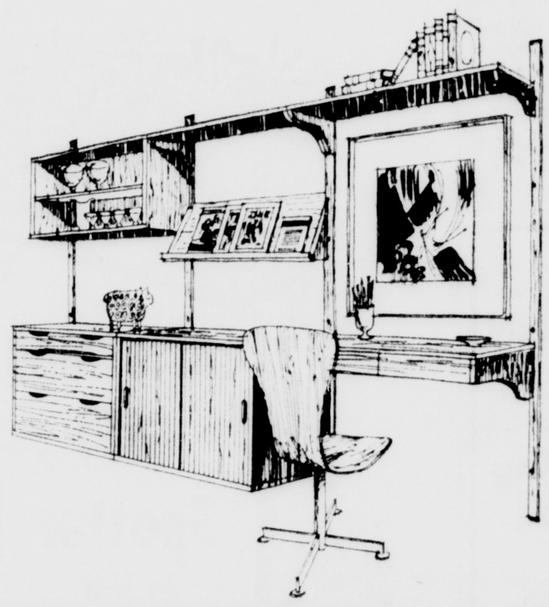

The ready-to-wear business is growing and spreading. Yves Saint Laurent is opening new boutiques all over the world and Pierre Cardin plans to do likewise for his line of men's wear.

Adult Members Of Camp Fire Win Awards For Assistance

Those receiving the Wakan Service Award for leadership and creative guidance over a five-year period were Mrs. John Polach, Mrs. Marvin Buell, Corte Madera; Mrs. Robert Coman, San Rafael; Mrs. Russell Rhoads, Terra Linda, and Mrs. William Dudley, Mill Valley.

The Charlotte Joy Farnsworth Award for distinctive contribution in district operation over a three-year period was presented to Mrs. Dan Anderson, Novato; Mrs. Philip McCoy, Kentfield, and Mrs. Edwin Eastland of Terra Linda.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Husband's 'Outside' Interests Practically Given Green Light

DEAR HELEN:

Please advise "Mrs. Nobody" that she is not alone.

The majority of all middle-aged married men have at one time or another had an affair with some girl young enough to be their daughter. Why, is the mystery of the ages . . or maybe "age" explains the mystery.

I, too, have been married 20 years. In that span, I have managed to break up at least five romances. Currently it is the young mother of several small children. I can understand a married man having outside interests, but tell me, Helen, what kind of a mother would stoop so low? And what kind of husband must she have to allow this? They are neighbors of ours.

My advice to "Mrs. Nobody" is to fight and keep on fighting for her man — and never lose her sense of humor, if she still loves him. — NEVER GAVE UP

DEAR NGU:

Don't measure "the majority" by your footloose husband's yardstick. Not all men have wives whose expectations and "sense of humor" practically give a green light to their "outside interests." — H.

DEAR HELEN:

"Mrs. Nobody's" letter hit a nerve.

Don't sell these "junior sirens" short, Helen. They're dangerous! I smiled at her immaturity, I pitied her secretly, but today that infatuated teenager is his wife; smug, shameless and secure after stealing another woman's husband.

She didn't mess around with my husband just to sharpen her sex appeal. She saw all the goodies years of hard work and sacrifice had produced and she wanted them.

A middle-aged man who finds all this fresh loving innocent attention being showered on him is as blind as a bat. Soon there is no turning back, like with an illegitimate child he feels obligated to protect.

Don't give me that old story about no love at home. My man was loved and adored and respected, physically and mentally. There was no need to look elsewhere, but when a wide-eyed innocent cast her spell, well, I became "Mrs. Nobody."

It's too bad there isn't a law to stop teens from contributing to the delinquency of fool husbands. My advice to "Mrs. Nobody": Tell this 16-year-old menace to get going and keep going. Don't be subtle. Give her the boot — fast — before she walks off with the whole booty! — ONE WHO KNOWS

DEAR HELEN:

We have children, ages one, two and three. I vacuum the house every day, dust, keep up my washing and ironing, hardly ever have dishes in the sink. I have myself looking decent when my husband comes home and the kids look clean and neat most of the time.

These things he never notices. But let me slip up on polishing the electrical appliances, or the table legs, or scrubbing the wall behind the stove the minute it has a splatter mark — any of those little extras that take more time than I've got — and he implies I'm a lazy, careless, sloppy housewife. He's always nagging about one thing or another. In front of company, he embarrasses me to tears about how "shiftless" I am.

Am I wrong not to spend every waking minute far into the evening on making the house sparkle, or do I have an excuse to be sometimes forgetful about these things?—LAZY OR PLUM WEARY?

DEAR WEARY:

You're doing fine and your husband darn-well knows it! But manlike, he doesn't plan to spoil you by saying so. And mate-like he points out defects in front of others. (Honest now, haven't you been guilty of this too?)

How about a "nag bank" at your house? Make a joint agreement that when the other nags, she or he drops in a quarter. Next time your man starts with the criticisms, smile, say nothing and hand him the bank!—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Marin Women

Time Capsule Pill Now In The Offing

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A revolutionary "time capsule" that could prevent conception for months or years at a time may be ready for use by women in five years, according to a leading researcher.

Dr. Christopher Tietze said Wednesday he foresaw a time when women could be assured immunity from conception by the use of a long-acting contraceptive, unless they took a "birth pill."

Laboratory tests with animals have been very encouraging, the researcher said, adding that development of such a device would have the great advantage of eliminating medical supervision in population control.

THE "TIME CAPSULE" has been implanted under the skin of rats, he said, and tests indicated it would prevent conception for 20 years, if rats lived that long.

Tietze said it was conceivable that a single implant could give a woman protection for months, perhaps years, at a time.

"I am quite sure that we will be implanting women with the capsule within five years," he said in an interview.

He explained that the capsule could be implanted—or possibly injected—under the skin anywhere on a woman's body. It would release slowly into the bloodstream a continuous, controlled amount of a female sex hormone, progestin.

THIS WOULD prevent conception for long periods, he said.

If a couple decided a baby was wanted, the woman could take a "birth bill" to counter effects of the hormone. This, Tietze conceded, is possibly farther in the future. More immediately, the method of paving the way for conception probably would be to remove the "time capsule."

Court To Hold Potluck Dinner

Court St. Raphael, No. 1406, Catholic Daughters of America, is hostessing a potluck dinner for members, their families and friends on Dec. 8 at 6:30 p.m., in St. Raphael's social hall.

The Court will provide the entree for the dinner and entertainment will follow. Mrs. A. B. Schweighofer is chairman of the event.

Betrothal Etiquette Advice For Couples

"Will he give her a ring at Christmas?"

When a romance has been blossoming for some time, the Yuletide season is a time of speculation for friends and relatives of a young couple. Most girls receive their engagement diamonds during this time of mistletoe magic and special sentiment.

But when the time of betrothal arrives, many couples are uncertain as to the etiquette attending their all-important pledge and its symbol — the diamond ring. Here are tips on betrothal etiquette for couples who will become engaged this Christmas.

For the young man, first comes the decision as to whether to purchase her ring by himself or to ask her to help select it. There is no hard and fast rule of etiquette for this. He should do what he believes will make her happier.

STATISTICS SHOW that about 85 per cent of the girls who marry each year receive diamond engagement rings, and that slightly more than half of these rings are purchased by couples shopping together. In such cases, a man should visit the jeweler alone first. He can discuss price and set aside a few rings he likes and which are in his price range. Then, when his fiancee comes in with him, she can make her choice from his advance selection without fear of embarrassment about price.

When a man purchases the engagement diamond by himself, he should present it to the girl at an appropriate moment when they are alone together. Christmas Eve is a favorite choice. He may give it to her in an elegantly wrapped box or just bring it out of his pocket without any wrapping.

Once the engagement diamond is on her finger, a girl usually doesn't want to remove it. But it must be remembered that this bright badge of betrothal acts as an announcement in itself. She should not wear her ring in public until both pairs of parents have been informed.

BY THE SAME TOKEN, a girl should not wear her diamond on her job until she has told her employer of her engagement. A boss easily may feel insulted at hearing a "spill over" of water fountain gossip that one of his group is getting married and may be leaving. He should be the first person to see her diamond and hear her news. She also should be prepared to give him some idea of her future plans and whether her job will be affected.

Except for a close friend or two, her employer is the only person at her company she should tell directly. She should not go about a large office showing her ring and acting as her own town crier. Instead, after her conference with her boss, she gives a "go ahead" to a friend to spread the news. Others then are free to approach her at will, ask to see her diamond and offer their good wishes — for a new life as well as a New Year.

San Rafael's New School Elects First P-TA Officers

Bahai Vista, San Rafael's newest elementary school has organized its first Parent-Teacher Assn.

Mrs. H. O. Pessner, vice president of the 14th District Council P-TA conducted the installation ceremony and Mrs. Frank Parker, president of the San Rafael Council, presented Mrs. Ladene Sheldon with the president's pin.

Officers are Mrs. Sheldon, Mrs. Frank Levien, first vice president, Robert McCurdy, principal, second vice president, Mrs. William H. Noble, secretary, and Mrs. Edward J. Wasp, treasurer.

Low Heels Go

The low heel continues the suitable heel for suits and dresses for spring. The classic high-heeled pump is ruled out in spring collections as ready-to-wear manufacturers show their new wares. The models walk comfortably in heels no higher than two inches and with the Puritan-buckled pump still going strong.

AFTER A MISHAP

Some Tips For Driving In The Snow

By LOIS SENS

It was my misfortune to be involved in an automobile accident on Interstate Highway 80 heading into the snow country recently. I was driving in very heavy rain which suddenly turned into slush and then snow.

My car skidded on the slippery surface, slid to the edge of the road, turned around 180 degrees and landed against a hill facing forward. It was the hill and a small curb on the highway which prevented the car from traveling directly down the side of the embankment.

IN THE SHORT time it took to be picked up by a passing motorist and taken to Nyack Garage, three inches of snow covered my car and five or six other cars were involved in similar difficulties.

It was then I realized that mental and practical preparations are necessary for those unused to driving on snow and ice.

First, I would suggest calling KPAT's snow phone reports at 848-7717 for snow conditions in the Sierra-Nevada region. I would also advise the motorist to dial in Stockton radio station KRAK at 1140, which gives frequent reports on road and weather conditions in the Sierra.

According to the California Highway Patrol checks on equipment and car conditions are also advisable:

SKID CHAINS which are serviceable and fit the car are an absolute necessity on a trip to the snow country. (It's also a good idea to practice chaining and unchaining beforehand.)

A SHOVEL can be a very useful tool for clearing snow following overnight parking in a snowfall.

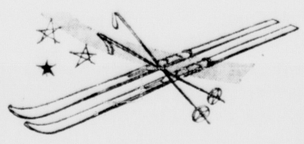

ANTIFREEZE is needed to prevent cracking of radiator and engine block during subfreezing weather.

WINDSHIELD WIPERS and blades must be in good working order to insure good visibility during storms. You might also obtain a bottle of solution which prevents ice from forming on the windshield.

HEATER AND DEFROSTER should operate efficiently to provide maximum comfort and visibility.

MUFFLER AND EXHAUST system must be in good repair to prevent deadly carbon monoxide leaks.

BATTERY efficiency must be

BLANKETS OR CAR ROBES, carried in the car, will be most welcome in the event of heater failure or other emergency. Warm, water-resistant clothing will add to the comfort of all members of the group.

SUN GLASSES are useful in reducing eye strain from snow glare, especially if there will be night driving.

Tips for driving on ice and snow are also provided by the Highway Patrol:

SAFE SPEED in heavy rain is 25 to 35 miles per hour; always drive at 25 mph or less when using tire chains.

GET THE FEEL of the road by trying the brakes occasionally while driving slowly. Find out just how slippery or slick the road is and adjust your speed accordingly.

A GENTLE PUMPING of the brake is the best way to stop on snow or ice. Pumping avoids locking the wheels, which can produce an uncontrollable and dangerous skid.

TURN INTO THE SKID when speeding in order to gain control of the car; in this instance, don't use the brake at all.

START SMOOTHLY on icy roads using gentle accelerator pressure. Accelerating too rapidly will spin the rear wheels and cause a loss of traction. Cars with conventional shifts should be started in a higher gear than usual.

RELAX IF TRAFFIC stops and remain in or near your car so that when traffic moves you will be ready to go. Stay in line so emergency vehicles may use the other lane.

It's a good idea to stop right away when signs are posted requiring chains. I even saw one informed driver pull under an overpass to apply his chains in nice dry comfort.

Hope your trip to the snow country is enjoyable . . . and safe.

RUSSIAN STYLE LUNCHEON

Russian dishes were featured at the annual luncheon and bazaar yesterday presented by the Sisterhood of St. Nicholas Russian Orthodox church in San Anselmo, held at Canoles Hall of the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael. Christmas gift items and Russian pastries made by the members were sold rapidly at the 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. event, which will benefit the church building fund. Mrs. Eugene Y. Orloff of San Rafael, president, headed the committee, and husbands of members helped them with the serving of the luncheon.

Holiday Party Is Set Tomorrow By Delta Zeta Unit

Marin Delta Zeta alumnae will celebrate the holiday season with a no-host party to be held tomorrow at the Fairfax home of Mr. and Mrs. William Blair.

Cocktails at 7 p.m. will be followed by an 8 p.m. buffet supper.

Planning to attend are Messrs. and Mesdames Headley Brown and Robert Pritchard of Lucas Valley, Robert Ramsey of Novato, William Brook of Terra Linda, Frank Gloistein of Fairfax, Charles E. Hamilton and R. E. Munter of San Anselmo, William R. Thomas of Ross, Mrs. Sandy McFadden of Petaluma and Miss Slavka Cibilich of Greenbrae.

Tom Thumb Yule Party Set Monday

Mrs. Wendall Gates, president of Tom Thumb Chapter of Children's Home Society, announced that Mrs. Bernard Bloch of Belvedere will hostess a Christmas party for members and their guests on Dec. 5 at 8:30 p.m. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. George Caesar and Mrs. Robert Judd.

Following a brief business meeting about the spring project, gifts will be exchanged and refreshments will be served. Then Mrs. Bloch leads the group off to sing Christmas Carols.

Color Toddler Red

Want to color that toddler of yours red? Suit him up in snappy red coveralls made of pin-dotted cotton knit. The suit provides the practical answer for warm and comfortable playwear. Style marks: zipper front and buttoned waist tabs. A muslin lining helps the garment to keep its shape.

Novato's Jaycettes President Enjoys Camping Trips, Sewing

Mrs. James J. Pelmulder, new president of the Novato Jaycettes enjoys "camping, trips to the ocean with the family and sewing all the clothes for my children and myself."

Dru Pelmulder and her husband, a senior engineer with Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co., are the parents of three daughters, Linda, 9, Carole, 6, and Diane, 3 years of age.

She attended schools in Sebastopol and has lived in Marin County five years. During her four years as a member of the Novato Jaycettes she has served as treasurer and vice president. The ultimate purpose of the organization is to assist the Junior Chamber of Commerce whenever necessary.

MRS. JAMES PELMULDER

Elected to serve with Mrs. Pelmulder were Mesdames George Keefe, vice president; Edward Adams, corresponding secretary; Norbert Sousa, recording secretary; Paul Dock, treasurer; John Gilmore, parliamentarian, and George Ashton, historian.

New Daughter

A second daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard George of San Rafael on Nov. 28 at Marin General Hospital on Monday. The baby, who has been named Shirley Margaret, has a sister, Barbara Ann.

TaMar Chapter Chanukah Party Planned Sunday

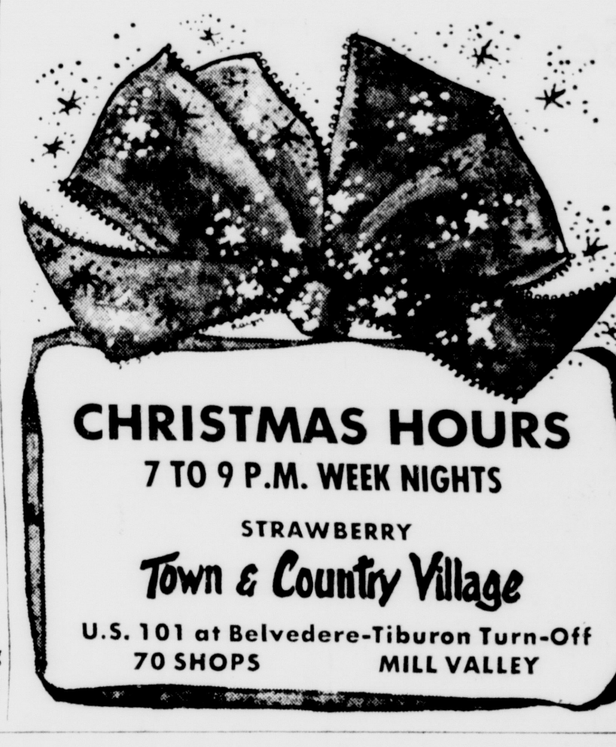

TaMar Chapter of B'nai B'rith Women will hold a Chanukah party for members and their children from 2 to 4 p.m. on Sunday at the Terra Linda Recreation Center.

Each child will bring a non-Jewish child for the program which will include games, holiday explanation and the traditional latkes.

Mrs. Philip Landa, chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Eugene Lee, program; and Mrs. Robert Auster, food.

To Remove Gum

SCENE FROM 'THE MILKY WAY' —Alex Herrmann as Burleigh Sullivan, the milkman who is turned into a prize fighter against his will—with fantastic result, and Julie Theriault as his sister, Mae, share this scene with Mazie (otherwise Fred), a St. Bernard dog, in the Redwood High School production of "The Milky Way," to be presented tonight and tomorrow.

Redwood's 'Milky Way' Set Tonight, Tomorrow

"The Milky Way" will be on the boards tonight and tomorrow night in the little theater of Redwood High School.

Curtain for the play, presented by the high school drama department with Joe Wadlington as director, is scheduled for 8 p.m. for both performances.

"The Milky Way" is a zany three-act comedy by Lynn Root and Harry Clork, involving the crossed love affairs of a milkman turned prize fighter against his will and the middleweight boxing champion he "knocks out" in a fluke.

Two roles are double-cast, with a different performer each night. Herb Dukes, Corte Madera senior, and Bob Borgmann, Tiburon junior, alternate as Spider. Beth Penny, Corte Madera senior, and Berit Engibritsen, Tiburon senior, share the role of Anne Westley.

Also in the cast is a St. Bernard dog belonging to Alex Black of Kentfield. The dog, Fred in real life, has the unlikely name (for a St. Bernard) of Mazie in the play.

Marinite Appointed As Dairy Director

Manuel Gonsalves of the Big Rock Ranch in Lucas Valley was named to fill a two-year term as a director of District Three of the American Dairy Assn. of California during a district board meeting in Petaluma Tuesday.

Gonsalves will fill the term of retired dairyman William Jacobs of Santa Rosa. Three directors re-elected to three-year terms were William Lawrence and Leo Lavio of Petaluma and Clifford Orr of Santa Rosa.

Religious Drama Set At Seminary

A contemporary religious drama, "Inherit the Kingdom," will be presented on the campus of the Golden Gate Baptist Seminary in Strawberry, Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Performed by a seminary drama group, the play is by Elwyn Gunn, a theology student, who will also be co-director with Dr. J. B. Nichols, professor of religious education.

Gunn has written several religious plays. Last year, his "The Dawn of Eternity" won second prize in a competition sponsored by the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board.

MARIN FILM FARE

Bright Selection For Coming Week

By LES DARD

Marin area theaters are already heralding the approaching season of festivities with a bright selection of shows for every age and taste.

RAFAEL THEATER

Ready to laugh? Then drop in on "Not With My Wife You Don't!", a new fluff that features Tony Curtis, George C. Scott and Virna Lisi along with some really top-flight madcap comedy.

Sketched simply, the plot's familiar enough: Curtis and Scott are Air Force brass who used to be buddies. It seems that Scott, playing a character called "Tank," made life miserable for his buddy in the old days, and Curtis is out to even the score with a carload of nasty tricks. But Tank's no dummy and is also hooked on Curtis's lovely spouse, Miss Lisi.

NORTHGATE and SEQUOIA THEATERS

A brittle spy entry utilizing imagination and human ingenuity instead of fancy gadgets is now playing. It's "The Liquidator," with Rod Taylor, Trevor Howard, Wilfred Hyde-White and Jill St. John.

The British Security Office is becoming increasingly embarrassed by the difficulty of arresting traitors in its ranks without scandal. A plan is arranged for fatal "accidents" to overtake the suspects. Ex-soldier Taylor is put to the task by promises of generous salary, sumptuous living conditions and lovely girls.

Despite outward brawniness, Taylor is not the killing type. So he hires professional assassin Eric Sykes to do the dirty work while he lives it up.

MOTOR MOVIES

NOVATO THEATER

For the young set "Hold On!" bounces this way from England, featuring Herman's Hermits and Shelley Fabares. It follows a personal appearance tour the rock 'n' roll group makes through the U. S.

Co-featured is "North by Northwest."

101 DRIVE-IN

Doris Day adorns the romantic suspense farce, "The Glass Bottom Boat."

The tale, though, is very little about a glass bottom boat and much more about the U.S. space effort and a whole bunch of nasty spies trying to learn our secrets.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

A highly original idea, fine performances and strikingly beautiful backgrounds back up the main attractions in "The Fantastic Voyage," still with us, an exciting armchair lesson in anatomy.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

Spectacle in the BIG tradition? Here's the place; the name is "Khartoum," and it's held over. It stars Charlton Heston and Laurence Olivier.

LARK THEATER

Sophisticated comedy is the fare with "Morgan!", Britain's remarkably hip lark that centers on rebellion and stars Michael Parks. It is having an extended engagement.

Two-thirds of the timber in the United States is in the West.

In State Exhibition

Tony Williams, a member of the Terra Linda Art Assn., has had two paintings accepted for the Northern California Arts 13th exhibition at the Crocker Art Gallery in Sacramento. He was awarded an honorable mention for one of them.

WET, WINDY DAY AHEAD IN MARIN

San Rafael Has Two-Inch Rainfall; Boats Kept In Harbor; Blizzards Hit Mountains

An intense storm hovered over Northern and Central California for the second day today, drenching parts of Marin County with more than two inches of rain and keeping small craft in port.

To noon, San Rafael recorded 2.05 inches of rain in 24 hours.

Heavy rain will continue to pelt the area tonight and tomorrow, the Weather Bureau said, with occasional showers expected Sunday.

Small craft warnings were for southerly winds from 25 to 40 miles per hour along the coast.

No storm damage was reported in Marin County.

The storm brought deep snow in northern mountain areas, cheering ski resort owners. The snow level was lowering to 3,000 feet in the north and 4,000 to 5,000 feet in the southern Sierra.

Highway travelers in mountain areas were warned of near-blizzard conditions.

At 8 a.m., the highest rainfall reading in Marin was 1.06 inches, in Ross.

Others were: Woodacre, 1.04; Fairfax, one inch; Chevy Chase, Larkspur, .90; Inverness, .80; Point Reyes, .75; Marin County Civic Center, .69; Santa Venetia, .69; Tamalpais Valley, .64; Sausalito, .58; Terra Linda, .58; Mill Valley, .52; Larkspur Corporation Yard, .50; Bolinas, .44; Novato, .32; Hamilton Air Base, .31, and Belvedere, .25.

Officer Off Duty Aids In Arrests

An attentive off-duty sheriff's officer having dinner with his wife in Nicasio last night was credited with arrest of four youths for the burglary of a Marshall summer residence.

Booked in county jail at 2:15 a.m. today were James Owen Calkins and Harmon Francis Heath, both 23 and residing at 667 Olive Avenue, Novato; Delbert Francis Worden, 24, of Cain Lane, Novato, and Michael Gerald Nouguier, 24, of Sonoma.

Deputy Sheriff Carl Mead reported that while he and his wife were dining about 10:30 p.m. at Rancho Nicasio, he overheard four youths discussing the flimsy construction of an outside door to the establishment.

Sgt. Robert Bertrand and Undersheriff Sidney Stinson, en route to set up watch on the restaurant, halted a car bearing the four youths on the Point Reyes-Petaluma Road. They said the driver, Nouguier, had traffic warrants outstanding in Sonoma and Napa counties.

Search of the car revealed a portable radio in the back seat and numerous items including a box of new dishes, eight bottles of liquor, electrical appliances, and a sleeping bag in the trunk.

An address label on the dish box led to Mrs. H. A. Struthers of Oakland. She said she had left items identical to those found in the car in her summer home in Marshall on Thanksgiving Day. A check of the house disclosed it had been entered by cutting a window screen.

The four were scheduled for arraignment in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

Overpass Collision Hurts Two Drivers

Two drivers went to Marin General Hospital for treatment yesterday after a traffic accident on the San Rafael overpass of Highway 101.

A car driven by Frederick Daniel Wienholz, 19, of 18 Terrace Avenue, San Rafael, was backing when it was hit by a car driven by Marcus Badovinatz, 63, of San Francisco, according to California Highway Patrol. Wienholz was treated for a cut ear, then transferred to the Southern Pacific Hospital in San Francisco. Badovinatz was treated for chest pains.

BORROWED A NAME

Bon Vivant In Court On Credit Card Use

William Edward Merkelbach was a good customer and free spender at the Peacock Gap Country Club during July and August.

He wasn't know there as Merkelbach, however, according to a forgery complaint filed yesterday, but as E. P. Halsted Jr.

That was the name he signed to $225 in chits, showing a credit card to prove his identity.

There was nothing wrong with the credit card, according to sheriff's investigators — except that the real E. P. Halsted Jr., son of E. P. Halstead of Halsted and Co. mortuary—resides at the Olympic Club in San Francisco and had not been patronizing the restaurant, bar and golf course at Peacock Gap.

Merkelbach, 34, of 1411 Casa Buena Drive, Corte Madera, was a former roommate of the junior Halsted and had "borrowed" the credit cards from him, the investigators said.

Merkelbach was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday. Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. released him on his own recognizance, to return next Thursday at 1:30 p.m. and enter plea.

Robot Post Office's Future Not So Sure

An automated postal unit in the Corte Madera Shopping Center, regarded as a certainty last week, remained only a possibility today, and not a very good possibility.

Milton Meyer Co. of San Francisco, operator of the shopping center, has been stalling on signing a contract with the Post Office Department to a point that endangers the location of the postal unit in the center, according to post office officials.

John Whelan of Milton Meyer Co. said yesterday that the contract would be signed yesterday. He said today the contract was not signed yesterday but would be signed today.

"We've been hearing that every day for weeks," said John McMahon, head of the real estate branch of the post office regional directors office. McMahon said the announcement that the unit would be located in the center was "premature" and should not have been made.

He said that if the unit is to be put in the center, the contract should be signed by the end of next week.

Two Applicants' Names Omitted

The College of Marin omitted two names from the list of applicants for two openings on the Marin Junior College District Board of Trustees released yesterday.

Omitted were Clark M. Palmer, Novato attorney, and Robert Rich of Novato, who works for the Associated Dredging Co. of Sausalito.

These two bring to 12 the number of applicants. Applications will be reviewed Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Room 25 of Harlan Hall at the college, and two will be appointed next Thursday at the regular board meeting.

Reduced Fine Given On Drunken Driving

Charles Benson Johnson, 33, of Petaluma, was fined $115 in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving with an additional $250 fine suspended. He also was placed on six months probation.

Police Check Bomb Threats At Two Markets

Lee Brothers' Marinwood market received the first call at 5:30 p.m. A man's voice said: "There's a bomb in your store. It is set to go off at 6 p.m."

Sheriff's officers were called and searched the store for 40 minutes, finding no bomb.

At 7:35 p.m., a similar call was received at the chain's Novato market, where the caller said a bomb was "set to go off in 10 minutes."

Novato police cleared patrons and clerks out of the store, removed cars from its parking lot, called the fire department to stand by. They waited 30 minutes. When no bomb went off, police searched the store, then allowed it to reopen.

Who Left Body Of Black Dog?

The department today issued an appeal for any information about the dog, which apparently bit someone or was otherwise suspected of being rabid. The body had no identifying information.

Said John M. Parker, health educator: "We have the dog's brain but most know wheer the dog came from and why it was left for examination if the laboratory tests are to help. Anyone with information should call the department immediately."

Truck Burglarized

Building tools worth $331 were taken Wednesday from a truck parked at 47 Magnolia Avenue, San Anselmo, belonging to Roland Johnson Construction Co. of San Rafael, according to San Anselmo police.

Woman Halted On Richmond Bridge Leap

A toll sergeant on the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge and a California Highway Patrol officer prevented a 42-year-old San Anselmo woman from carrying out her threat to jump from the bridge today.

Hazel Mae Oliver, 1516 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, stopped her car at the toll booth about 12:10 a.m. and told the toll taker she intended to jump. Toll Sgt. George Yost stepped over to her car, took the keys and called the highway patrol.

Patrol Officer Richard I. Myers took the woman to his office for questioning. He said that, after telling him she had nothing to live for and wanted to die, she asked to go to the women's rest room. Shen she did not return after five minutes, Myers knocked on the door and found her unconscious on the floor with a bump on her head.

She was taken to Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco for examination, then to Contra Costa County Hospital, where she is a nurse's aide.

New Chairmen Are Announced

New committee chairman were named by the Bel Marin Keys Homeowners Assn. board Wednesday night.

The board also set the next general meeting for 8 p.m. Jan. 19, at the Pavilion.

Committee chairman named were:

Clark Wandt, island cleaning; Allan Hutchins, spring street cleaning; Rita Zaro, community newspaper subscriptions; James Hudson, membership; Mrs. Michael Tellejen, refreshments at meetings; Richard Roberts, dues collections; Stanley Rakeman, telephone service; Collan Kosach, yacht club representative; Charles Stewart, correspondence; Jack Knivefon, garbage service, and Nick Bruno, television interference.

Indecent Exposure

A man described as about 20 to 25 years old, exposed himself to two 11-year-old girls on First Street, north of Vallejo Avenue about 3:30 p.m., yesterday according to Novato police.

Grand Jury Blasts The Welfare System

The Marin County Grand Jury has issued a blast at the state's welfare system and called on the legislature to adopt suggestions for improving it made by the County Supervisors Assn. of California.

The association's program, known as "Cal-Flex," would provide counties with a more independent role in administering benefits and with a welfare program tailored to different counties' needs.

In its resolution, the grand jury charged the state system loads case workers with "completion of an ever-increasing and burdensome amount of forms and paper work."

The grand jury, calling for reform by the legislature, said: "the state has, without prior consultation with the counties or recognition of the counties needs and economic problems" imposed administrative procedures and policies that just don't fit each county.

This, the grand jury said, "results in unwarranted cost and expense to local taxpayers and does not correspondingly increase the level of services . . . to welfare recipients."

Copies of the resolution were to be sent to Rep. Donald H. Clausen, (R - First District), State Sen. John F. McCarthy and Assemblyman William T. Bagley.

Panel Goes Against Any Pay Hikes For Supervisors

The Marin County Grand Jury does not think county supervisors, district attorney, and auditor are entitled to further pay raises.

The grand jury has adopted a resolution relating that its investigation has "determined that there is no need for an increase in the salaries of said officers," which are set by the Legislature.

The resolution was adopted Nov. 9 but was filed with the county clerk and made public only today.

Supervisors receive $800 per month. The district attorney now receives $16,650 per year, but will get $24,000 beginning Jan. 1 under terms of a bill passed by last year's Legislature. At the same time, salary of the auditor will go up from $12,000 to $19,000 per year.

Salaries of other county officials are set by the Board of Supervisors. There was no mention of them in the grand jury's resolution.

Driver, Passenger Hurt On Highway 101

A driver and his passenger were injured when a car skidded off Highway 101 on Puerto Suello hill today at 3:15 a.m.

The passenger, Judith Ann Chapman, 22, of Santa Clara, was in fair condition at Marin General Hospital with multiple cuts and bruises.

California Highway Patrol reported Donald Dean Boles, 25, of Pixley, Tulare County, was driving south when he started to change lanes, his car skidded across the highway and shoulder and landed on the railroad tracks. Bowles was treated at Marin General Hospital for a cut chin and chest injury.

Civic Appointee

Mrs. George C. Goheen was appointed Wednesday night as chairman of the finance committee of Mill Valley's civic beautification committee.

Fire Destroys One Apartment

There were no injuries. Damage was unestimated.

The blaze burned the three-room apartment of Mrs. Ann Courtz, who was away in San Rafael when it broke out about 1:30 p.m. The three other apartments suffered smoke damage.

Firemen said the fire apparently started in the kitchen.

The apartments are owned by Peter Caletti, 107 Dominga Avenue, Fairfax.

Chlorine Bids Called

San Rafael Sanitation District Board called yesterday for bids for chlorine for its pump stations and treatment plants. The bids will be opened at the next board meeting, Dec. 15.

Noisy Children At Library To Be Checked Out

A complaint about small children making too much noise brought up the matter, head librarian Dorothy Thomas said. "This is a family library, however, not a research library," she commented.

Wurster, Bernardi and Emmons, architects for the library advised trustees that an engineering study was underway to determine how to reduce vibration of the main floor.

Veterans May Need Form Help

James V. Burdick, Marin County veteran service officer, today urged veterans who have received income questionnaire cards with their Veterans Administration check to get assistance from his office on completing the forms.

"Laws affecting both social security and veteran benefits have an effect on income as defined for the purposes of a VA pension," Burdick said. "Veterans must be sure to complete these questionnaires completely and correctly."

The Veterans Service Office is in Room 422, Marin County Civic Center.

Today is Friday, Dec. 2, the 336th day of 1966 with 29 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn.

American statesman Frank Kellogg was born on this day in 1856.

On this day in history:

In 1942, the atomic age began when scientists working under a football stadium at the University of Chicago demonstrated a self-sustaining nuclear reaction.

in 1952, President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower arrived in Korea to fulfill a campaign promise to visit the country in hopes of ending the war.

In 1964, 2½ million persons greeted Pope Paul VI as he visited Bombay.

In 1965, the United States unemployment rate dropped to 4.2 per cent of the labor force, lowest point in eight years.

A thought for the day — Admiral Chester Nimitz said: "A ship is always referred to as a 'she' because it costs so much to keep one in paint and powder."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

A Bridge Contract Sometimes Is Like A Game Of Tennis

Some hands are like tennis matches, with the contract serving as the ball.

Declarer throws the contract away, the opponents throw it back, and this process continues until the fate of the hand is settled once for all.

CLUB FINESSE

Declarer took the king of diamonds and the ace of trumps, after which he led the queen of clubs for a finesse.

East played a low club without seeming to think (a very fine play), and South should have drawn another round of trumps with the king.

Instead South threw the contract away by repeating the club finesse.

East took the king of clubs and returned a club. South discarded a heart, and West ruffed.

West could defeat the contract by leading a low heart to the ace and ruffing another club. Instead, West tossed the contract back by leading the queen of hearts.

NOT SURE

East could defeat the contract by playing the ace of hearts even after South played a low heart from dummy, but East could not be sure of what was going on.

He played a low heart, and now South was home.

South ruffed the heart continuation and could assure his contract by leading out the king of trumps. As it happened, South did not know that the queen of trumps would fall.

PAY OFF MORE

South assumed that East had the queen of spades because West had failed to lead a low heart after ruffing a club.

South therefore got to dummy with a diamond to take a trump finesse.

This play gave the contract to the defenders for the second time, and they couldn't hand it back since they had already taken four tricks.

Simple Solution

LONDON (UPI) —British security authorities, plagued as they have been in recent years by spy escapes and "leaks," might be forgiven if they long for the good old days. The man who organized Britain's first real secret service was Sir Francis Walsingham, during the days of Queen Elizabeth I. Walsingham's idea on prisoner security was simple: he invariably had such prisoners executed.

Cautious Trading Jumbles Market

It was an up-and-down session with little conviction shown on either side and considerable caution due to the approaching weekend.

Volume for the day was estimated at 6 million shares compared with 8.49 million yesterday.

Trading began with a decline, followed by a recovery which put the list ahead slightly on balance by mid day. Thereafter some prices were trimmed and the averages were contradictory.

Strength failed to materialize on the basis of news of a relaxation of credit restraint by the Federal Reserve Board.

The list was brightened by selective gains. National Cash Register rose near 4, Braniff Airways almost 3, Corning Glass and Ethyl Corp. about 2 apiece.

As hopes waxed for settlement of the threatened strike against Pan American World Airways, the stock spurted more than 2 points. United, KLM and Eastern Air Lines were up about a point each.

Prices were generally higher in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Tourism in Italy for 1966 is expected to be up 15 per cent from last year, with spending by foreign visitors in excess of $1.5 billion.

PG&E Announces Top Promotion

Redman has served as commercial vice president since May 1965 after six years as manager of the company's San Joaquin Division.

Chrysler Names New President

NEW YORK (AP)—Chrysler Corp. has named Virgil E. Boyd, 54, a one-time Nebraska auto salesman, to succeed Lynn A. Townsend as the firm's president.

Townsend, who has headed the company since 1961, was elevated to chairman of the board, succeeding George H. Love, 66, who will retire at the end of the year. Townsend will remain chief executive officer.

Boyd, who has been No. 3 man at Chrysler as vice president for domestic automotive operations, came to the firm in 1962 from American Motors Corp., where he had served in a series of sales posts.

The executive changes were announced at a news conference here following a special board meeting. They are effective Jan. 1.

New Crocker Building Set

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Construction of a $20 million, 38-story office tower with eight sides—the Crocker Building of the future—will begin March 1 at Market, Montgomery and Post streets.

That announcement came Monday from Frederick C. Whitman, president of Universal Land Co., a subsidiary of Crocker Estate Co.

Whitman said that demolition of the old Crocker Building, built in 1892, has already begun. He said the steel-reinforced tower is scheduled for completion in October, 1968.

The building will have an exterior of dark cut stone and bronze-tinted glass and will provide 487,000 square feet of floor space.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Turning Bad Thing Into Something Good

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I hope to quit working in 1969. I have been so unlucky with my investments that I am worried. Three companies I bought into have gone into bankruptcy and have cost me over $5,000 in losses. I now own 400 Victoreen Instrument and 200 Glen Alden, on both of which I have a big loss. I would like your advice as to what to do with these stocks." A. S.

A. I am sincerely sorry that your investments have worked out poorly. In my opinion, the average investor like yourself should confine himself strictly to growth stocks of the highest quality. You have been following the reverse of that policy and I believe you should make a fresh start and begin planning now for your retirement.

Both stocks you hold have speculative merit but neither has as yet established a firm pattern of earnings expansion. I advise you to sell these issues. I would reinvest in equal dollar amounts of Plough, Inc. — a proprietary drug and cosmetic stock — and American Home Products, strong in pharmaceuticals and household items. Both stocks are of highest quality and have consistent records of strong growth.

Q. "I am 60 years old, retired, with a paralytic wife whom I am taking care of personally. In 1929 I was playing the market on margin and was wiped out entirely by the crash. I have kept away from it since but the recent decline has attracted me and I would like to put about $2,000 into stocks. I want a good investment and safe dividends. I like Pacific Lighting, Texaco and Safeway. What is your feeling?" H. H.

A. My first feeling is a warm one toward yourself for taking good care of a helpless wife. Though I am not at all certain that the market has ended its decline, I think you are justified in investing moderately at current levels. Of the above, I believe your best selection would be Texaco.

Union Oil Declares 30-Cent Dividend

LOS ANGELES—The Board of directors of Union Oil Co. of California has declared a dividend of 30 cents per share on the common stock and also the regular 62½ cent quarterly dividend on the company's preferred shares.

Dividends on both the common and preferred will be payable Feb. 10 to shareholders of record Jan. 10.

Wells Fargo Applies For Branch Permit

The State Banking Department has announced filing of an application by Wells Fargo Bank to establish a branch office in the vicinity of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and La Cuesta Drive in Greenbrae.

The location would be in the area of the Bon Air Shopping Center. Niels Schultz Jr. of Bon Air Development Co. said there have been some discussions with Wells Fargo about opening a bank, but no agreement has been signed and no site has been selected.

Container Corp. Sets West Coast Center

SAN FRANCISCO — Container Corp. of America has announced plans for opening a new packaging center to serve the West Coast.

The center, occupying approximately 16,000 square feet, will be part of Container Corporation's 50-acre Santa Clara complex in which a folding carton plant and a paperboard mill are already located.

THE WEEK'S BUSINESS

Bulk Carrier Firms Purchase Is Signed

CONSOLIDATED FREIGHTWAYS, INC. has signed a contract to purchase the assets of two bulk commodity carrier companies in Montana. Subject to approval by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Montana Railroad Commission, Consolidated will acquire substantially all assets of Babcock and Lee Petroleum Transporters, Inc. and Babcock and Lee Transportation, both of Billings. Consolidated's bulk commodities division already constitutes the largest carrier of its kind in the western United States and one of the largest in the nation.

CHRYSLER CORP. has elected Lynn Townsend chairman of the board and Virgil E. Boyd as president, effective Jan. 1. Townsend will continue as chief officer. Boyd will assume active charge of all corporate operations. George Love, board chairman since 1961, had previously announced his intention to retire at the end of the year. He will continue as chairman of the board's executive committee.

STANDARD OIL CO. OF CALIFORNIA directors have declared a 5 per cent stock dividend payable Feb. 10 to stockholders of record Dec. 22. Order forms will be provided to stockholders for purchasing fractional interests. Stockholders taking no action on the option by March 15 will receive cash for their fractional interests.

SIGNETICS CORP., Sunnyvale, has announced a new integrated circuits manufacturing facility in Korea. It is the company's first overseas plant and its third major expansion program this year. The plant is expected to be completed late in the second quarter of next year and will be operated by Signetics Korea Co., Ltd., a new subsidiary. Last June Signetics opened its first out-of-state plant in Provo, Utah. A major expansion at Sunnyvale headquarters, tripling present manufacturing space, will be completed during the first quarter of 1967.

CONTAINER CORP. OF AMERICA has announced plans to open a new packaging center, occupying 16,000 square feet, at its 50-acre Santa Clara complex in which a folding carton plant and a paperboard mill are already located. Other West Coast packaging plants and mills are located in Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, Los Angeles, Fresno, Oakland and San Jose.

BRITISH OVERSEAS AIRWAYS CORP. has made public its first half-year financial statement, which shows an operating surplus of 44.8 million dollars—an 8.4 million increase from the same period in 1965. Traffic revenue rose 10 per cent to 229.6 million dollars. Operating expenditure rose by 8 per cent.

EMPORIUM CAPWELL CO. has reported substantial sales for the three months and the 12 months ended Oct. 31. Twelve-month sales rose from 160 to 172 million dollars; quarter sales rose from 39 to 42 million dollars. Year earnings per share of common stock increased to $1.83 from $1.59. Quarter earnings of 35 cents were down from last year's 30 cents per share. Directors have declared a common stock dividend of 18 and three-quarters cents per share payable Jan. 3.

KAISER STEEL CORP., Oakland, celebrated its 25th anniversary yesterday as the nation's ninth largest producer of steel, having produced 35 million ingot tons since its organization six days before Pearl Harbor. Capital investment in plants and facilities is now almost three-quarters of a billion dollars. Annual sales are reaching 375 million dollars.

NUCLEAR ENGINEERING CO., Walnut Creek, and California Nuclear, with headquarters in Indiana, have entered merger discussions. Both companies engage in the disposal of radioactive wastes. NECO common stock is publicly held and traded over the counter, California Nuclear stock is privately held.

Here's Our Story

Once upon a recent Sunday, a man asked us to sell his house. We said, "We'll sell it Friday" . . . that's today . . . it's a good house. Ranch style with 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, family room and an all-elect. kitchen and assorted amenities. (Those are the nicer things of life). He made the "house" a "home." Our story ends with a large assumable 4¾ % G. I. loan. Call us — we'll write your "happy ever after" chapter. Only $31,950.

Audubon Canyon Ranch Paid For

The 567-acre Audubon Canyon Ranch at Bolinas has been fully paid for, Dr. Martin Griffin, chairman of the ranch's board of directors said yesterday.

According to Dr. Griffin, the original 507 acres of the ranch will be in Audubon Society's name, debt free, by early next year. The 60 acres contracted for last year will be taken care of by pledges and other assets, he said.

The society will now begin raising the $50,000 needed to construct an office, library and lounge and small auditorium at the ranch for a headquarters and nature education building, he said, and construction will not start until funds are available to build and maintain the improvements.

Nurses Strike Two Hospitals

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Two Youngstown hospitals are taking only emergency cases and the number of patients has been reduced about 50 per cent after an estimated 350 general duty nurses quit yesterday.

The nurses, asking for more pay, belong to the 400-member Youngstown Nurses Assn.

A spokesman for the association, which operates North Side and South Side hospitals, said about half of the 780 beds at the two hospitals were vacant and the number of patients would be reduced further today.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Useless Cough Can Be Caused By Many Types Of Irritations

VAN DELLEN

A useful cough is subdued only when it aggravates chest pain, interferes with sleep, or causes fatigue. This is not true of a useless cough which is likely to be dry and hacking and stems form irritation in the respiratory tract, from the tip of the nose to the base of the lungs. Enlarged adenoids, sinus trouble, laryngitis, and sore throat also induce this type of cough.

Inflammation of the lining of the upper windpipe (tracheitis) produces one of the most miserable coughs. A constant tickling sensation in the upper chest leads to uncontrollable barking without bringing up a drop of mucus. The chest hurts and it is impossible to sleep unless snowed under with codeine or another cough suppressant.

CROUP. A severe cough of childhood, originates in the larynx and develops suddenly, usually in the middle of the night when the bedroom is cooled by night air. The cough is spasmodic and brassy in nature; it is nonproductive and annoying. The croup kettel became famous as a remedy for this condition. Steam from the boiling water is inhaled and supplies moisture to the dry, irritated membranes.

Many other products control such coughs. Codeine and the synthetic morphine substitutes are beneficial. The antihistaminic drugs are useful when allergy coexists, and various drugs are available to relieve spasm of the bronchial tubes.

THE EXPECTORANTS are of value in treating useless cough. Like the croup kettle, they ease distress by producing mucus that soothes the dry membranes and helps to liquefy the sputum. The sulfonamides and antibiotics may be needed to control infection. When used properly these products are most effective because of bronchial irritation.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

NERVOUS RASH

G. F. writes: What is neurodermatitis?

REPLY

This skin eruption is blamed on emotional upsets such as worry, tension, or unhappiness.

No lower animal suffers from neurodermatitis, and neither do feebleminded humans. The emotional overactivity apparently closes off certain blood vessels in the skin. The victim must become more tranquil and less jittery. Chlorpromazine and other tranquilizers help calm down these individuals.

DRINKING DURING PREGNANCY

Mrs. V. I. writes: Is it all right for a woman who is expecting a baby to indulge in alcoholic beverages?

REPLY

Most obstetricians allow the expectant mother a cocktail during the first few months of pregnancy but thereafter abstinence usually is recommended.

INFLAMED BRAIN

Mrs. V. writes: Is there more than one kind of meningitis?

REPLY

Yes. The meninges are thin membranes covering the brain. They are susceptible to a variety of microorganisms such as streptococci, meningococci, and tubercle bacilli.

ILL-FOUNDED RUMOR

C.M.W. writes: Does drinkreheated coffee cause hardening of the arteries?

REPLY

There is no scientific proof to this effect. This rumor has been making the rounds for several years and is here again.

NO CHANGES

Mrs. C. writes: Would taking a sleeping tablet the night before a basal metabolism test distort the results?

REPLY

No.

San Rafael Police Keep Peace

Story and Photos
By FRANK FARRARA

When police make a spectacular capture, the story makes headlines, but when they have a quiet night the story is told only in routine entries in the log.

There are some nights that are quiet, and it may be that they are quiet because the police are there.

"It doesn't look like we're doing much, but we are," said Lt. Lincoln Borba as he patrolled downtown San Rafael during the homeward commuter rush. "We're letting them know we're here."

The route was monotonous, up Fourth Street, down Fifth Avenue, down Second Street, up Third Street, down Fourth Street . . . on and on, around and around, ever on the alert.

Borba, swing shift commander that evening, looked at the traffic along Highway 101. "They seem to be moving okay," he said. "If they get jammed up there, we'll get jammed up here. I've seen it where you couldn't move a car for 10 or 15 minutes."

A short while later Patrolman Ronald M. Averiette was patroling the west end of the city when his car radio blared the message . . . burglar alarm at Hoy's Music Store.

During the evening Sgt. Carl D. Selby, working a special detail, nabbed two 16-year-old boys who allegedly were stealing parts from a car at the San Rafael High School parking lot.

"They don't think of it in terms of theft," Borba said. "They just think it's something they need. First, they siphon gas, and then it's tires, and it builds up a criminal tendency. It becomes natural."

Later the parade of juvenile drivers along Fourth Street began, and Borba signalled a girl driving without lights. She got the message and sheepishly turned on her headlights.

Then Borba checked into the nooks and crannies of the commercial and industrial areas, aiming his spotlight at doorways, windows and suspicious cars.

Other cars were patrolling the east, west, central, warehouse, San Pedro Point and north, all in touch and each ready to back up the other.

When a call went out that there was a drunk getting into a pickup truck at the courthouse, three patrol cars and a motorcycle officer converged on the scene almost simultaneously. There was no drunk in sight.

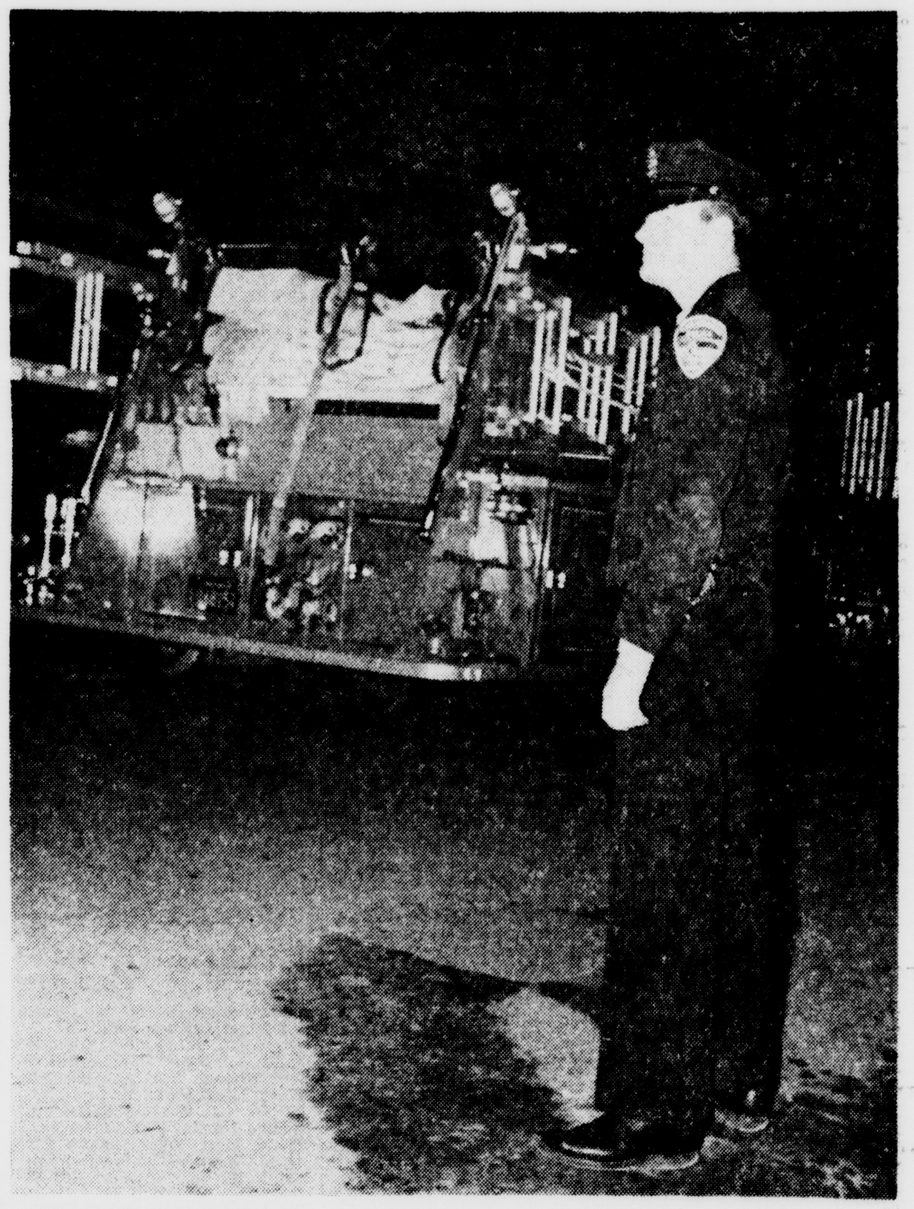

Borba took a swing through quiet residential area, and came across an unoccupied car parked along narrow Deer Creek Lane above Dominican College.

After checking the car, he made a brief foot search of the area for the driver. He noted the license number and passed on the information to the next shift.

San Anselmo police department reported a stolen car, and shortly afterward cancelled the call. Borba, who had jotted down the license number, crossed it out.

Then the burglar alarm rang at Santa Brothers Automotive Service, 45 Vivian Way, and two patrol cars pulled up to investigate. It was caused by a short circuit.

It seemed to be a night of false alarms, cancellations and little action, but it also was a night of little crime.

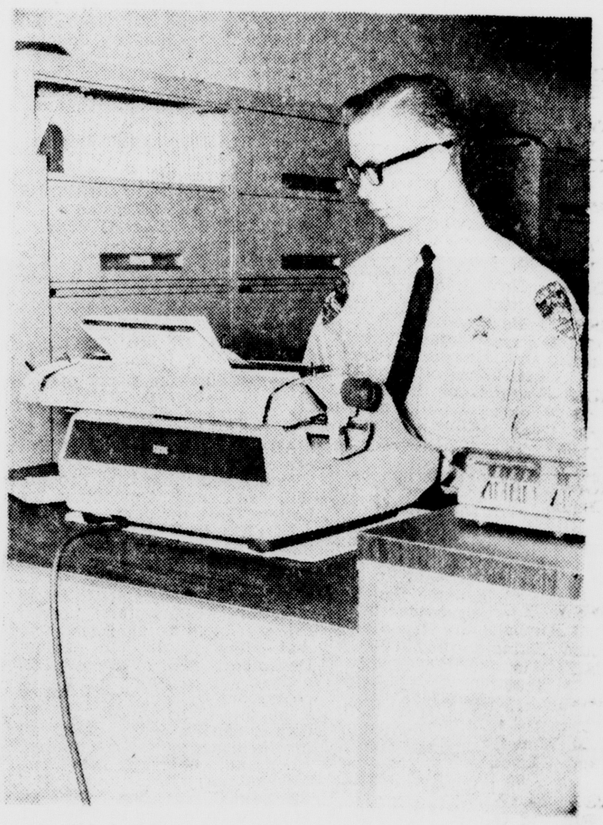

FIRE TRAFFIC—Patrolman Robert A. Larrison handles traffic detail at scene of fire call on Union Street.

SHIFT CHANGE—Lt. Lincoln M. Borba winds up his 4 p.m. to midnight shift, with a conference with Lt. Thomas L. Stephenson, shift commander for the midnight to 8 a.m. crew. They check over map of beat areas.

CLERICAL WORK—Cadet Officer Allen J. Kinsel types up the log, one of his miscellaneous office duties.

TELEVISION REVIEW

No One Greater Than Jack Benny

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)— Jack Benny turned up in an hour NBC-TV special last night and did just about everything you'd expect him to. I mean, there's no point in changing now. He's 72 or thereabouts.

He's a marvel. I mean, I won't con you that the hour was great, because it wasn't. But it was amiable enough. And I have such admiration for Benny's grace that it simply gives him an extra edge in anything he does, so far as I am concerned. He is such a blessed relief from the loud, aggressive comedians, and the new breed of big mouths who think they are worth listening to just because they talk on contemporary topics.

BENNY'S GUESTS

Benny's guests were Phyllis Diller, the Smothers Brothers and Trini Lopez, and the material was pretty hit-and-miss, but I sat there with something near awe as he cavorted in a beauty pageant, and with his violin, looking young enough to run for governor. I mean, you wouldn't in your right mind dare to call him a senior citizen.

However, his age was the subject of some of his choice jokes. He noted that it might not mean much to you that he was showing up after another year—but his insurance company was thrilled. He wouldn't say how much insurance he carries—"but when I go, they go."

There were also some other well-timed lines. In one exchange with Miss Diller, commenting inevitably on her looks, he drew the retort: "I've never been so insulted in my life." Replied Benny, with his classic timing and emphasis: "Oh, you must have been."

THE SMOTHERS

In an exchange with the Smothers boys, Benny asked: "are you really brothers?" and brother Tom replied: "I am . . . I don't know about him." The brothers then began singing "I talk to the trees," which Tom promptly branded a "stupid song," and only he could get away with it.

There followed a sequence that was my favorite of the hour, even though the basis was as old as the Benny radio program. Introducing a group of mariachi-type musicians called "The Tijuana Strings," Benny promptly fell into his ancient routine with Mel Blanc, who played the leader and whose vocabulary was comprised primarily of the word "si." His name, of course, was "Cy." You know the rest.

This group played a couple of numbers, by the way, and in the second one they were accompanied by Benny on his violin, and there is no question that no matter how silly the occasion, he literally beams when he is musically involved. The story around Hollywood is that Benny still practices about two hours a day on his violin, mostly for sheer pleasure, despite the practicality, as well, of keeping in shape for his personal appearances, of which he makes many.

THE CLIMAX

The climax sketch of the hour was a takeoff on Bert Parks and a sort of combined Miss America — Miss Universe pageant. The name of the pageant last night was the "Miss Northern and Southern Hemisphere" contest, and there was Benny, with a jazzy hairpiece, singing, in the worst possible Parks manner: "Here she is, Miss Northern and Southern Hemisphere." There was also the inevitable girl who doesn't understand English, but keeps repeating: "I am very happy to be here in Long Beach." Or wherever they hold those farces nowadays.

Well, anyway it was nice, as always, to see Benny back in action, and I hope being thrilled for a long time to come.

Barbara Hutton Leaves No. 7; Divorce Rumored

TANGIER, Morocco (UPI)— Barbara Hutton, the "poor little rich girl" who sought happiness in marriage seven times, has separated from her seventh husband and will divorce him in Mexico, friends said today.

There was no direct confirmation from the 54-year-old Woolworth dime store heiress that her two-and-a-half year marriage to Prince Doan Vinh Champacak was washed up. She remained in seclusion in her Arabian nights mansion in the native Casbah quarter. Her staff refused to divulge her plans.

A London columnist reported that she would leave Tangier today to divorce her 50-year-old artist husband, a French-Laotian Buddhist who was adopted by an Indo-Chinese prince in his youth. Miss Hutton maintains a $3 million Oriental style home at Juitepec near Cuernavaca, Mexico.

Belli Seeking TV Judgment

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Attorney Melvin M. Belli has filed a suit in Superior Court asking $150,000 for "humiliation" suffered in an attempt to collect money from him during a television program.

Belli, of San Francisco, claimed an attempt to collect a $6,667 court judgment was made during filming of his television program in Hollywood. The judgment was made last April 8 after Belli allegedly didn't pay a printing bill for a directory and almanac for private investigators.

The barrister accused Parker and Son, Inc., printing and publishing firm, and their representative, the law office of Gendel, Raskoff, Shapiro and Quittner, with invasion of privacy and abuse of process.

Russell Recital Off

The organ recital by Wilbur F. Russell scheduled for Sunday at 4 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo has been cancelled because of Professor Russell's illness.

One Nominated For Design Board

Fairfax Planning Commission last night nominated one of its members, John J. Hourihan, to serve on the design review board. The choice is subject to the approval of the city council.

Gunvor Van Jandel's application for a change of zoning permit for a massage parlor at 19 Crescent Circle was denied.

Commissioners also denied a landscaping plan by Charles Fraguero, operator of a service station at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Pacheco Avenue, on the grounds it was "inadequate."

"Let's put this soiled sock into this stained glove, and then put them into the greasy dish towel, put that into this grimy T-shirt, sew the whole mess up in this dirty slipcover, then insert it into this FILTHY pair of overalls, bundle THAT into this APPALLING housecoat, then wrap that in . . ."

LSD, Alcohol Change Eye Jerk Pattern

COLUMBUS, Ohio (SS) — Involuntary eye jerks, called saccades, change distinctly from the norm when an individual is under the influence of an hallucinogenic drug or alcohol, an Ohio professor of optometry reports.

Normally, the eye flicks once or twice a second, no matter how hard an individual may try to keep it still. With LSD, psilobycin or mescaline—all hallucinogens—the frequency of the jerks increased sharply, according to Dr. Frederick W. Hebbard of Ohio State University.

Alcohol also changed the jerking pattern, but in a different manner from the hallucinogens, said Dr. Hebbard, who with psychiatrist Roland Fischer tested eye movements in four volunteers, 22 to 24.

Dr. Hebbard believes the saccade changes would be a more sensitive method of detecting both the presence and the kind of drug than changes in the pupils.

To Sculpt In Ice

Astronomers believe comets formed in and beyond the region of the giant planets — Jupiter, Saturn, and Uranus — some 4.5 billion years ago, about the same time as other bodies in the solar system.

A $23,000 Jackpot For Each Super Bowl Champ

NEW YORK (AP) — Each player on the team winning the professional football championship may receive a bonanza of $23,000, a record for a team sport.

The pay for two games would almost double the all-time high of $12,794 for a baseball World Series winner for a minimum of four games. The Los Angeles Dodgers of 1963 hold the baseball record.

When the National Football League and American Football League winners meet in the first Super Bowl at the 93,000-capacity Los Angeles Coliseum in early January, each winner will get a guaranteed $15,000 and each loser $7,500. That breaks down to $250 a minute for each of the winners.

If the NFL game is played in the big Cotton Bowl in Dallas, a strong possibility, the winning share should match the record of $8,052 by Cleveland for beating Baltimore in 1964. The AFL share would be smaller but the league set an all-time high a year ago when each Buffalo Bill got $5,189.

The mechanics of the Super Bowl game were announced last night by Commissioner Pete Rozelle after both leagues accepted unanimously the recommendations of a joint committee.

"The weekend of Jan. 7-8 or the weekend of Jan. 15 are the likely dates," said Rozelle. "We are not able to announce a definite date at this time until we have talked more to the television people."

Rozelle said he would talk with all TV-networks and hoped to settle the matter soon. NFL games are carried by CBS and AFL games by NBC.

It is possible that the new league title games will be played on the same day, Sunday, Jan. 1 as part of a unique doubleheader, starting in Buffalo or Boston and ending in Dallas or St. Louis.

As of now, the AFL game is to be played Monday, Dec. 26 in the home park of the Eastern Division winner. The NFL game is to be played Sunday, Jan. 1 in the home park of the Eastern Conference champ. It is expected the AFL date will be moved up to avoid a long layoff before the Super Bowl.

"The ideal solution would be to play the games Jan. 1 and Jan. 15," said Rozelle. "But nothing has been determined yet."

The NFL already has a Playoff Bowl involving the two second place teams scheduled for Miami Jan. 8 and the Pro Bowl or All-Star game is set for Jan. 15 at the Los Angeles Coliseum. It is likely that the Pro Bowl will be pushed back a week to Jan. 22.

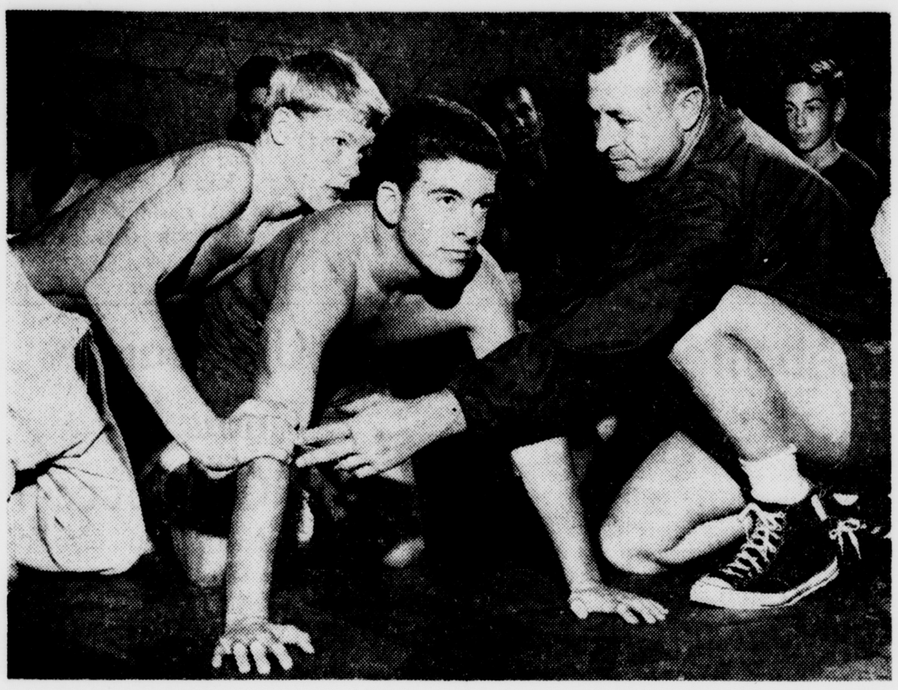

When a TV contract is signed for the Super Bowl, the receipts will be thrown into the entire poll. After the game expenses and rent and the player pool have been taken out, 40 per cent of the remainder will go into the two leagues' Player Benefit (pension) Fund. Each league office will get 15 per cent and each of the competing teams will get 15 per cent.

Rozelle said he had been in touch with the heads of the player representatives of both leagues and had received their recommendations. He said they were not followed in entirity but declined to say where they differed.

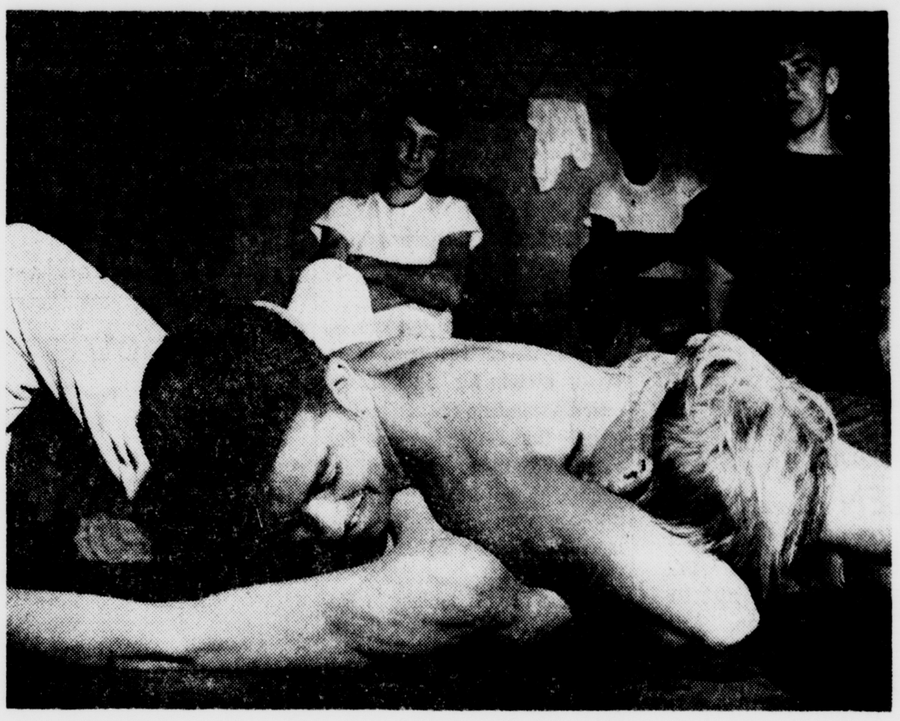

Both winning and losing player pool will have 52 shares. There will be 43 player shares, including the partial shares for injured or part time players, and nine shares for the coaches, trainer, equipment manager

Wills Deal Stirs Pennant Fever For Pirates

BASIC POSITION—Tam wrestlers Dave Hayes, top, and Brian Spelman demonstrate the basic position from which all wrestlers will compete after the initial period. It's called the referee's position and has one wrestler on top in control and the other on bottom. The process is reversed in the final period of competition. Tam wrestling coach Jim Healy checks their position.

PIN COMING UP — Spelman is about to pin his opponent, Hayes. A wrestler's shoulders must be on the mat for at least two seconds before a fall or pin can be called in amateur wrestling. As it is, Spelman has two points for a near fall. (Independent-Journal photos by Jim Kean)

Dodgers Get Two Players For Ace

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Banished from Los Angeles to Pittsburgh because he jumped the Dodgers' Japanese tour, Maury Wills declared enthusiastically he is ready for "several more fine years" at his new position—third base.

"Leaving the Dodgers is by no means the end of the world," Wills said last night after learning he had been traded to the Pirates for infielder-outfielder Bob Bailey, a onetime $175,000 bonus baby, and shortstop Gene Michael.

"Now that I'm traded I feel even more justified about leaving the tour. I know I can play for Pittsburgh, and I can play third base for Pittsburgh.

"I think of myself as a shortstop, but they have Gene Alley. He's one of the finest. I'm no stranger at third base. I should be able to have several more fine years playing third. You last a lot longer at third. Harry Walker is my kind of manager. Pittsburgh will run and I'll be running."

The deal, the second multi-player trade in 51 hours for the National League champions, came suddenly and unexpectedly.

The Dodgers had disclosed earlier in the week that the 34-year-old Wills was available. His abrupt and early departure from Japan angered Los Angeles owner Walter O'Malley, and the decree went forth.

"Maury's leaving the tour was partly the reason for trading him, but not the whole reason," General Manager Buzzie Bavasi explained. "It was the reason for making us think we wanted to make a deal. It brought the possibility of a deal to our attention.

BEST DEAL

"It wasn't that we all wanted to trade Wills. As an organization we decided three days ago to make the best possible deal we could. If we couldn't make a good deal, we wouldn't trade him."

The Dodgers had been expected to send Wills to the New York Yankees. The Yankees, however, couldn't come up with the Dodgers' primary requirement—a shortstop.

Then at noon yesterday General Manager Joe Brown of the Pirates mentioned Wills to Bavasi. Further discussion had to wait, however, because of a league meeting. Five hours later, at a cocktail party, the deal was made.

Bavasi detailed the chronology:

"It was very simple. Joe just came in and asked, 'Did you get rid of the boys?' I said no. He asked, 'Would you be interested in Bailey?' Yes, I said, but we need a shortstop. He asked, 'Would you take Michael?' I said yes. It was that simple. There was no James Bond mystery about it."

NO MYSTERY

Bavasi also feels there's no mystery about how Wills will play with the Pirates. Pride is a big thing with a traded player, and in Wills' case he'll be determined to show he still has most of the speed and all of the daring that brought him the stolen base record of 104 and the Most Valuable Player award in 1962.

"He'll play hard; he's that kind of a competitor," Bavasi said. "I think the day before they come into Los Angeles, he'll ask for a day off so he can rest up for us. He's that kind of guy."

He's also the kind of a guy who can help the Pirates succeed the Dodgers as National League champs.

The Pirates' pitching still is questionable for a pennant-winner, but a sound Wills — he's had leg problems — could prove the difference between finishing three games out of first, which they did last season, and three games in first.

"We think we have a chance to win the pennant next season, and we think Wills can help us do it," Brown said. "He's good defensively, and he's great offensively. We've got some guys who can run, but he can help them, get them thinking about it more, show them by example."

Brown said the Dodgers told him Wills' legs were okay, a condition Wills confirmed.

"My right knee's coming along fine," he said. "It was badly sprained and twisted. It's had rest. I'm on a weight program for both legs, and next spring both of them will be 100 per cent."

SHOULD IMPROVE

If so, Wills should improve on his 1966 record. He batted .273 — 15 points under his life time average — and stole just 38 bases while being caught 24 times. Last season was the first in seven that the slight speedster didn't lead the league in stolen bases.

Bailey, 24, never has played up to the Pirates' expectations since he signed with them in 1961 and became the highest paid bonus baby in baseball history until that time. He batted .279 with 13 homers and 46 runs batted in last season.

Michael, a 28-year-old rookie, played most of the season at Columbus where he was the International League's All-Star shortstop. He hit .289 for the Jets, then batted .152 for the Pirates in 30 games.

Manager Walter Alston of the Dodgers said Michael or John Kennedy would be his shortstop while Bailey would play one of three places — first, third or the outfield.

"I'd like to say Michael's my shortstop — from what I've heard about him," Alston said. "As for Bailey, I'll find a place for him. He's a fellow who can provide sock."

Alston declined to guess how his infield might line up — the Dodgers acquired second baseman Ron Hunt from the New York Mets Tuesday — but he did not rule out the possibility that either Bailey or Jim Lefebvre would play first with the other at third.

That would send Wes Parker from first base to the outfield.

Although the Dodgers have been the busiest traders at the baseball meetings, they may not be finished. They're still looking for a pitcher and a second-string catcher.

The Baltimore Orioles still would like an experienced starting pitcher, and the Yankees must look elsewhere for an infielder now that Wills is gone.

USC Truly Most Representative; A Sad Journey For Grid Fans

JIM SHORTS:

Stan Butcher of Fairfax writes: "Dear Jim—Read with interest your column concerning the Rose Bowl. I have to disagree with you concerning the choice of USC. They are definitely the MOST representative. If I recall correctly they lost to Miami, Notre Dame and UCLA. That's East Coast, Midwest and West Coast. How can you be more representative than that? And regarding the Rose Bowl: The way it's now set up it's strictly third rate, so who cares?"

THE REF—Dick (I Left My . . .) Hart, the Redwood High faculty livewire, has been selected to officiate the dandy Prune Bowl grid classic in San Jose. That's the one for the national junior college championship matching City College of San Francisco against Laney College, the two unbeaten titans.

SAD JOURNEY—Five San Rafael couples will make their sixth annual junket to Sacramento Dec. 10 to witness the Camellia Bowl, this year matching San Diego State vs. Montana State, the nation's first and third ranked small college teams.

The group includes Messrs. and Mesdames Lowell F. Edde of 101 Lowell Avenue, George Valador of 24 Cushing Avenue, Ronald Swanson of 150 Edward Avenue, George Tuomala of 109 Blackstone Drive and William Loeber of 812 Descanso Way.

Theirs will be a sad journey because a sixth couple—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Erdelatz—will not be with them as planned. Eddie, the former Navy coach, died last month.

HONOR—Charlie Monte of San Anselmo, was honored by Radio Station KABL Wednesday as its "Citizen of the Day."

Hm? Oh, because he was the general chairman of last summer's Ross Valley Kiwanis Club's North-South Marin high school football game and did such a bang-up job that the radio people thought he deserved some recognition.

"This honor just illustrates the importance and impact that this game has on all of Marin County," Monte pointed out.

Brandon Quintet Rallies To Win

Brandon Tire, behind most of the game, squared things up at 52-52, then raced away from Paradise Pharmacy in the overtime period to take a 63-54 A division victory in the San Rafael Recreation Department Adult basketball league last night.

Jack Lee paced the triumph with 20 points but had to share high point honors with Jeff Chapman of Paradise.

In other games, San Rafael Teachers blasted Mill Valley Boys Club, 65-44, as Milt Hain scored 16 points while Steve Anderson had 12 for the losers.

In a B game, San Francisco Theological Seminary dumped Native Sons, 54-39 as Verne Alexander scored 14 points. Glen Robinson had 11 points for the losers.

TIME TO GROW UP?

Wrestling Still A Baby

By GARY TISCHLER

Wrestling in Marin County is very much like an egg that hasn't been hatched.

It is well established at College of Marin. It has a more or less firm foothold at Tamalpais and Novato high schools. It is still embryonic at San Rafael, Terra Linda and Redwood high schools. And it is practically non-existent at Drake and Marin Catholic high schools and at amateur, junior high or lower levels.

Which is kind of a shame. Because wrestling has a lot to offer to potential participants and spectators. But it must first overcome a TV-tube myth, it must generate interest and it must develop a knowledgeable fan.

"There are a lot of people who won't let their kids go out for wrestling because they think it's too rough a sport from what they've seen on television," a Marin County coach said recently.

They were no doubt thinking of the amateur theatrics that passes itself off as professional wrestling.

But to mention the so-called pros and actual wrestling in the same breath is like saying Carol Doda belongs in the Bolshoi Ballet, Doris Day sings like Leontyne Price and Cassius Clay fights like Joe Louis used to fight. One is strictly bush and take your pick.

Professional wrestling today is a mixture of carny ballyhoo, sustained and grotesque violence, second rate burlesque and bad acting with the plots straight out of a thirties western. Like a strip-teaser, a wrestler's gotta have a gimmick, whether it be Indian feathers, Liberace hair or a mask.

Amateur wrestling has no gimmicks.

There are no limits to participation.

You do not have to throw a ball 100 feet, be over seven feet tall, be able to leap a line in a single bound or be able to break a scale just by breathing on it.

An elf could go out for wrestling and make the team. It gives the littlep int-sized kid who always winds up holding the tackling dummies or being assistant to the assistant student manager a chance to stand in the limelight instead of the limbo shadows of the far end of the bench.

In its weight divisions that range from 93 pounds to heavyweight you will find everything from a leprechaun to a behemoth. It is a sports that is the closest thing to a physical democracy. The only pre-requisites are the ability to move with a certain amount of agility, to be able to think reasonably well on your feet, to have skill that can be learned and the desire to work hard.

When it is done right, it can be an exciting sport with as much tension and action as the last 60 seconds of a championship football game.

But in Marin County it lies dormant. Most people couldn't tell the difference between scissors and a sewing machine. To many an escape is only done at the Marin County jail. A reversal is something that hap-

MARIN TARS LOSE CAGE OPENER; HOST DIABLO QUINT TONIGHT

College of Marin's basketball team will be trying to even up its record tonight when the Tars host the Diablo Valley College cagers in Kentfield, 8 o'clock.

Marin lost its season opener last night in San Mateo, City College of San Mateo dropping the Tars 71-59.

There's also a bushel full of high school games involving Marin Athletic League teams today. Two of the teams were scheduled for daytime action with the other five playing tonight.

Poly of San Francisco plays at Tamalpais in Mill Valley and Terra Nova comes to San Rafael High in two 4 o'clock games. In games tonight, Drake hosts Vallejo and Marin Catholic hosts Cubberly of Palo Alto, Class B games starting at 7 o'clock followed by the varsity games.

Also on tonight's schedule: Novato's varsity is at Sonoma, 8:15; Terra Linda plays DeAnza at Richmond, 8:15, and Redwood plays Gridley as part of a doubleheader in Gilroy. Tomorrow night the Giants take on Gilroy, 8:30, an hour later than tonight's game. In another game tomorrow night, Marin Catholic is at Serra High School of San Mateo, 8:15.

In last night's College of Marin opener, the size of the San Mateo quint proved too much for the Tars. The game was even for the first three quarters, but then San Mateo pulled away. It was 34-32 in favor of the Bulldogs at half.

"I was pleased with our players overall," said Tars coach Cal Riemcke. "We made a few first game mistakes, but it was San Mateo's size. It was just a matter of overpowering us."

Marin scoring was led by Russ Smith, the former Redwood whiz, with 20 points. Kraig Kilby and Terry Overlid did a good job on the boards with seven and eight rebounds respectively.

Brad Luz, the 6-9 center for the Tars, managed only one point as his timing and play was still off. He has been out of basketball for some time and is still rusty.

San Mateo was led by the scoring of Owney Williams with 24 points and with the rebound work of big center Chris Dempsey who is 6-7 and 220 pounds.

"Diablo Valley will be more our own size," said Riemcke about tonight's game. Tomorrow the Tars hit the road again, this time taking on Foothill College at Los Altos.

These three teams gave Marin three early losses last season: San Mateo 76-74; Diablo 88-72 and Foothill 69-64. The Tars went on to a 22-7 win-loss record and the Golden Valley Conference championship.

Marin scoring: Tom Stetson, 1-1-3; Terry Overlid, 3-6-12; Kraig Kilby, 3-0-6; Bill Pandiani, 3-4-10; Russ Smith, 9-2-20; Brad Luz, 0-1-1; Bob Phillips, 1-5-7. Totals: 20-19—59.

San Mateo scoring: Chris Dempsey, 6-1-13; Paul Dempsey, 1-2-4; Craig Farley, 4-0-8; Art Edge, 1-0-2; Owney Williams, 11-2-24; Rossevelt Daurrough, 3-6-12; John Coffey, 1-0-2; Fred Garrett, 0-1-1; Rod Payne, 1-1-3; Mark Fenske, 1-0-2. Totals: 29-13—71.

All-Star Tickets To Go On Sale

The sale will begin at noon at the Warriors Ticket Office, Bellevue Hotel, 505 Geary St.; the Cow Palace Ticket Office; S. F. Civic Auditorium, and Downtown Center Box Office, 325 Mason Street, S.F.

There is no Marin County ticket location.

Ticket mail orders will also be accepted, but the letters must not be postmarked before Dec. 3. Ticket prices range from $2 to $6. Checks should be made payable to San Francisco Warriors and mailed to 505 Geary Street, San Francisco

The game is scheduled Jan. 10 at the Cow Palace.

Bruins' Lynn Is Suspended

LOS ANGELES (AP)—UCLA basketball starter Mike Lynn, arrested on suspicion of forgery, has been suspended from play, says the UCLA athletic department.

Lynn, a 21-year-old senior from Covina and Larry McCollister, 21, of Lemon Grove, were arrested Wednesday after allegedly trying to buy phonograph record at a department store with a credit car previously reported lost.

Lynn will remain on the team until his involvement in the case is determined, a UCLA spokesman said yesterday. Lynn and McCollister, free on $1,100 bail each, are scheduled to be arraigned Monday in municipal court.

THE NEW SWIM CLUB TALENT

When the Ann Curtis Swim Club and the Marin Pirates merged this week to form the Marin Swim Club, they brought together the top coaching and swimming talent of both teams. Some of that talent is represented here at the Curtis Swim School pool as swimmers from both clubs splash in the foreground. Front row from left to right are Teri McGee, Joy Locati and coach Gordon Collette. Oakland Hosts Jets Tomorrow

The Jets are 2½ games behind Buffalo with three left to play, indicating that New York itself has been eliminated in every way except mathematically.

After starting out by winning four of its first five games and tying the other, the Jets suddenly lost their thrust and now are 5-5-1.

The Raiders have a 7-5 mark after being eliminated last week by Buffalo. Oakland beat New York 24-21 the last time they met on a touchdown by Hewritt Dixon on a two-yard plunge on fourth down only two seconds from the end.

The Jets still boast Joe Namath, whose llama rug didn't bring an expected title to New York, but whose passing has been more than adequate.

The $400,000 bonus boy from Pennsylvania via Alabama has completed 188 of 347 attempts for 2,599 yards, all high figures in the AFL. So are his 20 interceptions. But his 13 touchdown passes are somewhat on the low side.

One of the reasons for this, so it is said, is lack of accomplished receivers. The statistics seem to bear this out, although Jet end George Sauer Jr. leads the league with 55 receptions. But they went for only 895 yards and three touchdowns.

Although not ranked in the top ten receivers, Don Maynard poses a long threat for the Jets. The ninth-ranked receiver in the AFL is fullback Matt Snell, returned to the Jet lineup after a two-week absence caused by injury.

The Raiders will counter with the same lineup that faced the Jets Oct. 23 with the exception of injured flanker Fred Biletnikoff. Larry Todd has taken his place the last two games.

Tom Flores, having his best pro year, runs the Raiders from quarterback. He throws to Art Powell and tight ends Tom Mitchell and Billy Cannon. Dixon and Clem Daniels share the running duties.

Daniels ran for 104 yards in 15 carries in the Raiders' victory over the Jets. Flores connected on 16 of 33 passes for 219 yards while Powell caught five for 109 yards and a touchdown.

Kickoff is slated for 1:30 p.m., PDT.

An Awesome Display By Pacific '5'

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

University of the Pacific's Tigers, the pre-season choice as the best team in Northern California, look as good on hardboard as they do on paper.

They put on an awesome display last night in their opener, crushing Hayward State, 76-54 while outrebounding the smaller Pioneers by 73-43.

In other season openers, St. Mary's unveiled a new fastbreak attack for a 98-91 win over Sacramento State, Stanford edged the University of San Francisco, 56-53, in overtime; Utah crushed Pepperdine, 115-64; and UC Santa Barbara outlasted Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo, 82-72.

Oregon travels tonight to Nebraska, Oregon State is at Hawaii, Iowa goes to Washington, Gonzaga is at Washington State, Arizona is at San Jose State, Occidental is at Loyola of Los Angeles, and San Francisco State is at Portland University.

Leading the Pacific Tigers was 6-foot-7, 235-pound Keith Swagerty who grabbed 24 rebounds and scored 13 points. Substitute sophomore Rob DeWitt led all scorers with 22 points for UOP, showing that the Tigers also will have bench strength this year to defend their West Coast Athletic Conference championship.

Stanford and USF got off to a sloppy start in San Francisco and were tied 47-47 at the end of regulation play. But Stanford guard Art Harris hit two field goals in the give-minute overtime, including the basket that put the Indians ahead to stay.

St. Mary's put five men in double figures led by Jerry West with 18. Soph Greg Reed of the losing Hornets collected 23 while teammate Mike Syas chipped in 19.

Pepperdine, never in the ball game against Utah, once went six minutes without a point. Gary Dinnel scored 13 and Tandy Holmes 12 for the losers while Mervin Jackson put through 27 for the Utes.

MICHIGAN STATE, NOTRE DAME DOMINATE EAST SHRINE GAME

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Four stars from Michigan State and three from Notre Dame will play with the East on Dec. 31 in the 42nd Shrine East - West football game at Kezar Stadium.

Coach Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State, whose Spartans tied the Irish 10-10 in the battle of undefeated and top ranked powers, will coach the East along with Murray Warmath of Minnesota and Paul Dietzel of South Carolina.

From Notre Dame come halfback Nick Eddy, linebacker Jim Lynch and defensive end Alan Page.

Sixteen schools are represented. Louisville, Louisiana State, Mississippi and Western Michigan each has a player for the first time.

Although several of the players are expected to see service on both offense and defense, the squad was announced by platoons.

Defensively the squad lists Don Parker, Virginia, and Page at ends; Bob Rowe, Western Michigan, and Tom Fussell of Louisiana State, tackles; Dave Rowe, Penn State, guard; Stan Juk, Lynch and Webster, linebackers; and Phil Clark, Northwestern, Bob Bryant, South Carolina and Rick Volk, Michigan, backs. Kenney is the kicker.

The East squad will assemble in San Francisco Dec. 21 and will train at the University of Santa Clara.

Super Bowl Champs To Get Rich and miscellaneous clubhouse workers.

In each case the winning share will be $15,000 and the loser $7,500 flat, a guaranteed, unchanging amount.

The Super Bowl agreement was for one year only, subject to review in the future.

Although the AFL uses the two-point conversion rule and the NFL the one-point, there will be no two-point conversions in the Super Bowl. However, it will be tried in preseason exhibitions between the two leagues next summer.

Three officials from each league will work the game with six alternates ready in case of injury or illness.

The two Super Bowl teams will exchange films of their last five games.

The NFL also decided to stock the new franchise at New Orleans in the same manner as the Atlanta club was manned last winter. Each team, except Atlanta, will give up three players. Although no owner has been named for the new franchise and no price set for the franchise, it will approximate the $8.5 million for Atlanta.

Using the 40-man roster that started the 1966 season, each of the 14 older teams (Atlanta exempted) will freeze 29 players.

New Orleans will be permitted to take one of the remaining 11. Then two more will be frozen and New Orleans will be able to take two of the eight remaining. With three from each of the 14 teams they will have 42 veterans.

Baseballers' Pension Fund Gets Big Boost

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Major league baseball clubs have agreed to finance an $8.2 million pension plan in which a player could receive as much as $1,000 a month at age 65.

Under the terms of the new plan — the cost of which has been shared by both owners and players in the past — a player, manager, coach or trainer who was active for 10 years will receive approximately $500 a month at the age of 50. That's twice as much as in the past.

If the individual leaves his retirement income in the plan until he is 65, he would receive about $1,000 a month.

Under the old plan the owners contributed $2.7 million compared with the $4.1 million they will finance now over a two-year period.

At the same time as he revealed the pension plan yesterday, Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players Assn., disclosed that the players were seeking an increase in the minimum major league salary from $7,000 to $12,000. He said the proposal would be discussed at a later date.

While Miller was discussing money with officials at the baseball meetings, several minor rules changes were approved — and a move to have the spitball legalized turned down.

There is always some sentiment at the meetings for legalizing the spitball but it invariably has been turned down. The proposal met its usual fate again this year.

The American League, meanwhile, adopted the more liberal National League rule on a manager going out to the mound to talk to a pitcher.

An American League manager now can visit his pitcher at least once an inning. Before he had to take his pitcher out the second time he visited him during a game. The second time he talks to him during an inning, however, he must take him out.

A change also was made in the provisions used in determining a batting champion. Under the new rule a player can win the crown without having the required 502 appearances at the plate.

A batter may now win the title, if, after adding into his figures the number of plate appearances needed to reach 502, his average still is the highest in the league.

In a separate but related development, the Baseball Writers Assn. of America passed on to Baseball Commissioner William Eckert a recommendation that a Cy Young Award — which has been given to the best pitcher in the majors — now be given to the best pitcher in each league.

USF Gains Finals In NCAA Soccer

BERKELEY (AP) — Visiting Long Island University and the University of San Francisco from across the bay meet tomorrow for the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. soccer championship.

The USF Dons dominated Army yesterday 2-0 before 350 rain-soaked fans at the University of California Memorial Stadium.

San Francisco scored twice in the third quarter on kicks by Sandor Hites and Louis Sagastume.

In the first semifinal match on the muddy field, LIU won a technical victory over Michigan State in four overtimes after the losing Spartans had tied it 2-2 at the end of the regulation 88 minutes.

Long Island led 2-0 at halftime on goals by Carlo Tramontozzi and Dov Marcus. But MSU came back in the third quarter on goals by Barry Tiemann and Guy Busch.

At the end of two five-minute, sudden death overtimes, the teams were tied in corner kicks 5-5. But LIU picked up another corner kick and won on that basis, 6-5, at the end of the fourth overtime.

A corner kick is described as the result of a defensive team kicking out of bounds behind its own goal. The overtime periods must be played in groups of two if no goals are scored.

There will be no games for third place.

The newly elected officers and board of directors of the Sausalito Yacht Club are: Carl Lischeske, commodore; William Gillespie, vice commodore; Neil Munro, rear commodore; Philip Gregory, secretary; John Sanford, treasurer. Directors: Bob Creighton, Allen Laidlaw, Sid Messer and Tom Rogers.

Wrestling Can Be Popular

Just consider the mecca of high school wrestling and college wrestling. Believe it or not, it exists in Oklahoma, 1,500 miles east of Bakersfield where John Steinbeck turned a dust bowl into a goldmine.

There are schools in Oklahoma that cannot afford to buy a half a football helmet but have a wrestling team. There are people who have never seen Willie Mays swing a bat, but who know a quarter nelson from a half nelson.

In the flattest land this side of a pool table, high school wrestling rivals basketball seriously at the ticket counter. It is second only to football and politics as a spectator sport. The state championships in several divisions draws a packed house, including coaches with scholarship offers in hand.

The fans are indoctrinated with clinics, exhibition matches and word of mouth, just in case. There is already an exchange program in effect in which a team made up of state champions and runners-up tours Japanese schools every summer in exhibition meets, for which in turn a Japanese team tours the state.

At the collegiate level, no other state has enjoyed such wrestling dominance in a sport since Lew Alcindor came to the sunny land of the west.

Oklahoma State, formerly Oklahoma A&M, and the University of Oklahoma usually rate one two in the polls. The Big Eight Conference with another strong contender in Iowa State usually dominates the national (NCAA) tournament. This year, the Aggies finished first, Iowa State second, the Sooners third. The year before that it was Iowa State, OSU, Oklahoma. And before that, Oklahoma won it.

When the two schools get together, it makes the Notre Dame-Michigan State game look like a solemn prayer meeting. This year, when the Sooners snapped the Aggies' streak of 81 straight dual meet victories, it was sheer pandemonium to a packed, breathing room only crowd. The meet was televised locally and outdrew Jackie Gleason, the Saturday Night Movie and anything else the networks might have unwittingly scheduled.

It's a wrestling paradise. The Rose Bowl of the dust bowl. The Shrine games of the takedown set. The fans know every move. They know when the official raises a hand, or two fingers or one finger he's not trying to get permission to leave the room.

There is no reason why things couldn't be like that in Marin County or in California. There are certainly enough people and more than enough Oklahoma transplants. And no one can say that the state is lacking in athletes at any level.

In a state where an actor can become governor, where a dreamland is carved out of the desert, where the Birchers mix with the Make Love Not War crowd, where some of the finest stars of sports at every level can be seen, there is barely a whisper of wrestling noise.

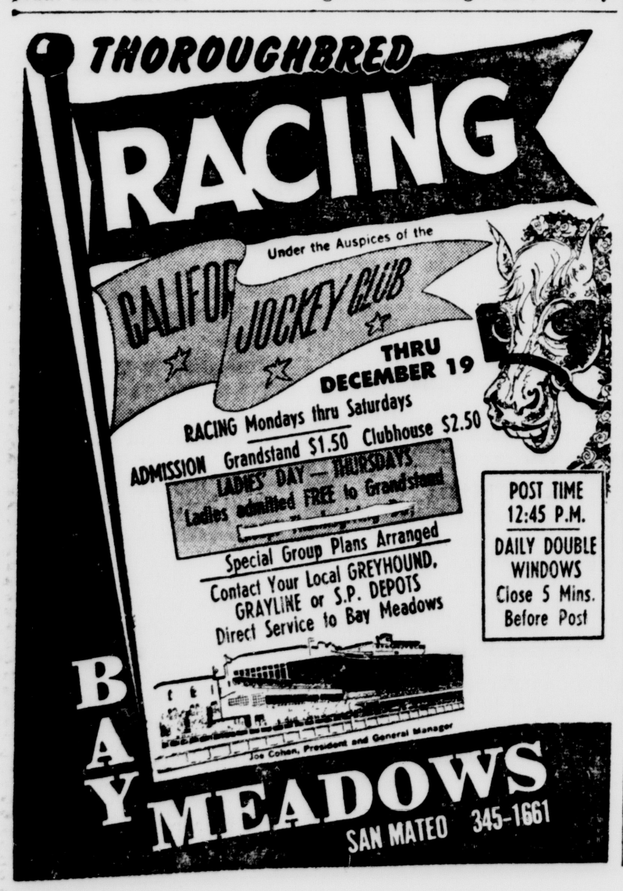

In a county that is certainly one of the richest in the state, where high school football is on a par with that of any in the country, where there are enough outstanding players to make a genuine all-star team or two, wrestling is still an infant in an oxygen tent.

Television Deserves Pat On Back For Its Coverage Of Football

HANLEY

Sports have been good to television. And, of course, television has been good to sports, particularly pro football. College football hasn't exactly suffered from its TV relationship.

Aside from the many millions TV pays for the privilege of televising pro and college football games, television does a unique service for football fans with instant replays and stop action flashbacks.

THE TECHNIQUES developed by TV in covering the fast-moving action on a football field have aided armchair strategists in a deeper understanding of the game.

Before the days of the isolated camera, the average football fan saw only the start and finish of a pass play. Now, not one but two isolated cameras provide instant replays of potential receivers running pass patterns, sometimes criss-crossing or flooding a defensive zone.

POWER SWEEPS on ground plays similarly have been stripped of all complexities by stop-action flashbacks of a guard pulling out of the line to lead the interference for the ball carrier. Football fans were well aware of the mechanics of a power sweep but only saw them from start to finish recently.

So while the television industry undoubtedly deserves some of the raps it gets from TV critics for studio produced turkeys, it is entitled to a bow for its football coverage this season.

COMPETITION AMONG the three national networks is responsible for the new techniques now used in covering football. American Broadcasting Company introduced another one this year — isolated coverage of two ends on the same pass play.

ABC's coverage of college games this season was excellent. So was the Columbia Broadcasting System's coverage of National Football League games. And the same may be said of National Broadcasting Company's job on American Football League games.

ANY HONEST FOOTBALL coach will admit he cannot make a proper decision in grading a player until he has studied films of a game.

But now, thanks to TV's trick camera treatment of a complex game, football fans know immediately after seeing an instant replay or stop-action flashback what player failed or succeeded in his assignment.

Shot Put Stars Enter S.F. Meet

Neal Steinhauer, Perry O'Brien and Dave Maggard are three-fifths of what is expected to be the greatest indoor shot put field ever assembled when the All-American Games are held in San Francisco's Cow Palace, Jan. 7.

Steinhauer has thrown the shot 67 feet, ¾ inch, second longest heave in history; O'Brien is a two-time Olympic champ and former world record holder, and Maggard is a former University of California star.

All-time great Randy Matson, history's first 70-footer, and John McGrath, two-time San Francisco meet winner, are expected to return their entries soon to complete the super field of shot putters.

Tickets for the San Francisco Jaycees sponsored event, priced from $3 to $6, go on sale next week at several Bay Area locations, including the Cow Palace, San Francisco's Downtown Center Box Office and Roos-Atkins in the Northgate Shopping Center, Terra Linda.

Mercury A.C. Vs. Teutonia In Soccer Action

Mercury A.C. is not a new sports car or spark plug.

It's a soccer team that's back on the winning trail after a slow start this season and it is set to go against rugged Teutonia in the feature contest at Balboa Stadium in San Francisco next Sunday.

The game, which is scheduled to get underway at 2:45 p.m., is rated one of the top Challenge Cup matches of the new season, according to Frank Wood of San Rafael, commissioner of the tournament.

Mercury showed new strength in downing the Vikings 2-1 last weekend, while Teutonia lost a close decision to the powerful Greek Americans, 4-3. Both were league games.

Sunday's other Challenge Cup match pits the Vikings against the Greeks, 12:45 p.m., while Chile will initiate the day's activities with a third division game against the Internationals, 10:45 a.m.

Debate Is Over, Notre Dame No. 1

That was the verdict Wednesday night after two Michigan State University debaters met two Notre Dame debaters and argued the topic:

Big Cat Williams Hangs Up Gloves

HOUSTON (AP) — Heavyweight boxer Cleveland (Big Cat) Williams, who suffered a third round technical knockout at the hands of champion Cassius Clay last month, says he is hanging up his gloves.

He officially announced his retirement from the ring yesterday at a news conference. Williams said he will receive about $42,000 clear money from the title fight Nov. 14 in the Astrodome.

Williams, 33, said he had completely broken with Hugh Benbow, who had claimed that he owned Williams' contract.

Williams said K. S. (Bud) Adams actually owns his contract. Adams also is owner of the Houston Oilers of the American Football League.

Williams said the $42,000 is free and clear of all taxes and debts and credited Adams with making this possible.

"Mr. Adams and Mr. John Collins comptroller for Adams, interests said they would see to it that I would get at least $42,000 after everything else has been taken care of," Williams said.

Williams said he had been told his gross purse from the fight would be $185,000.

Earl Gilliam, head of Texas Boxing Enterprises, which promoted the live portion of the title bout, said Williams' 20 per cent share as challenger came to "in excess of $89,000 and Clay's share 50 per cent was approximately a quarter million dollars."

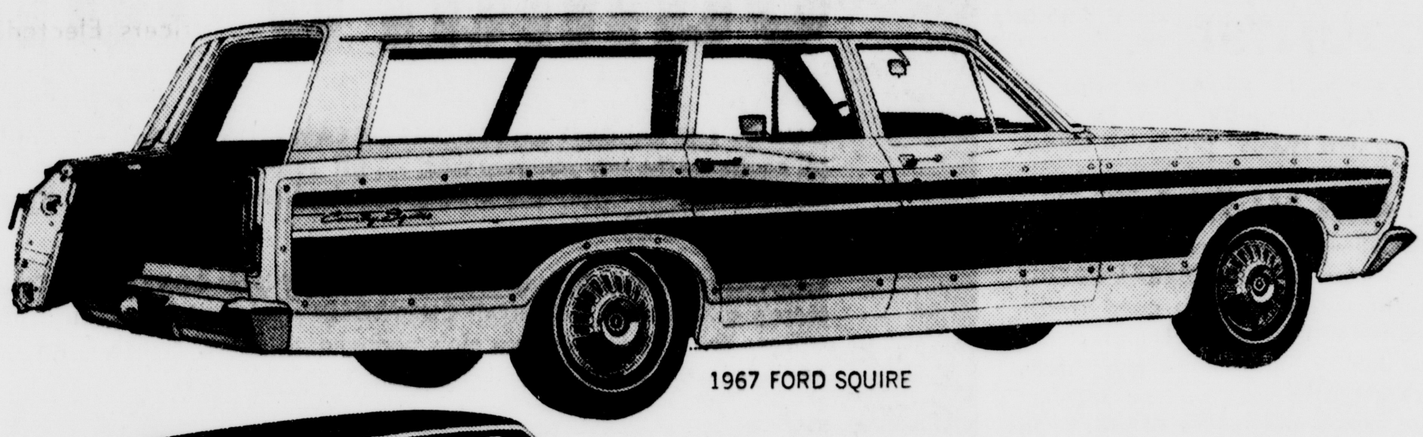

The total amount taken in from the ancilliary rights will not be known until Main Bout, Inc. which owned them, releases a statement, expected Dec. 5.
